'NO STRIKE,' SAY TRACKMEN

NO GROUP RULE, SAYS HARDING, SEEING MENACE

One's Right to Work, Many to Bargain.

Marion, Ohio, July 4.—[By the Associated Press].—Governments cannot tolerate any class of group domination through force, President Harding declared today in an address at a home coming centennial celebration here.

Addressing thousands of "home folks" and out of town visitors who had gathered to welcome him back to Marion for his first visit since his inauguration, the executive told his audience he meant to "sound no note of pessimism."

"This republic is secure," he added. "Menaces do arise, but public opinion will efface them. Meanwhile government must repress them."

Right to Work Inalienable.

Commenting in a general way on the industrial situation, the President made this observation:

"A free American has the right to labor without any other's leave. It would be no less an abridgement to deny men the right to bargain collectively. Governments can not tolerate any class or group domination through force. It will be a sorry day when group domination is reflected in our laws. Government, and the laws which government is charged with enforcing, must be for all the people, ever aiming at the common good."

The President declared with emphasis that his "one outstanding conviction" after sixteen months in the White House was that the greatest traitor to his country is he who appeals to prejudice and inflames passion when sober judgment and honest speech are so necessary to firmly established tranquillity and security."

Pershing Demands Rule of Law.

Gen. John J. Pershing, who also delivered an address, was loudly applauded when he advocated fearless use of "the strong arm of the law" in communities which "openly sympathize with ruthless murder of inoffensive people in the exercise of the right to earn a livelihood."

President Harding joined in the hand clapping which followed this statement.

The President mentioned the eighteenth amendment in connection with his advocacy of strict law enforcement. Declaring that "majorities, restrained by the protection of minorities, ever must rule," he added:

"The eighteenth amendment denies to a minority a fancied sense of personal liberty, but the amendment is the will of America and must be sustained by the government and public opinion, else contempt for the law will undermine our very foundations."

"All Is Well with U. S."

Referring briefly to international relations, Mr. Harding said that "all is well," adding:

"They are securer today, with more assuring prospects of peace than ever before in the history of the republic. New guarantees have recently been added, by the very process of exchanging viewpoints and bringing the spokesmen of great nations to the conference table, for the exchange of views, and a resolve to do together those fine and nobler things which no one nation could do alone."

At the outset of his address the President told his fellow townsmen it was exceedingly good to come home and visit with you again."

He then dwelt at some length upon the pleasure he always derived from the more or less intimate addresses he made to, and contacts he had with, the "home people." "It is easily possible," he said, "for me to feel a peculiar intimacy toward such an occasion," and he contrasted it with "the inescapable responsibility of presidential utterances."

Growth of Nation and Problems.

He then alluded to the rapid growth of Marion, saying:

"I became a citizen of Marion forty years ago, almost to a day, and have been a resident of the county just about fifty years. And it all has the seeming of being but a little while. The Marion I first saw in [illegible] had less than 4,000 people, but my first impression was that of very much a city, in which I feared I would be hopelessly lost. The industrial awakening had not been given notable expression.

"Probably Marion was as countrylike as I felt, but I did not know. It was my viewpoint, my limited vision, which kept me from knowing. You see, I came from the farm and village, and the county seat of 4,000

STORY OF ENOCH ARDEN OUTDONE IN WAR ROMANCE

Thought Husband Dead, Wedded Count.

Boston, Mass., July 4.—[Special.]—The annulment of the marriage of Mrs. Veronica Bates Goodhue to Count de Rienzi, an Austrian nobleman, granted by the courts yesterday, has revealed a drama in real life surpassing the fiction of Enoch Arden.

Mourning still, though married to the count, the loss of her husband, Paul H. Goodhue, son and heir of a millionaire manufacturer of New Jersey, who had been reported "missing in action" during the war, the countess has been an interesting figure in Brookline society. Today she is reunited with Goodhue, who spent three years in military hospitals and elsewhere trying to remember who he is.

Picked Up in Shell Crater.

Though reported "missing," Goodhue, speechless and with mind beclouded, was picked up, like many another doughboy at the front, in a shell crater and removed to a field hospital, where he was known only by a number.

Brought back to the United States he was treated at the Fox Hills [N. Y.] hospital, and there some months ago he was discharged as mentally competent, though he had but the slightest idea of his identity. At last he discovered himself and returned to Boston seeking traces of his wife, his family and his friends.

But he was loath to reveal himself to them, and though he hungered for the woman he had wed in 1917, a few months before he went to France, he kept in the background and waited.

Meets Wife in Restaurant.

The denouement came in a restaurant where Count Rienzi and his bride were dancing. Paul Goodhue sat alone at a table on the fringe of the dancing floor and watched her every movement. At last their eyes met. Standing still for a moment as if entranced by a vision she finally broke from the count and rushed to the lonely man at the table. "Paul, my God! is it you, Paul; really and truly you? O, where have you been, my poor, poor sweetheart!" she cried, as she flung herself at his feet, sobbing with joy.

When the suit to annul the marriage of Veronica Bates Goodhue to Count Rienzi came to trial, he proved himself a true nobleman and interposed no objection.

PROPELLER KILLS ANOTHER BOY AT HOMEWOOD MEET

Stepping beyond the limits marking the landing area at the new Hazelcrest field yesterday evening, Adam Podbilnak, 15 years old, 146th street and Campbell avenue, Posen, Ill., was mangled by the propeller of an airplane and almost instantly killed.

The death was the second during the air celebration held by Homewood post, American Legion. Thousands saw the boy whirled to death.

Louis James, 18 years old, was killed Sunday when he whirled into a propeller while changing planes in the air.

Yesterday's victim is said to have run to meet a descending plane piloted by R. C. Diggins, who was landing after an exhibition flight with W. J. Plowaty of Chicago. As the plane stopped the boy ran directly into the sweep of the still whirling propeller, according to witnesses.

Chief of Police George Swanson of Harvey started the boy toward a hospital but he died without regaining consciousness before an auto could leave the field. The body was taken to Kerr's mortuary, Harvey.

The boy was unidentified for several hours until his father missed him and began a search. An inquest will be held at 10 o'clock this morning.

"HOBO" COLLEGE FOUNDER TAKES $300,000 BRIDE

In the shadow of a pyramidal wedding cake, Michael C. Walsh, founder of the Hobo college, impresario of the "Vagabonds," and friend of Mary Garden and J. Ogden Armour, was married last night at 5839 Prairie avenue to Mrs. Martha Levy of Knoxville, Tenn., possessor of wealth estimated at $300,000.

It was while he was appearing on the Chautauqua circuit in Ottumwa, Ia., two years ago, declaiming on the sorry plight of the "down and outers," that he met the future Mrs. Walsh, also interested in the troubles of the casual worker.

The honeymoon will be deferred until Aug. 1. At that date they will start for the Pacific coast, lecturing en route and establishing institutions where the hobo may eat, sleep, and learn.

In November the two will open in Chicago's "slave market"—West Madison street—an educational center, where the unemployed may listen to lectures, observe movies, and eat and sleep at cost. Miss Garden and Mr. Armour, Mr. Walsh said, will assist in the venture with financial aid.

The ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. C. Weingartner, was performed by the Rev. W. H. Francis.

WIFE'S RETURN MAY SAVE MAN WHO SHOT SELF

Visiting the room where her divorced husband, Charles Ginsberg, lay seriously wounded from a bullet wound self-inflicted Monday night when she refused to become reconciled, Mrs. Ginsberg yesterday relented and promised to return to him. She resides at 944 Lakeside avenue.

"I still love him," she said.

Ginsberg, who has been living at the Kenmore hotel, 4218 Kenmore avenue, was formerly manager of the Wilson theater and is now employed by the city. Physicians said he might recover if his former wife aided him in the crisis.

"I'll get well," he said, "now that I've got Ethel again."

BY HUGH FULLERTON.

Michigan City, Ind., July 4.—[Special.]—Bennie Leonard restored himself to standing as lightweight champion of the world today when, before over 10,000 persons in Floyd Fitzsimmons' arena, he crashed the title hopes of Rocky Kansas in the eighth round.

Leonard, winning from start to finish, perfect master of the situation at every stage of the battle, clipped Kansas on the jaw in the first minute of the dramatic eighth round. Kansas, who had withstood a shower of lefts and evaded a dozen rights that were meant to end the conflict, shook for a flash of an eyelash, and in that fraction of an instant Leonard's right smashed to his jaw.

Kansas Stays on Feet.

The sturdy little Buffalo boy retreated sullenly, desperately reeling with his back to the ropes, his face to his relentless foe. Again and again Leonard drove his right, then his left, to head and face. Kansas reeled, tottered, staggering around. His arms were helpless to swing, but he kept his jaw down and covered and reeled across one side of the ring, driven by blow after blow by the champion. It seemed impossible that he could keep his feet, but he swayed and dodged.

Four times Leonard measured him for the finishing blow and crashed his right, but each time it missed the vital point. Kansas was bent half double, staggering, blind, and helpless, but as Leonard was waiting and measuring him for the final blow a dripping sponge flashed into the ring.

Referee Dave Miller tore the fighters apart and lifted Leonard's arm unconsciously as a signal to the crowd, and Kansas' seconds swarmed into the ring.

Rocky Won't Quit.

An instant later there was a flurry in that corner. Kansas, beaten and helpless, with the ulna bone of his left arm broken, was fighting his own friends who, in their effort to save him from being massacred, had stopped the fight.

Kansas was beaten from start to finish, and Leonard, who was out to redeem the showing he made against Jack Britton and to dispose finally of Kansas' claims to the lightweight title, was near the best of his form. He fought a perfect fight, a fight which he figured before starting. He had determined to put an end to the claims of Kansas for supremacy, and if ever one fighter proved that he was better than another Leonard did today.

Leonard Is Master.

He started with the customary feeling out and jabbing with his left. In the eighth round he beat Kansas to practically every exchange of punches. He was master of the situation at every point, but the stubborn, tough little Buffalo boy, who was making his fourth effort to grab the title, kept his jaw so well covered that Leonard could not land the decisive punch. From the third round on he had Kansas practically at his mercy, but never once could he hit him where it would yield the desired result.

He tried in the fifth to finish it up, but a slip through the ropes delayed matters, and Kansas, tough and wiry as ever, came back and showed that he had a dangerous punch which commanded the respect of the Bronx beauty. Again in the sixth, Leonard seemed to have him where he wanted him but could not hit the vital spot.

Seconds Save Kansas.

The finish started before the first minute of the eighth round was fought. A short left hand swing caught Kansas on the jaw and started him. Leonard hesitated an instant and came through with his right. After that it was a slaughter with Leonard following up and driving his covered up victim half way around the ropes, striving hard to land a knockout.

Kansas was out, but still on his feet, and Leonard poised pantherlike for the

Seek to Avert Trolley Tieup in Talk Today

Whether a middle ground is to be found in the traction wage controversy or Chicago is to face a tieup of its local transportation facilities will be determined at a new series of conferences between the union officials and Henry A. Blair, president of the Chicago Surface Lines, the first of which will be held today.

William Quinlan, president of the union, today will notify Mr. Blair formally of the rejection by the street car men Monday night of his wage reduction proposal and give him the resolution adopted demanding a renewal of the old agreement with a strike vote as an alternative.

Far Apart on Figures.

Mr. Blair spent the holiday out of town and the union officials appeared at their offices for only a few moments during the morning. Neither would commit himself as to the probability of a walkout next week.

On the surface it would appear that the company and the men are too far apart on their figures to effect a compromise. One report is that the men will begin a strike vote today with a view to a strike at the end of the week.

Mr. Blair has stated that the employés will have to accept a substantial wage cut if the surface lines are to be kept out of bankruptcy as a result of the 7 cent fare ruling. His first offer proposed a cut of approximately 25 per cent. It was expected that this would be rejected.

Usual Procedure.

The men have replied by threatening a strike vote unless the old wage is restored. It would have been against precedent in wage controversies for the company to have offered in the first proposal the maximum wage which it will agree to pay. It was in accordance with the policy of all unions that local 241 replied by demanding the highest wage possible. The rank and file of the organization may or may not agree with the company that this present wage cannot be met by the company under the fare reduction.

The next step would be for the company to make another offer or to ask that the men submit what they consider a reasonable wage readjustment under existing conditions. A compromise figure then may be agreed upon. The men realize that Chicago street car employes are now receiving a wage which averages between 15 and 20 cents higher per hour than is being paid in any of the other large cities, but the fact that both the company and the unions are blaming the city hall for the present crisis may militate against a tendency to settle the question peaceably.

Blair Opposes Politics.

"I can predict no more what is going to happen than I can predict what is going to happen in Russia," said Mr. Blair last night. "I have received no word from the men and all I know is what I have read in the papers. I want to say, however, that I am and always have been a friend of unions, that I believe they should be treated as fairly and squarely as possible. But I am not a politician and I refuse to play politics. It is a shame that politicians should harass corporations with the sole and inevitable object of crucifying labor.

"We probably shall get together within the next few days. By that I do not mean that we shall reach an agreement, however."

"Do you think a compromise possible?" he was asked.

"As long as there is no strike there is always the possibility of compromise," he replied.

MAINTENANCE WALKOUT IS DECLARED OFF

Grable Acts After Meeting Board.

BULLETIN.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 4.—Maintenance of way employes of the Florida East Coast railroad have signed a wage contract based on the scale fixed by the railroad labor board, according to a statement issued today by J. P. Beckwith, vice president of the road. The statement added that the men have withdrawn from their national organization, forming a new union of their own.

There will be no strike of railway maintenance of way employés—at least for months.

Prospects that these 400,000 workers would join the army of shopmen who walked out last Saturday were definitely knocked out late yesterday.

Following an all day conference in the United States railroad labor board offices here, E. F. Grable, president of the maintenance men's brotherhood, and six other members of his executive council, issued a statement in which they said it had been concluded "it is not wise for our membership to leave the service of the carriers until every resource has been exhausted that affords hope of a peaceful adjustment."

Give Credit to Hooper.

Railway officials here seemed agreed that credit for checking the threatened spread of the strike movement was chiefly due to Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railroad labor board, and W. L. McMenimen, one of the three members of the board's labor group. President Grable also was lauded for his stand.

That failure of the maintenance of way workers to lend support to the effort to tie up transportation will prove a serious blow to the striking shopmen's cause was generally regarded as a foregone conclusion.

No Comment by Jewell.

B. M. Jewell, head of the six federated shop crafts, declined to comment on the latest development. From other sources, however, it was learned President Grable's decision did not come as a surprise.

A circumstance supporting this assumption is the fact that officials of the two organizations were in brief joint conference three times during the day.

It became known that, before leaving Detroit Monday night in response to Mr. McMenimen's telephoned invitation for a final conference, Mr. Grable called Mr. Jewell over long distance, asking him to meet the maintenance of way delegation at the Great Northern hotel yesterday morning.

Labor Leaders Meet.

Accordingly officers of the two organizations met before President Grable and his associates reported at the Transportation building for the session with Chairman Hooper and Mr. McMenimen.

And when the conference at the labor boad was adjourned at noon without any definite action having been taken the maintenance of way leaders again sought the shop crafts officials at the Great Northern.

President Jewell and his associates remained at the hotel during the afternoon until Mr. Grable finally reported his decision.

STATEMENT BY GRABLE

The statement issued by Mr. Grable late in the day reads:

"After conferences with railroad officials and the chairman and other members of the railroad labor board we have determined upon the following course:

"First, to instruct our chairman on each carrier to take up promptly with the management all the grievances and controversies between the members of our organization and the carriers for the purpose of negotiating a speedy adjustment, the matters to be taken up, among others, to embrace a revision of the recent wage decision of the railroad labor board, certain changes in our rules, and the question of contracting out the labor of the classes of employés included in our organization.

"That the carriers could not well hesitate to consider a revision of the wage decision is indicated by the fact that many of them have already been offering certain changes favorable to certain classes.

"Second—In case of a failure to secure from any carrier fair and reasonable concessions in regard to the various matters involved to bring these matters before the United States railroad labor board, with the assurance that they shall be given the right of way for prompt consideration and decision.

"Third—To continue work under the present wage decision of the labor board under protest, pending the efforts to obtain a satisfactory adjustment.

"Fourth—To insist that any revision of wages obtained be made retroactive to July 1.

"Fifth—To seek immediately from the railroad labor board a ruling absolving our members from being required to perform the work of striking employés belonging to other classes.

"Sixth—To withhold strike orders pending the carrying out of the foregoing program.

Better in Long Run.

"With the best interests of the members of our organization at heart it is our judgment that more will be gained for them by the program here outlined than could be derived from any other course.

"We believe that a just and generous public sentiment will sustain us in this policy and every move necessary to its accomplishment will be most vigorously pressed.

"This announcement will be followed by a circular letter dealing with this matter more in detail."

Signers of the foregoing constituted a subcommittee of the maintenance brotherhood's executive board. In addition to President Grable, they are J. C. Shock of Indianapolis, vice president, who is said to have played an important part in preserving peace; W. D. Roberts of Wilkesbarre, Pa., G. W. Planten of Boston, Mass.; E. L. Enke of Wilkesbarre; P. Woods of Winnipeg, and J. J. O'Grady of Ottawa.

What effect the peace arrangement will have on pending decisions of other railway labor groups that have polled strike votes is problematical. Many predicted it would hush other strike threats, leaving the shopmen to fight their own fight.

SHOPMEN HOLD FIRM

Neither side in the shopmen's strike showed any signs during the day of weakening. Union men admitted that no serious effects had followed the walkout, but declared that in a few days freight transportation, at least, would be tied in a snarl. The railroads continued hiring new men and to issue ultimatums setting the time at which the old men must return or lose their rights. Preparations for trouble were made at several points, but the union men generally conducted themselves peaceably.

The strike spread to other unions in a few places. Oilers and firemen at the Illinois Central shops at Council Bluffs failed to appear for work. Trackmen on the Mahoning division of the Erie threatened a strike unless the road reinstates a man who was discharged.

Union officials insist that thousands of other workers would join the strike in a few days. At the Sunnyside yards of the Long Island railroad strike leaders said that oilers, clerks, freight handlers, and general workmen joined the strikers.

Engineers Involved.

Warren G. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, announced in Cleveland he had received eight telegrams complaining that enginemen were being ordered to take out trains which did not have the air hose coupled, and that he was wiring brotherhood members not to take out any such trains unless they received written instructions from the superintendents relieving them of responsibility for the safety of the trains. Failure to couple the hose properly was said to be due to the strike affecting the inspection forces.

Jewell Says Labor Board Outlaws Itself; Calls It Tool of Anti-Union Interests

The United States railway labor board has "outlawed itself" as the friend of the unions and has adopted a tragic attitude in attempting to force American workers to accept a wage scale below decent living, according to a statement issued yesterday by B. M. Jewell, president of the striking railway shop workers, in answer to the resolution of the board declaring the strikers outlaws.

Statement in Full.

The statement follows in full:

"United States Railroad Labor Board, Chicago, Illinois.

"Dear Sirs: In acknowledging receipt of an order of the board issued today purporting to 'outlaw' 400,000 permanently organized railway employes and to grant recognition to such temporary organizations of floating workers and professional strike breakers as the railway managements may be able to develop, we wish to advise that the statements contained in the resolution of the board are in many respects quite inaccurate.

"[1] The organized employés are not combating the labor board or the government.

"[2] The organized employés are engaged in a dispute with the managements of the railroads.

Says Board Has Failed.

"[3] The labor board has failed in its effort to decide this dispute by obtaining an agreement upon wages and working conditions acceptable to both parties.

"[4] There is nothing in any lawful decision of the Board to prevent such an agreement being reached between the carriers and their employés at any time in the future.

"[5] The resolution adopted by the board today [Monday] simply means that the board has accepted its failure to bring about an agreement, and the acceptance of that same fact by the employés cannot be honestly described as a fight against the labor board or the government.

"[6] The organized employés, in their effort to maintain the American standard of living and to combat the intention of organized money power to break down that standard, are upholding and fighting for the institutions which the government of the United States was ordained to protect and to preserve.

Absolved From Allegiance.

"It is perhaps peculiarly appropriate that on the Fourth of July we state: 'the causes which imperil' the organized railway employés to declare themselves 'absolved from all allegiance' to the board.

"The history of the recent conduct of the board is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of tyranny over the workers engaged in the transportation industry.

"The board was created for the purpose of establishing just and reasonable wages and working conditions, when an agreement upon wages and working conditions between carriers and employés could not be reached. The board was required to take into consideration 'wages paid for similar kinds of work in other industries' and 'the relation between wages and the cost of living,' among other standards.

"How far the board in its recent decisions failed to follow the law is most vividly shown in considering the lowest wage fixed by the board, because it inevitably follows that if the minimum wage fixed is below the level of a just and reasonable wage then all wages graduated upwards from that wage will be below the proper level.

"The board has fixed the minimum wage at 23 cents per hour, or, according to the board's own statement, an average for all section men of 32.7 cents per hour. Yet on July 1, when the wage thus established was to go into effect, employers of common labor throughout the middle west, such as road contractors, were unable to employ unskilled and unorganized workers for any such rate of pay—the fact being that wages of 40 cents an hour have been offered by the railroads themselves, and that private contractors have found it necessary to pay from 50 to 75 cents per hour to obtain common unskilled labor.

Cannot Live on Pay.

"The board has attempted to establish wages which for a large percentage of the men concerned will not provide the minimum amount found by government officials to be necessary to maintain a worker and his family in a condition of decent living.

"When the railway employés affected by these wage cuts informed their organizations by their strike votes that they were unwilling to continue to render service upon the terms offered, the board (having failed to fulfill its function, because the board had failed to obey the law of its creation) then attempted to bring the executives of the labor organizations into a hearing on the eve of the suspension of work.

"The result of this would have been a confused and disorderly suspension of work, which, even though that was not the purpose of the board, would have reflected discredit upon the organizations and been the cause of widespread disturbances.

Refused to Parley.

"The executives refused to permit themselves to be drawn from their posts of duty, and as a result the suspension of work was effected July 1 by half a million men without disorder and in a manner showing clearly the determined and peaceful attitude of the railway employés under strain of difficult conditions.

"Now the board by its order just received has attempted another disorganizing process. It is lending its aid definitely to the nation-wide drive inaugurated by selfish, short-sighted financial interests against organized labor and in favor of the so-called open shop, which is in fact, as you well know, an anti-union shop. The action of the board would be comic if it were not even more tragic.

"The board well knows that such temporary groups of employés as may be assembled for the purpose of performing the work which was being done by the organized railway employés will not in any honest sense represent the permanent employés of the railways, but will be merely company organizations, subservient to the will and purpose of the managements of the railways.

Page's Decision Cited.

"Judge Page of the United States District court in an opinion which coincided with the argument of the railroad lawyers stated that the purpose of the Transportation act, "was to leave to the carrier and its employés full liberty to get together in their own way." The board is now attempting to direct the organization of employés and to select those whom it will recognize as organizations of railway employés.

"In this partisan effort of the board to destroy the effectiveness of the organizations which the railway employés have formed by their own desire and in the exercise of their right of mutual aid and coöperation the board has "outlawed," not the organizations of employés, but itself.

"Charged with the duty of mediating in disputes between the carriers and their employés, the board announces that unless the actions of the organizations of employés meet with its approval, the board will one by one exclude from its consideration these organizations, until, in course of time, following its present policy, we may assume the board will have excluded from its consideration the entire 2,000,000 railway employés, thus leaving itself unable to perform any of the duties and obligations imposed upon it by the Transportation act.

Becomes Mere Tool.

"Surely this would be high comedy were it not in fact a tragedy. It is a tragedy that the board has, first, allowed itself to be used as an instrument to lower the American standard of living at the behest of organized greed and, second, allowed itself to be used as an instrument of attack against the national organizations of labor that have been for a generation the means for the peaceful, reasonable betterment of the conditions of the wage earners.

"The labor board has placed itself in the position of being not an arm of the government of the people of the United States which is expressed in the constitutional prohibition of involuntary servitude, which is expressed in laws recognizing and upholding national organizations of labor, which is expressed in establishing tribunals to protect the rights of labor in its unceasing struggle against the abuses of organized money power.

"The board has placed itself in the position of being an arm of an organized financial and employing interest which is engaged in a nation-wide campaign to reduce wages below the level of decent living, to check the rising standard of living for the American worker, to disintegrate the protective organizations of the worker.

Ready to Meet Roads.

"We are ready and willing, in accordance with the provisions of the transportation act, as representatives of the national organizations of railway employés concerned in the present dispute, to meet with the represenatives of the carriers and to do all in our power to reach an adjustment of this dispute which shall insure reasonable wages and working conditions to employés in the transportation industry.

"We have no desire to promote any further misguided effort of the labor board to hamper and prevent a fair adjustment of this dispute and can accept the action of the board of July 3 as relieving these organizations, which the board has attempted to 'outlaw,' from the faintest obligation, in the present controversy, to the board, which has thus abandoned its effort to fulfill the duties imposed upon it by law. Yours truly,

"By order of Executive Council,

ANTI-MONARCHIST DEMONSTRATIONS SWEEP GERMANY

Two Republicans Slain in Bomb Outrage.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, July 4.—The republicans owned Germany today. Throughout the country the monarchists stayed at home or fled, fearing revenge for recent violence blamed on their followers.

The red, white and black flag was not seen for the first time since the war's end. Instead the republican flag flew everywhere, supplemented by the red banners of the socialist and extremist parties.

Germany's celebration "for the protection of the republican form of government" passed with only minor fireworks, the chief being a bomb outrage at Mannheim, where monarchists stole a march on the republicans by blowing up a labor temple, killing two and injuring four.

Republicans in Parade.

Berlin's demonstration against the monarchists was held in the aristocratic west end section, where all afternoon columns of from one to ten thousand persons converged upon Kaiser Wilhelm's church from every street. Over the church the red flag was hoisted. Here for hours democrats and socialists passed in an endless parade.

"Down with reaction!" "Down with the monarch!" yelled youths through megaphones.

"Down" came an answering roar from the crowds.

One group bearing an effigy of Karl Helfferich, the Nationalist leader, hanging from a tree was enormously applauded.

"Down with the Nationalist party, down with Rathenau's murderers, down with Helfferich," the crowd took up as the effigy passed.

Guns in U. S. Film Studio.

A feature of the demonstration was the planting of machine guns along the line of march. Many were placed in the studio building belonging to an American photo play company.

I talked with Maximilian Harden by telephone today.

"I was attacked by cowardly Monarchists," said Herr Harden who is still in the hospital. "One held my arms, while a second struck me with a black jack over the eye. Then I lost consciousness. They denounced me as a pacifist when they sprang at me."

NATIONALS MAKE NEW ADVANCES IN HEART OF DUBLIN

De Valera Said to Have Eluded Capture.

BULLETIN.

DUBLIN, July 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—An official communique issued early this morning says:

"The attack on the irregulars' position continued intermittently during the night. A number of eighteen-pounder shots were fired into the buildings they hold in O'Connell street.

"The Free State troops captured twenty-one irregulars with arms and ammunition at Ballingore."

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DUBLIN, July 4.—Through the exertion of continuous pressure the national forces materially reduced the area which the irregulars are holding in the heart of Dublin.

Shooting rifle grenades along the building line on the east side of O'Connell street, the nationals created a smoke screen through which they dashed and captured the general postoffice. The same tactics resulted in their gaining a foothold on the Hamman hotel at the corner of Earl street and 100 yards from the postoffice. These two operations netted the nationals forty-eight prisoners and 100 stacks of arms, but only small stocks of ammunition.

The bell in St. Thomas' church in Marlborough street was rung by bullets from machine guns directed by national troops to dislodge a group of irregulars. In the middle of the afternoon fifteen of the enemy came out of the edifice under a white flag.

Hear De Valera Has Escaped.

Eamon de Valera has succeeded in escaping from his headquarters in the Gresham hotel in O'Connell street, according to a widely circulated report.

The small arm firing today recalled to Americans here the old fashioned celebrations on Independence day in the United States. However, the casualties here today will not exceed those of an insane fourth in an American city of 250,000. Three more were killed today and eleven wounded, but there is plenty of opportunity for increasing this number.

The continuity of the firing is infrequently broken in lower O'Connell street. In other districts of the city it is comparatively quiet, although there are occasional outbursts from snipers. The disturbance has reduced business to 10 per cent of the normal activities.

Capture Armored Car.

The snipers usually are located in buildings overlooking barricades erected by the national forces, who are searching everybody and everything passing through the streets. As I write this volunteers have barricaded Brunswick street and are exchanging shots with snipers firing from the direction of O'Connell bridge.

Among the national armored cars patrolling the streets is the "Former Mutineer." This weapon figured prominently in the final action at the Four Courts, dodging in and out around the building, holding up the nationals. It was put out of action and rechristened by its captors.

Still Hold Two Areas.

DUBLIN, July 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—The people of Dublin are now awaiting the result of the attack on the Gresham hotel and other premises in O'Connell street, which has been in progress incessantly since morning. The rebels hold positions in two areas near each other, with a wedge of regulars between.

In the upper area on the high ground above O'Connell street abutting to the east of Parnell square, they hold Barry's hotel and the Plaza hotel, but have lost all other strategical points in this section. The encirclement of this area is practically complete and the irregulars are confined within a position from which escape is not easy.

Official Bulletin.

In the lower area of occupied O'Connell street the rebels still hold a block of buildings running from Gresham hotel to Cathedral street, fronting on O'Connell street and backed by the parcel postoffice, the Catholic cathedral, and other buildings in Marlborough street.

National army troops today captured Millmount barracks, at Drogheda, stronghold of the irregulars in County Meath, it was announced in a headquarters bulletin tonight.

BOMB PLANT IN BELFAST

BY THOMAS RYAN.

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BELFAST, July 4.—The Royal Irish constabulary early this morning raided a house in the Falls road district and discovered an arsenal and a bomb manufacturing plant. It is believed this house was one of the headquarters from where the reign of terror was directed.

The continued bomb making indicates that the present lull in Belfast is only temporary, and the authorities believe the trouble will flare up as soon as order is restored in Dublin. The biggest difficulty in coping with the situation is the fact that Belfast during the war was a munition making center, and many workmen were trained in making bombs in the big Mackie foundry.

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 4.—Ambassador Harvey extended the olive branch to Germany and Russia in a speech at a dinner given in honor of former President Taft tonight.

"I was not able to speak to the German ambassador officially last year because we were at war with Germany," Mr. Harvey said. "This year I am glad to say that we have with us an admirable representative of this wonderful people. The great Russians have not disposed of their hallucinations and therefore they are not able to be represented here. If next year they can make it possible to be with us it will cause greater rejoicing than anything."

Miss Andrea, whose family name was Andrews, was born at Watseka, Ill. Baron Richthofen, the brother of the famous commander of the Richthofen air squadron during the war, who was piloting the plane, was killed. Fern Andrea's mother is in Indianapolis.

PHOTOGRAPH OF POINCARE BRINGS BITTER DEBATE

PARIS, July 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—A photograph in which Premier Poincare and Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador, appear to be smiling while passing through the Verdun cemetery provoked a lively incident in the chamber of deputies today. Deputy Valliant-Couturier, Communist, called attention to the picture, interrupting the speaker to do so, saying "I do not smile in the presence of the dead."

The premier jumped to his feet and demanded that the deputy explain himself. M. Valliant-Couturier then endeavored to extend the discussion to the question of responsibility for the war but M. Poincare insisted on having his say about the picture, explaining that it was taken when the sun was shining brightly in his eyes and those of Ambassador Herrick. He declared it was an abominable act to use this picture as propaganda.

Two Policemen Attacked and Beaten in Saloon Row

Sergeants John J. Collins, 4446 West Adams street and Robert Deacey, 1104 North Western avenue, both of the Fillmore street station detail, were attacked by several men while in the saloon of Golan & Weyman, Roosevelt Road and Cicero avenue, and badly beaten with an iron bar Monday night.

Both officers were robbed of their guns, stars and money and were then thrown into the street.

OFFICER KILLS STUDENT, THINKS HE IS A BANDIT

Detroit, Mich., July 4.—[Special.]—Charles D. Hixon, a dentistry student at the University of Michigan, was shot and killed by Patrolman Walter Storch, Vinewood station. Storch was exonerated by the prosecutor's office.

Storch was with a party of uniformed officers who were investigating after a hold-up. In a statement made to an assistant prosecutor Storch said that Hixon when seen and ordered to halt threw up his hands, kept walking away and reached for his hip pocket. Storch said he repeated the command twice and then fired thinking Hixon was reaching for a revolver.

He was rushed to St. Ann's hospital but died on the way. He had charge of the city carpenters of the department of police.

Bottomley, U. S. Foe, Must Serve His Seven Years

LONDON, July 4.—[United Press.]—Horatio Bottomley, anti-American agitator and editor, must serve seven years in jail, it was ruled today by the court of appeals.

Bottomley was convicted of converting to his own use nearly $700,000 in funds he collected in behalf of patriotic and war relief societies.

DR. DORSEY ISN'T A BOHEMIAN, HE TELLS REPORTER

Has No Intention of Wedding "Flapper."

New York, July 4.—[Special.]— Dr. George A. Dorsey, world famous ethnologist, won't marry a "flapper," and isn't bohemian—"unless living south of Grant's tomb, and working fifteen or sixteen hours a day" makes him one.

Dr. Dorsey was divorced in Chicago and his wife was reported as saying she divorced him to allow him to write and have a career. Mrs. Dorsey's attorney added that Dr. Dorsey was living in New York a life of "what might be called bohemianism."

Interested in seeing what an ethnologist's idea of bohemianism might be, a reporter set out to find Dr. Dorsey. The reporter's sense of ethnology took him to Greenwich Village, where at 8 East 8th street, Miss Della Raines, art model and movie actress, once lived. She lives there no longer.

His View on Marriage.

Dr. Dorsey had once been reported engaged to Miss Raines, but later wrote to a married daughter that the "only woman I would ever marry is your mother."

Nevertheless the reporter's sense of ethnology took him to No. 20, the first in a row of houses of which No. 8 is one, and he found the former curator of ethnology at the Chicago Field museum and former member of the faculty of Chicago and Northwestern universities.

"I haven't seen Miss Raines in four or five years," said Dr. Dorsey. "She was merely an incident which had nothing whatever to do with our divorce, and came and went. No, I didn't know she once lived in 8th street.

Likes to Feel He's Free.

"Mrs. Dorsey and I agreed, years ago, that we didn't track. That is neither to her discredit nor mine. We decided we could not live together, and let it go at that. We have grown children and whether we live together or not makes no particular difference to them.

"I like to feel free to get up and go at fifteen minutes' notice. I might not want to take my wife along—or she might not want to take me—that busts up the show. One finds the going good in one direction, the other in another. I have no use for men of 40 or 50 who want to marry flappers. A man should be a good sport and play the game."

Senator Crow Has Relapse; Condition Is Weakened

Uniontown, Pa., July 4.—United States Senator William E. Crow has suffered a relapse and is in a greatly weakened condition, according to his physicians.

MANUEL HERRICK, AIR ELECTIONEER, INJURED IN CRASH

Memphis, Tenn., July 4.—Manuel Herrick, member of congress from the Eighth Oklahoma district, was slightly injured today when the airplane in which he was flying from Memphis to Perry, Okla., crashed into a tree near Hamlin, Ark., wrecking the plane. Incidentally plans for the Oklahoma congressman making an aerial electioneering tour of his district were wrecked.

Tonight Mr. Herrick was en route by train to keep his speaking engagements in Oklahoma in the interest of his candidacy for reëlection, while the aviator who accompanied him from this city, E. G. Person, a former army flyer, remained to salvage the wreckage.

According to a telephone message received here the machine developed engine trouble, and a landing was made in a field near Hamlin, about fifty miles west of Memphis. The trouble apparently remedied, the plane hopped off again, but crashed into a tree and hurtled to the ground. The plane was badly smashed.

Parachute Sticks; Killed.

Joplin, Mo., July 4.—William Spain, a stunt flyer, fell 2,000 feet to his death at Seneca, Mo., twenty miles south of here today, when a parachute with which he leaped from an airplane failed to open.

URGES SUBWAYS UNDER DRIVE FOR USE OF BATHERS

Here's a new suggestion—and one of considerable size—for the Lincoln park commissioners to take up in connection with the much discussed equipment of the Oak street beach.

It is a proposal that pedestrian subways be run to the beach from the far side of the Lake Shore drive and that in connection with them locker rooms and showers be built at least far enough below the surface to prevent their marring the wide stretch of open lake front.

The suggestion was sent to THE TRIBUNE yesterday by Dr. Eugene S. Talbot, a pioneer resident of the "gold coast" neighborhood, who argues that his plan would give free use of the beach opportunities to the public and at the same time give complete protection to the rights of the owners of property along the west side of the drive.

Here Is His Plan.

His letter follows:

"I have been a constant subscriber and reader of THE TRIBUNE since March 8, 1867. I opened my office at the corner of Chicago avenue and North Clark street the first of May in 1872, just after the Chicago fire. In 1880 I built my residence in East Goethe street. It will be seen then that I have had some acquaintance with every present building on the north side.

"I have also had interests in various pieces of property from Chicago avenue to Lincoln park during this period. It will be seen, therefore, that my interests have always been and are today associated with the improvements which are now rapidly taking place in this locality.

"I read this morning with much interest your article entitled, 'Little Comfort for Huge Crowd at Oak Street Beach' in the July 3 TRIBUNE. Being a near neighbor to this locality I have studied this question with considerable thought.

"The people of this city are entitled to the benefits of lake bathing and certain comforts in this most exclusive locality are also entitled to their rights along the lake shore. How then can the bathers enjoy their privileges to the fullest extent and at the same time not encroach or infringe upon the rights of the adjoining property owners?

"In the first place, since all the people approach the lake from the west the most difficult thing is crossing the drive. Subways should be built at Oak, Division and Goethe streets and North avenue, all through streets. These subways should extend nearly to the water's edge.

Would Protect Property Rights.

"By this method the people would emerge at the farthest distance possible from the drive and therefore would not trespass upon or interfere with the exclusiveness of the neighborhood. Large bathhouse facilities with lockers, comfort stations and lunch rooms could be constructed underground east of the drive leading in from the subways.

"By this plan the shore would not become a nuisance and nothing unsightly would appear upon the surface. The Oak street bathing beach has come to stay; the question is how to make it possible for each community to enjoy their common rights and privileges."

THIRTY HURT IN WRECK.

Kansas City, Mo., July 4.—Thirty persons were injured, none believed fatally, when St. Louis-San Francisco passenger train No. 20, from Springfield, Mo., was derailed today.

CROWE BEGINS WAR TODAY ON ROADHOUSE EVIL

This morning sees the declaration of war by State's Attorney Crowe on gambling, drinking, and vice in the roadhouses surrounding Chicago. Such cases as have already come to the notice of the state's attorney will be pushed with all possible speed, evidence in them being taken immediately before the grand jury, and special details will be sent out to investigate and make arrests where infringement of the law is found.

The action of the state's attorney comes as the culmination of a series of cases, many of them attacks on women and young girls, which have taken place since warm weather brought out the automobile and revived the midnight ride and "a little party."

Agoa Case Is Cited.

One of the most recent examples and the ultimate factor in the move of Mr. Crowe is the case of Daniel Agoa, 170 South Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park, and William Kehoe, 4634 Washington boulevard, which is pending before Police Magistrate Ernest Siebold of Franklin Park.

The men were accused by Miss Marian Roche, 19 South Lavergne avenue, following an auto trip to the Orchard bungalow. On the stand last Saturday Miss Roche told of being forced to drink liquor and then of how Agoa struck her several times on the ride and finally attacked her.

The case was continued until next Saturday, which caused Assistant State's Attorney Guy C. Guerine, in a heated talk, to announce that he would nolle prosse the case and take it before the grand jury, where he will ask indictments against Agoa for rape and Kehoe for accessory to rape. First Assistant State's Attorney Edgar A. Jonas promised yesterday that this case would be one of the first taken up.

Won't Wait on Sheriff.

"The state's attorney wrote to the sheriff several days ago asking that he take the matter in hand," said Mr. Jonas. "We shall not wait for action on the sheriff's part, however, but will commence our own prosecution and investigation of the roadhouse situation immediately.

"There is no doubt about the fact that flagrant violations of the law are taking place, that gambling and drinking are going on, and that young girls are being lured into compromising situations by the advertised good times at these roadhouses."

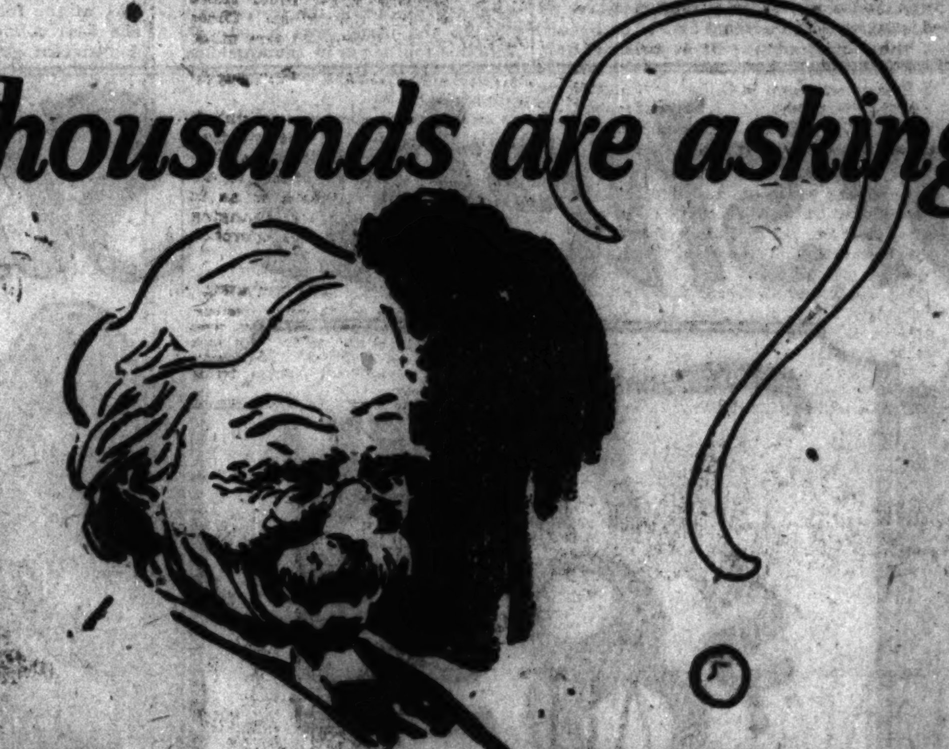
LINGERIE—SECOND FLOOR.



Thousands are asking us—

"Who is Uncle Henry?"

Irvin Cobb went to Uncle Henry himself (never guessing he was the author) and advised him to read the new humorist in Collier's, the funniest man in years.

Judge Ben Lindsey—a sober judge, mind you—wrote that he "had laughed his head off" over Uncle Henry's page.

The wireless people wanted to broadcast him to millions.

People of every sort, degree, age and taste have been laughing and wiping their eyes over Uncle Henry's weekly articles—and asking us, "Who is he?"

The guesses have all been right on one point—the intimate knowledge of men and events disclosed in these articles could come only from some famous American.

We were a little afraid our new philosopher-humorist might want to go back into politics.

But Uncle Henry says, No—just now, he is concerned only with the broad view from his porch—the wonderful panorama of American life.

Now and then, when the visibility is low, he strays off to look things over at closer range. He drops in on Washington frequently.

He takes you with him, in Collier's, right up to the doors of the high places and secret chambers, opens them and lets you see what's inside—through his not too serious eyes.

You'll find him at his best this week, in his article on "Beveridge and Pinchot." He sees an open season on the Old Guard. He names some gentlemen he thinks are in trouble. "Between you an' me," he says, "I don't think one will be saved."

Just one of the many features which have given Collier's its distinctive place in more than a million homes, and from which its readers gain that quickened sense of the relationship between their personal problems and those of the world about them.

STREET CAR MEN BLAME CITY HALL FOR PAY CUT IDEA

Labor Paper Tells How Agitation Began.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Street car men place the responsibility for the proposed 25 per cent cut in their wages upon the city administration. They put the blame on the city hall for the plan to cut their wages from $7,400,000 to $8,000,000 annually and to change their working conditions.

The Union Leader, official journal of the car men, says editorially that "the bulk of the evidence introduced by the representatives of the city (to reduce car fares) was an attack upon the wage rates and labor conditions of the employés. It was clearly an effort on the part of the city representatives to place the burden of lower fare rates on the car employés."

Typical Hedging.

Later it says that the city lawyers changed attitude and then adds: "This declaration was typical of the hedging position taken by the city's representatives with reference to car employés throughout the whole hearing."

A conductor yesterday remarked: "The city hall was in fine business starting this wage cut. Any sane fellow would be willing to take a slight cut, but why did the city hall start it? Why, they now pay $2,000 a year to a dog catcher. We figured that out at the barn this morning, and it's 70 cents an hour at least—for only a dog catcher."

Official Protest on Hall.

William Quinlan, president, and William Taber, financial secretary-treasurer of the union, were more emphatic—if less picturesque—in their official statement of reduction in fares. They said, "we most emphatically protest the position of the city representatives." They said that they interpreted "the nature and the character of the evidence presented by the city lawyers as an attempt to force these workers and their families back into the condition of want and privation."

They went on: "A mass of evidence has been introduced from local employers, practically all of whom conduct their industries on a nonunion basis, where employés are without force to establish adequate wages and just conditions of labor."

Didn't Harp on Taxes.

The union officials pointed out that the city lawyers presented no evidence to show "the general increase in taxes of practically 100 per cent since 1916, 41 per cent of which is reflected in the current tax bills." They also charged that the city "touched upon by the merest reference the unprecedented rent increase."

At another time they said: "Not only that, but the attitude of the city representatives indicates that they are seeking to wipe out the car men's effort of eighteen years to establish the shorter work day, and are attempting to resurrect the inhuman hours of labor.

"Such reactionary reversion, if effective, would not only greatly increase the burden of operatives of the service, but would victimize some 2,000 car employés and separate them from their jobs. In addition the attitude of the city representatives is obviously an attempt to extend the spread of duty of 20 per cent of the straight run men from an eight hour basis to a period of fourteen hours a day.

"Cut Is Unwarranted."

"We express the protest of these 14,000 employés against any attempt to decrease wage rates, increase the daily hours of labor, eliminate overtime rates, or to condemn 60 per cent of the trainmen to a work day covering fourteen hours. Such lowering of the street car men's labor standards is unwarranted, unjustifiable, and could result only in decreased efficiency and demoralization of service throughout the whole transportation systems of Chicago, for any adverse changes affecting the street car men would inevitably follow with elevated railway employés, which would swell the number of workers affected to 20,000."

The unionists gave this warning: "We most respectfully submit for the benefit of the city representatives in this case, or any of the interested parties, that we never will yield willingly our present work day and return to the misery that we endured so many years."

Question of Comparison.

The commission in its fare order devoted a page to employés' wages. In that page the commission said that the average 1920 wage was 61.1 cents per hour, while at the time of the order, April 8 last, the average was 54.9 cents, and then they remark that "The Chicago wage is 44.7 per cent above the average of the forty cities." But the commission also said that the wage in Chicago between 1914 and 1918 was 4.6 cents higher than the average wage of the forty cities. Then follows this suggestion:

"If the same differential were in effect at the present time the wage in Chicago would be 60.3 cents"—a reduction of 24.6 per cent.

Later, before the federal court, the city's lawyers said that "the commerce commission is skilled in the rate making business. It represents and acts for the state; it has no private interest to subserve; it is impartial."

Like City's Stand.

President Blair of the surface lines has offered the men 60 cents an hour—a cut of 25 per cent. This is practically the suggestion of the commerce commission.

Mr. Blair has also proposed that the company shall pay time and a half after nine hours' work, instead of eight, as at present.

The city's representatives have also fathered that idea. In their brief and argument to the federal court, page 91, they said:

"Another condition peculiar to Chicago is that the men get time and a half for overtime; that is, the excess over eight hours."

Would End Overtime.

Relative to this same point on page 92 the city said: "Morgan, the timetable man of the companies (who was called as the city's witness), after much quibbling and evasion, admitted what is obvious, that under an eight hour day with full pay for all time worked, but without extra pay for overtime up to the end of the ninth hour, practically all schedules could be made up so that the bonus time and the overtime would both be eliminated."

Mr. Blair also proposed that the number of straight runs be 40 instead of 60 per cent—as at present—of the total runs. On that point the city's representatives said: "Up to 1919 the plaintiff's (companies') trainmen were satisfied with 40 per cent of straight runs, but at that time the straight runs were increased to 60 per cent. This made it more difficult to adjust schedules so as to avoid bonus time and overtime."

High Wages Cited.

The city representatives further commented: "So it appears that as the result of war conditions the employés are not only getting much higher wages than other street car employés in the United States but also they are operating under much more expensive working conditions. These conditions do not prevail in any other place."

Another sentence of the city's representatives reads:

"In these circumstances we think it is unfair to the men to assume that they will not coöperate with the companies, in some way or other, to adjust the operating expenses so as to conform to the changed and changing conditions resulting from the approach to normal times."

BOSS RESTAURANT, NOT PATRONS.

Patrons in the John R. Thompson restaurant, 354 North Clark street, yesterday, were not molested by an armed bandit who took $100 from the cash register. They were simply told to elevate their hands during the robbing process.

"DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN — ?"—THEY DO!

THAT ARTICLE X. APPEARS AGAIN IN A NEW FORM

PARIS, July 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The plan for general world disarmament which was laid before the temporary mixed commission on disarmament of the league of nations yesterday afternoon by Lord Robert Cecil of Great Britain was presented in full detail at this morning's session of the commission. This plan is said to have been favorably received by most of the delegates.

All nations, according to Lord Robert's plan, would sign a general disarmament agreement and would agree to go to the defense of nations in their respective regions or continents in case of aggression.

The principal American objection to article X. of the league of nations, it is held, would be met by this regional defensive plan, inasmuch as the United States already is committed to a similar policy on the American continent under the Monroe Doctrine, and Lord Robert's plan is designed to limit each nation's obligations in defensive alliances to such regions.

Poland Agrees to Return Yanks Who Fought for Her

WARSAW, July 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Polish government has guaranteed to return to America all the men of Gen. Haller's army still remaining in Poland. These men were recruited in America, took part in the world war, and later in Polish campaigns with Russia. July 20 the men's transportation by way of Danzig will be begun, and it will be completed, it is hoped, by the end of August.

NO GROUP RULE, SAYS HARDING, SEEING MENACE

"Right of One to Work, of Many to Bargain."

loomed big in my vision, because I had seen nothing greater.

The Country and the City View.

"Surely it looked ten times as large as it does today, though the Marion of today is ten times larger than then and twice ten times as important in its relationship to the world of human activities.

"This confession is meant to have application. How important is the viewpoint to all the impressions and problems of life. The villager goes to the great city, is confused by the high tide of activities, and by the complacency of those accustomed to them, and so reveals himself a provincial, and is so designated. But those who proclaim him are ofttimes no less provincial, because they, too, have the narrow vision; they do not know the village and country life, which is ever freshening and swelling through the current of our national life.

Industry Flashes on Screen.

"The early Marion had only the viewpoint of the county civic and trading center, until industrial genius flashed on the screen the picture of factory production, balances of trade in larger circles, and the attending advancements incident to greater activities. It is not for me to detail the expansion and transformation.

"We are an outstanding industrial and commercial community today, and I join you in a very great pride in the Marion of 1922, and wish for it larger social, educational, moral, and patriotic attainment in the century to come."

After laying the foundation for his opinions on the industrial problems of the day the President diverted to international topics, as suggested by the natal day celebration, declaring:

"In our international relations all is well. The world believes today in American national unselfishness as never before and recognizes our commitment to justice to be no less resolute than our determination to preserve our liberties."

Then Mr. Harding turned to the problems which have arisen with a fast growing nation.

He said:

"But let us turn specifically to introspection, take stock among ourselves. Materially we have surpassed the wildest dreams of the inspired founders. We are great, and rich, and powerful as to states and sections; we are in the full concord of union. This great organic law has been preserved and its ambiguities removed. Where there has been enlarged federal authority, the states have wished it so. The constitution has been amended to meet the popular will. Our representative form of constitutional government is responsive to the will of the majority, responsive to the expression of deliberate public opinion.

"It must be so to endure. Majorities, restrained to the protection of minorities, ever must rule. The constitution and the laws sponsored by the majority must be enforced. It does not matter who opposes. If an opposing minority has a just objection, the rising tide of public opinion will change the law. There is no abiding liberty under any other plan.

Wrongs Fancied and Real.

"I mean to sound no note of pessimism. This republic is secure. Menaces do arise, but public opinion will efface them. Meanwhile, government must repress them. The eighteenth amendment denies to a minority a fancied sense of personal liberty, but the amendment is the will of America and must be sustained by the government and public opinion, else contempt for the law will undermine our very foundations.

"The foremost thought in the constitution is the right to freedom and the pursuit of happiness. Men must be free to live and achieve. Liberty is gone in America when any man is denied by anybody the right to work and live by that work. It does not matter who denies.

Demands No Class Rule.

"A free American has the right to labor without any other's leave. It would be no less an abridgement to deny men the right to bargain collectively. Governments cannot tolerate any class or grouped domination through force. It will be a sorry day when group domination is reflected in our laws. Government, and the laws which government is charged with enforcing, must be for all the people, ever aiming at the common good.

"The tendencies of the present day are not surprising. War stirred the passions of men, and left the world in upheaval. There have been readjustments and liquidations, and more remain to be made. In the making there has been the clash of interests, the revelations of greed, the perfectly natural tendency to defend self-interests.

Development of Groups and Classes.

"It has developed groups and blocs, and magnified class inclinations. But the readjustment is no less inevitable, and it is world-wide. It is the problem of human kind. Your government has sought to aid, with patience, with tolerance, and with sympathy. It has sought to mitigate the burdens. It has sought the merging of viewpoints to make the way easier. It believes the America of our opportunity and unchallenged security affords the way to solution.

"In war we give all we possess, all our lives, all our resources, everything, to make sure our national survival. Our preservation in peace is no less important. It calls for every patriotic offering, because dangers from within are more difficult to meet than the alien enemy.

"My one outstanding conviction, after sixteen months in the Presidency, is that the greatest traitor to his country is he who appeals to prejudice and inflames passion, when sober judgment and honest speech are so necessary to firmly establish tranquillity and security.

Picture of the Agitator.

"A few days ago I chanced to see in a home paper a quotation from Will Carleton's story in 'The First Settler.' I heard Mr. Carleton read it in the old city hall thirty-five years ago. It was the recital of hasty and unheeding speech to the first settler's wife, when he found the cattle had strayed. Stirred by his reproach she started to find them, brought them back, sank exhausted on the cabin floor, where he found her lifeless body after his all night search. In his remorse he felt the guilt of his killing words, and in his reciting the story he said:

Boys flying kites haul in their white-
winged birds.
But you can't do that way when you're flying words.
Thoughts unexpressed may some times fall back dead,
But God himself can't kill 'em, once they're said.

"Need Only the Truth."

"I leave you that thought on this centennial day, because its lesson will save many a wound, many a cross current in the happiness of the community, it will save many a menace in the national life.

"I have no fear about the republic. We are not only stronger but we are morally better than when we began. If there is seeming excess of exploitation, profiteering, dishonesty and betrayal, it is only because we are grown the larger, and we know the ills of life, and read of them more than the good that is done.

"I do not wonder that the ignorant and ill informed are made restless by the magnified stories of public abuses and proclaimed privilege. We need truth, only the truth, the wholesome truth, as the highest aid to Americanization and the manifestation of highest patriotism.

"America will go on. The fundamentals of the republic and all its liberties will be preserved and government must maintain the supremacy of law and authority. Under these liberty has its fullest fruition, and men attain to reveal the glory of liberty's institutions."

POLICE DRAGNET OUT FOR LABOR LEADER IN CLAYTON SHOOTING

HARRY CLAYTON.

MRS. HELEN CLAYTON.

Police renewed their search yesterday for James Hines, business agent of the excavators' union, witness Monday night to the mystery shooting of Harry ("Hi") Clayton, wealthy furniture dealer, at the rooming house of his wife, Mrs. Helen Clayton, 2974 Indiana avenue. Hines was on the scene when Cottage Grove avenue police arrived, but disappeared before he could be questioned.

Clayton, said by Dr. Harry Myers at Post Graduate hospital to have some chance of recovery, deliriously repeated his original story: 'I shot myself."

Mrs. Clayton, seen at home, was noncommittal. She had maintained that the weapon, which has never been found by police, was accidently discharged as she and Clayton struggled for its possession during a quarrel. Clayton was once bodyguard for Eddie Coleman, labor leader slain two years ago. He is said to be an ex-convict and was held for a time in connection with the murder of Frank ("Duffy") Glavin, alleged police informer.

JAPAN FAILS TO O.K. WASHINGTON ARMS TREATIES

Kato Pledges Friendship to U. S. Visitors.

BY RODERICK MATHESON.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TOKIO, July 4.—The feature of the Fourth of July celebration in Tokio today turned out to be negative. The imperial sanction to the Washington conference treaties, which was expected and which Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs Hanihara told Secretary of the Navy Denby probably would be given today, failed to come.

There was complete silence regarding the treaties during the speeches of Premier Kato, Mr. Denby, and Senator Weller at the premier's luncheon, at which the first formal welcome was given the American visitors.

Kato Recalls Visit to U. S.

Premier Kato in welcoming the American visitors recalled the friendliness shown him in America during his recent visit, which, he said, made the task of the conference easier. He spoke eulogistically of America, stating he felt it a high honor to be able to express a welcome to the distinguished Americans on Independence day. Then Ambassador Warren proposed the health of the Japanese emperor.

"To you personally, Baron Kato," Mr. Denby said, "all Americans are indebted for the great work at Washington, where your assistance was invaluable in bringing to a successful issue that most remarkable conference. There was much discussion at the conference with regard to the relative strength of the navies. It is my earnest hope and belief that the relative strength of the navies of Japan and America will remain the subject of academic discussion and will never be a practical question to be settled by the cannons' month."

Pleased with Premier's Denial.

Referring to a statement of Premier Kato explaining the figures in Japan's naval program for auxiliary craft, Mr. Denby said, "I read with much gratification the premier's statement denying that Japan intends to build auxiliary craft in excess of the eight-eight program. It did not need the statement of this splendid man, with a reputation of never breaking his word, to convince us, knowing Japan, that she intends to abide not only to the strict letter of the treaty, but further to meet the spirit of the conference with regard to the construction of craft not covered by the treaty."

Reichstag O. K. for Treaty Between Russia, Germany

BERLIN, July 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The treaty of Rappalo, signed between Germany and Russia during the Genoa conference, was ratified by the reichstag today.

There was no debate over the question of ratification with the exception of remarks by a communist deputy, who demanded that the treaty be amplified to include the other soviet republics.

Dr. Randall, Held After Woman's Death, Gets Bond

Dr. Edwin Randall, 6429 Ellis avenue, booked Monday on a charge of murder pending an inquest into the death of Mrs. Mildred Stewart after an alleged illegal operation, was released yesterday on bonds of $20,000 by Judge David Matchett by a habeas corpus proceeding.

$400,000 MORE RECOVERED IN N. Y. MAIL THEFT

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—Additional securities, valued at $400,000, which were included among the $2,000,000 worth of stocks and bonds stolen in the Leonard street mail truck robbery on the night of Oct. 24, 1921, were recovered today by postoffice inspectors and city detectives who, on Monday, arrested three prisoners in connection with the robbery. This makes a total of $500,000 worth of the lost securities that have been found since the three suspects were taken into custody.

The belief of the postoffice inspectors and the police that a solution of the Leonard street robbery is close at hand was strengthened in the forenoon when two of the prisoners were picked from a lineup by the driver of the ill fated mail truck, Frank Haveranck.

JAPANESE AGREE TO REDUCE ARMY; HAS CABINET O. K.

TOKIO, July 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Japanese army will be reduced by a total of 56,000 enlisted men, according to reorganization plans proposed by the war office and approved by the cabinet, it was announced today.

The total number of divisions in the army will remain unchanged, but the number of companies, squadrons, and batteries will be decreased.

Reduction in the army, it is estimated, will effect a saving of 259,000,000 yen during the next twelve years and thereafter 23,000,000 yen annually.

Reorganization of equipment and changes in arms, such as the increasing of artillery and the employment of a greater number of machine guns, will entail an expenditure of 23,000,000 yen spread over a thirteen year period.

CANADIAN POLITICS AND U. S. BUSINESS.

THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent investigating political and economic conditions in Canada reports that the Liberal and Progressive members of the Dominion parliament have virtually formed a coalition for the coming winter session. Such a coalition would mean a dominant majority on any policy in which it might be interested. And these parties are now known to be in favor of trade reciprocity with the United States, and, to a lesser degree, in favor of the St. Lawrence seaway improvement.

That should be a matter of real interest to Americans. If it brings about a favorable decision by the Canadian government to negotiate a treaty with the United States under which the St. Lawrence project can be authorized there will be a direct and early financial advantage to both countries. American farmers and manufacturers of heavy products in the lakes region should be the first to profit, with the advantage gradually extending to the country as a whole.

The farmers will approve that. They will be less cordial to the theory of reciprocity, but study should commit them to that also.

Just at present the farm interests of this country are busily engaged in putting through a high protective tariff upon farm products. They have been told by the backers of such a tariff that the emergency duties now in force upon agricultural products are largely responsible for the rise in the American price of such products in the last few months, and they are eager to have this advantage made even higher as well as more permanent. But in this they are overlooking a point which is clear to all students of extensive trade in any product.

The United States produces more farm products than it can consume. Its surplus finds its way to world markets. In the case of grain this surplus market point is Liverpool. World prices are determined by supply and demand for this surplus, not by the competition of Canadian grain sent across the border to the United States. The beneficial effect of a high tariff against farm products in this country, therefore, is at best only limited.

If a high tariff keeps Canadian grain out of this country it will go to Liverpool and there compete against the American farmers' surplus and put down his prices. If it puts them down very much it will keep American grain at home, and the greater supply will force prices down here. We cannot escape competition in that way.

But we can, if we will, profit by reciprocity. To be sure, Canadian grain can then compete with American grain in our home markets instead of the world market to which we also must go for prosperity, but we would have the advantage of much cheaper lumber, for instance, coming in from Canada instead of being cut from our sadly depleted timber supply. Canada would be in the market for much of our manufactured goods, which she will buy in England if we refuse admittance to Canadian products.

Economically this continent is one. Political boundaries, which at best are purely artificial, should not disturb economic balance. The working coalition in Canada for reciprocity as well as the seaway, therefore, should find favor in the United States. It may not. The tariff appears set against it. But sooner or later wisdom will lead us to it, and nothing will be lost by giving it some thought now.

LABOR AND INVESTMENT.

With two great strikes in basic industries threatening a setback in our economic convalescence, the American people have some serious thinking to do about the relations of capital and labor, employer and employé. Whatever the results accomplished by the intervention of government agencies which seek to mediate, to ameliorate, or to protect property and public interest, the cost of both conflicts is bound to be heavy and their consequences widespread and deplorable. The country and all its people sorely need peace and constructive work. Instead we have two great industries, coal and transportation, stricken when the public need is urgent for their most energetic functioning.

Perhaps such misfortunes pave the way to a drastic increase of government control. But if the instinct of the nation remains sound it will as long as possible resist the tendency toward socialization, so-called, or bureaucracy, and the enlargement of state interference in industry.

There is a wide field before government control is reached. There is much to be done in the way of bringing about conditions upon which the interests of employer and employé may be harmonized. In one sense, and under conditions largely prevailing, those interests may be incompatible. The more investment takes from a given fund of earnings, the less is left for labor, and vice versa. One method is industrial warfare mitigated by compromise. Another is to make the interests more nearly identical by merging the employer or investor and employé.

We think far too little effort has been made to make it easy and profitable for employés to become owners. Some large corporations have gone a considerable way in this direction with excellent results. It is by no means an easy problem, but we believe it is worthy of more study and practical experiment. Means of distributing shares in an established enterprise to the employés should be improved and extended. Our people in the main earn enough to make investment, and the settled industries offer the best of investments.

If this were accomplished on a large scale we should have workers represented in management, and, what is even more important, we should have them not only sharing in the benefits of good management but willing to face the problems of operation and business success from the point of view of ownership. That, in our opinion, would avoid a great deal of discord with its unnecessary and costly economic drain upon the prosperity of worker and investor alike.

Investment, management, and labor—labor of the brain and hands—have a common interest in peace and prosperity, in uninterrupted production, and in all conditions which make for the continuing success of an enterprise. If we realize this and work toward an industrial organization which shall be more directly expressive of this common interest we shall get toward industrial peace and efficiency and away from bureaucracy and political domination.

NAVAL STRENGTH AND THE BATTLESHIP RATIO.

While the Washington conference fixed a ratio for building first line or capital ships, no agreement was reached on a ratio for other components of naval strength. Each power may, therefore, build as many destroyers, light fast cruisers, submarines, airplanes, and carriers or other auxiliaries as it pleases or can afford to.

The 5-5-3 ratio for battleships will not represent the ratio of the naval strength of the United States, Great Britain, and Japan unless we all build ships of the unrestricted types at a 5-5-3 ratio. This is especially important at a period of innovation and transition, when many experts believe the battleship is obsolescent. If the next war is to be fought and won in the air or undersea, naval strength must be gauged not in battleship ratio but in submarine and air strength.

But waiving that moot question, there is the large field of naval activity which lies outside the function of the battleship—namely: commerce destruction, commerce protection, convoy, reconnaissance, auxiliary aid in battle, supply. A fleet of battleships without auxiliaries could not leave port, much less win a battle. A nation without commerce destroyers or protectors would be very likely to lose a war because of that lack.

Civilians do not think of these aspects of naval warfare, and naval men themselves have encouraged us to overlook them by fixing the capital ship as the test of relative naval strength. But now that a ratio for the battleship has been fixed among the principal powers, we ought not to deceive ourselves by assuming that it justifies our ignoring developments in auxiliary lines.

A naval intelligence survey reports that Japan is building rapidly in permitted types, in which she is building fifteen first line light cruisers of 81,000 tons to our ten of 75,000; fifty first line destroyers to our three; twenty-three first line submarines and fifty-two of unknown tonnage to our thirty-five, or a total of 140 units aggregating 160,000 tons to our fifty-two units of 115,000 tons.

If this ratio is maintained in unrestricted types, we cannot pretend that the ratio in capital ships of 5-3 will long represent the relative naval power of the United States and Japan. On the contrary, a few years, with changing conditions of naval warfare, might find Japan our superior in the most modern and effective elements of war. We should then wake up on the brink of a humiliating and costly conflict which a watchful regard for the defense of our interests would avoid.

Economy is now the shibboleth of congress, and our army and navy are being sacrificed. We hope the ship subsidy and legislation for disposition of our government shipping will sufficiently appeal to our business sense, if not to our feeble sense of national defense, so that we may establish a merchant marine more essential in war than in peace. So far as building to maintain the 5-5-3 ratio in unrestricted types, we doubt that congress can be induced to see the importance of it any more than it saw the unwisdom of cutting army personnel, so that our modern defense system cannot be realized even in outline. Our main hope for holding our own on the sea is the ship subsidy and building up the merchant marine.

FROM THE FOREIGN LANGUAGE PRESS.

English speaking Americans, we believe, know too little of the thoughts or expressions of the great mass of people in their communities speaking foreign languages. The fact that we have but one language in general use leads us to ignore the others which are spoken, written and read all around us. In Chicago, for instance, there are more than fifty newspapers, daily and weekly, published in foreign languages. They include German, French, Russian, Yiddish, Greek, Lithuanian, Roumanian, Dano-Norwegian, Swedish, Portuguese, Italian, Polish, Bohemian, Slav, and numerous other languages and dialects. The persons who write them and read them represent an important part of the community.

We may or may not agree with their opinions if we know them, but we cannot either agree or disagree unless we know them. They know what we are thinking and agitating, but we do not know what they are doing, or advocating, or what effect their thoughts and actions may have upon public affairs.

For that reason THE TRIBUNE has arranged to obtain translations of editorial expression in representative foreign language newspapers published in Chicago. From time to time we will reproduce these translations in the "Editorial of the Day" department on this page. Such reproduction will not mean our concurrence in any views expressed, but will be given for what it is worth.

Editorial of the Day.

ILLINOIS GETTING HERS.

[Illinois State Journal]

The august United States senate took a day off last Saturday to talk about the Herrin massacre. What was said about Illinois was sufficient unto the day. Senators from other states made the statements that hurt. There was no one present to refute them.

Our disgrace is complete and humiliating. The very worst element in it all is the brutal attitude of the community responsible for it. Herrin and Williamson county show no sorrow or regret, and do nothing to purge their good name. They are defiant and proud of their barbarous acts.

The senators who spoke accused Illinois authorities of failure to do their duty and predicted that they would show still further dereliction by failing or refusing to proceed against the perpetrators of the crimes. Their remarks were prophetic, for the coroner's inquest developed into a farce and killed any hope that the people may have had that local authorities would attempt an investigation.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

MY MOST EMBARRASSING MOMENT.

BY COL. DIDMORE WURST.

When I was in London a few weeks ago I was invited by Mr. David Lloyd George to have luncheon with him in famous Downing street. As I have DID MORE to force England so frequently to her knees than any one else, I was much surprised. The editorials by myself and Arthur, especially those by me, DID MORE than anything else to cause the retreat of the British army to the Marne, the downfall of Lord Grey, the revolt in India, the fogs in London, the surrender to Ireland, and the failure of the oatmeal crop this year in Scotland.

Nevertheless I attended the dinner, and to show that I was disposed as always to be kind and magnanimous I said: "Lloyd, old fellow, I hope you haven't taken what my newspapers have said too much to heart." Turning to me in great surprise the prime minister exclaimed: "Oh, Mr. Wurst, do you run a newspaper?" I assure you it was the most embarrassing moment of my life.

BY THE REV. CHIEF BILLIAMSON.

My most embarrassing moment was all a dream, but it was embarrassing none the less, I can assure you. I dreamt that I died and went to heaven, where of course I naturally would go. Well, I was stopped at the pearly gates by St. Peter, who said, "Who are you?" I told him my name. "Business?" he demanded curtly. I said proudly that I was the chief law enforcement officer of Chicago. "How much is your salary?" asked St. Peter, proving what I have always said, that wherever else it may circulate, the Tribune is not read in heaven.

"Why," I said, "I get ten thousand dollars a year."

St. Peter glared at me and shouted, "WHAT FOR?" Brethren, you could have knocked me down with a feather.

I AM going to put
A phonograph horn with a
Swivel base on my henryford,
And then when I leave the
Doggoned thing down in Grant park,
And come stumbling back and
Try to find it sardined in there
With ten million others
I will hear it broadcasting to the great wide World, "O Doc! Doc!
What's all the cussin' fer?
Here I be! here I be! here I be!"
And then I'll go straight to it. DR. H. S. G.

DR. DORSEY is reported to have quit his wife of thirty years to "woo untrammeled his muse in Greenwich village." You can woo anything much more untrammeled in Greenwich village if you haven't got your wife along.

Etiquette Problem

What's Wrong Here?

Answer at Bottom of This Colyum.

YOU'RE RIGHT ABOUT THE MOTTOES, ANYHOW.

Sir: I believe that in all recorded time there have been not in excess of a score of intelligible voices, and that without exception these were mordantly pessimistic; that the hero-worshiper is the prize ass of a race which has specialized in producing thistle-eaters; that truth is amorphous, variable, paradoxical, quite impossible of confinement within the limits of any philosophy or creed; that mottoes are an abomination of hell, and Pollyanna proverbs are self-imposed curses upon mankind; that Rabelais was a bit too restrained in his observations, and that by every right the high lights of Arabian Nights will exist far beyond the day of Henry Van Dyke; that selling is the lowest of all forms of human activity, and that the so-called business brain is a gob of insoluble fat.

BRUCE BURNS.

IT IS REQUIRED BY A FEDERAL STATUTE.

Dear R. H. L.: Perhaps you will satisfy my burning thirst for information. Can you, will you, tell me if the engineers on the switch engines have positive orders when passing suburban trains to let out the sort of hoot used near country hamlets at the hour of midnight? Do they get a commission for each hoot? Are they docked if they fail to deafen the people on the suburban trains?

Pictures: The union troops are fleeing in utter rout when Gen. Grant drops from a balloon and the soldiers crowd around him singing.

And its glorious apple tree."

Picture: The confederates swarm over the union breastworks when President Lincoln appears and speaks to the fighting armies.

Subtitle: "Let us have peace!"

Picture: President Lincoln, Gen. Grant, Gen. Lee, President Davis, Gen. Longstreet, and the two armies shake hands, and standing in line repeat these words:

Subtitle: "Liberty and union, one and inseparable, now and forever."

THE END. THIS WAY OUT.

RORY O'CONNOR, the leader of the insurgents in Ireland who was captured by the Free State forces a few days ago, is still in jail. That settles the rumor that he is Tommy in disguise.

NARCISSUS.

When in Gardens of the Night
Stars were blossoming in flame,
Bare our springtime earth appeared,
'Til the white Narcissus came—
Like the little ghosts of stars,
Which at dawn soon fade away,
Stealing fragrantly to earth,
Blooming star-eyed through the day.

WE ENJOYED yesterday seeing the American Eagle flapping his wings.

NOW, TODAY we would be equally charmed to see the Dove of Peace do a little plain or fancy roosting on the coal strike.

WHAT RAW MILK DID.

AT Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, the milk supply is pasteurized. The post laboratory checks up on the efficiency of the pasteurization.

Some families living at the post concluded that sending for the milk, as was necessary with the pasteurized product, was too much trouble.

Delivery at the kitchen door was a convenience worth the risk it necessitated. At least that's the way they felt about it until they had some typhoid handed in with the milk. Presumably since that group of milk dealers came along, agreeing to deliver raw milk at the door and telling how careful they were, some of the people decided to take a chance.

The milk dealers, selling raw milk, were wise beyond their generation. They regularly took milk to the post laboratory for bacteriologic examination and they showed reports which averaged less than 5,000, as compared with averages of about 10,000 for pasteurized milk.

Is it any wonder some people fell for it?

How many people are there in this town who are paying a fancy price for raw milk because it shows an average bacterial count of 5,000?

Then came the typhoid to the families at Fort McPherson. Who had it?

The people drinking the low count, raw milk. Why?

Because the milk contained typhoid. It contained but few bacteria, it is true, but those were loud. The pasteurized milk was free.

The American Medical Journal editorial makes the point that a low count is not a true criterion. As a matter of fact regulations which embrace bacterial standards can safely allow a higher count for pasteurized milk than for raw.

Bacterial standards in milk ordinances are commonly on the other basis.

The essential of safety is freedom from disease producing bacteria and there is no practical day by day laboratory method of determining that. Since pasteurization kills the disease producing bacteria and there is no step in the marketing of raw milk as such that does, a high bacterial count in pasteurization is safer than a high count in raw milk.

It appears that repeated experiences such as that at Fort McPherson will be required before all the people will forget the misleading teachings of the raw milk advocates.

Incidentally, typhoid vaccination saved a lot of trouble at Fort McPherson.

Practically all those developing typhoid from drinking this raw milk were people who have never been vaccinated.

ALWAYS GET FRESH MILK.

Mrs. J. W. T. writes: "I went to get a quart of milk this morning at the small bakery where I trade.

"Just as the clerk gave me a bottle of yesterday's milk, the wagon with the new supply stopped out in front.

"The clerk then gave me a bottle of the fresh milk.

"The driver of the milk wagon, however, told me that in point of wholesomeness the bottle of yesterday's milk was better than today's.

"I thought he was joking and said so, but he grew quite emphatic. He said the milk delivered today was only five or six hours old, an insufficient time for the animal heat to leave it, while yesterday's milk, being twenty-four hours older, the animal heat was gone, and the milk, therefore, better."

REPLY.

The driver was wrong. The fresher the milk the safer. Everything that comes between the teat and the mouth increases the danger. This applies to time as well as to things.

The first thing that is done after milking is to cool the milk in order to remove the animal heat.

This can be done in an hour by setting the cans in cold water.

BUT HE MUST BE CAREFUL.

Mrs. J. B. writes: "My brother has a cough. His sputum was examined a year ago. He had a slight touch on his right lung, and has been treated ever since.

"Now, his lungs were examined again and found to be all right—just weak lungs.

"We thought by sending him to a dry climate that he would be all right in a short time.

"When he went away seven weeks ago he weighed 115½ pounds. He now weighs 134 pounds.

"He is being treated up there by a lung specialist, who claims that his lungs are just weak and that the cough is coming from his throat; that his voice tube was affected, and as long as he does not smoke, and does just as he tells him, he will go home in a very short time cured.

"What is your opinion?"

REPLY.

Many people get well of tuberculosis when they follow directions closely.

Plainly, your brother is improving.

Warn him not to be impatient, nor to attach too much value to his gain in weight.

All people ought to know that such phrases as "slight touch on the lungs," "spots on the lungs," "weak lungs," means consumption.

BOY IS ROUND SHOULDERED.

L. H. J. writes: "1. I would like to know what exercises, etc., could cure a boy of round shoulders. He is 15 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall, and weighs 115 pounds. He is physically perfect except for his round shoulders and shortness of breath.

"2. I would like to know what could cure the latter."

REPLY.

The exercises must be those to develop the great muscles of the neck and upper back. Among them are rowing, swimming, wrestling, gymnasium work on the bars, ladders, and ropes. Nothing is better than climbing.

2. Have the boy examined, especially for heart disease. Many children who have had sore throats, growing pains, rheumatism, and chorea will be found to have latent heart trouble.

A FAMILY MIXUP.

Howe, Ind., July 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A man died and left his property in trust until the death of his wife, who was his second wife. A son by the first marriage married several years after his father's death. The son dies before the stepmother. Will the son's wife upon the death of the stepmother inherit her husband's share of his father's estate? The property is in Indiana. G. L. W.

She probably will. Depends on whether the will was so worded as to give her husband a vested interest.

SIGNS SECURITY BLANK.

Freeport, Ill., July 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Some time ago we signed a security blank for $300 for a man who was living in our home at the time. He left us on May 23, and we wrote the company to return our security blank, but they refuse, saying it could not be returned unless they had one to take its place, which would take a week or two. That was over four weeks ago. We have a registered receipt showing they received our letter. Can they still hold us good? J. W. G.

Yes, unless the agreement was so worded as to give you an express right to withdraw.

WOULD PROTECT PATENT.

Chicago, July 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I am the inventor of a certain device having considerable merit, and desire to have it patented. Before taking this device to any patent attorneys I desire to safeguard it, and so have had six men make sworn statement that I am the inventor of the device. Will these statements protect me in the event of any infringement? M. P. U.

They ought to be sufficient to protect you against anybody's stealing your device. They would not protect you against rival inventors who have independently made the same invention before you.

The employés were assured that if they bought the stock and ever needed the money it would be refunded. When asking for a loan last week I was refused. No dividends have been paid. Can I get back my money legally? J. S.

Your rights depend on the wording of the subscription agreement.

DAMAGES HIS PARKWAY.

Marengo, Ill., July 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—The street on which I am now living is being paved, and I am writing to ask if I am obliged to submit to having the dirt from the old roadbed, which is a mixture of sand and gravel oiled every year, placed permanently upon my parkway or tree bank. My walk was built on a grade established by the city engineer. It will take a foot of earth now to bring the parkway level with the top of the curb along my lot. What would you advise? Does the city own the parkway? A. C.

Your abstract should show whether you or the city owns the parkway.

It seems probable that it is to your interest to have a start made toward filling the parkway up to grade, and that you cannot stop them.

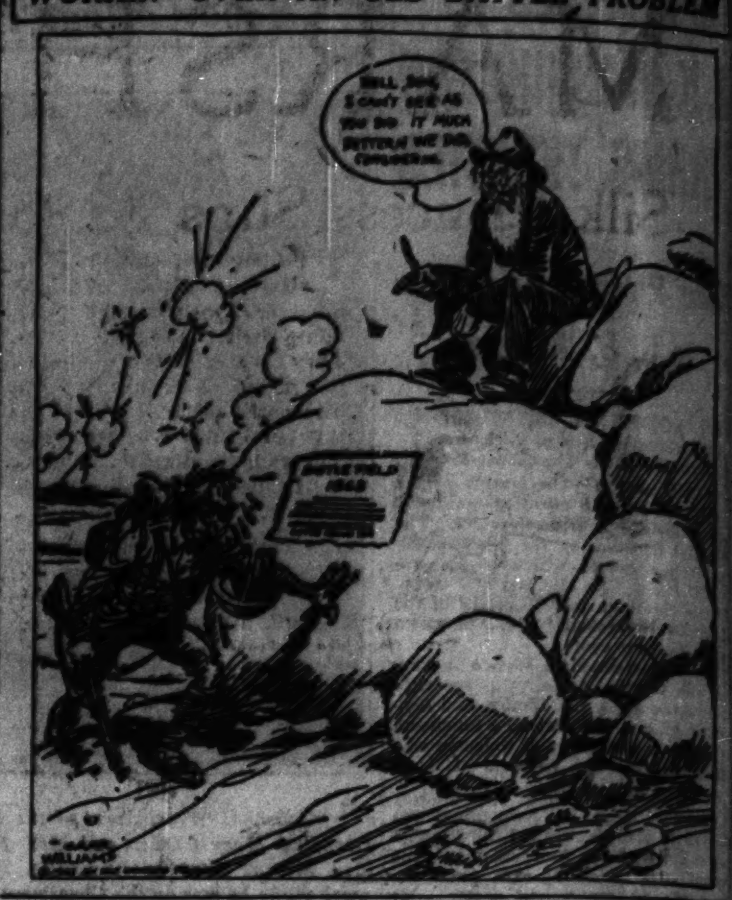
WORKIN' OVER AN OLD BATTLE PROBLEM



VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS AND HISTORY AS PROPAGANDA.

Chicago, June 27.—The action of the Confederate Veterans in seeking to place the blame for the civil war on the shoulders of the immortal Lincoln will be regarded with indifference in the south, as well as in the north. The great majority of the people of the south have long since recognized in Lincoln a great hearted friend, whose tragic and untimely end only served to increase the horrors of reconstruction. The civil war, in my opinion, was caused not by Lincoln, nor Grant, nor Lee, nor Davis, but by extremists on both sides. Perhaps if there had been better means of communication in the early '60s and the preceding years the people of New England and Illinois would have realized that the people of the south, having come mainly from the same pioneer English and Scotch-Irish stock, possessed the same racial characteristics. They would have realized also that slaveholders were not as cruel as pictured by the agitators, that the institution of slavery was gradually being abolished, voluntarily, and that its existence in the south and its absence in the north was due to climatic and economic conditions rather than to the relative moral fiber of the northern Anglo-Saxon and the southern Anglo-Saxon.

As a southerner of the younger generation, who has resided in the north for seven years, and who at times feels keenly the unjust criticism leveled at the people of the south by those whose hearts still harbor the narrow, un-Christian feeling of prejudice, I earnestly hope that the day is not far distant when our school histories will be written jointly by northern and southern authors.

BRADFORD L. THOMPSON.

BEAUTY AND OPPORTUNITY IN DECATUR.

Chicago, June 27.—In passing through your state in a recent motor trip my husband, Will Irwin, and myself stopped for the night in Decatur. We were so much struck with the beauty of the city that we stayed much longer than we had planned in order to explore it. In the course of our wanderings in Fairview park we came upon the courthouse in which Abraham Lincoln first practiced law. I am afraid I cannot describe without without descending to bathos how impressed we were with this sacred relic. For, aside from connection with the life of our greatest citizen, it seemed to us, because of its connotation of the roughness, solidity, and sturdiness of remote pioneer days and of that instant demand for justice of even remoter Anglo-Saxon days, to be as precious a memorial to our national growth as the Shakespeare house in Stratford.

So precious is it, indeed, that it seems a grave matter that no effort has been made to protect it from the elements or from fire—electric wires, for instance, pass through the walls. And inside are all the evidences—I will not say of neglect, but of carelessness. The walls are covered with the carved initials, the unpleasant inscriptions common to unguarded public buildings. In the loft are some utterly irrelevant bunks of iron, as though it had been used for lodging purposes.

We women of the east are so accustomed to look to the women of the west for examples of public spirit and civic efficiency in matters pertaining to civic welfare that I feel a hesitation in calling the attention of the women of Illinois to this matter. But what women have done for the Washington house at Mount Vernon women can do for the Lincoln courthouse in Decatur. Is there no woman's organization in Illinois which can take the necessary steps to preserve and guard this venerable structure?

INEZ HAYNES IRWIN.

WANTED—A WEST SIDE PROMOTER.

Chicago, June 28.—The public feels a deep interest in THE TRIBUNE's prize of $100,000 for a design for a north side building. The La Salle hotel people are credited in the newspapers with the intention to build a large new hotel south of the Blackstone, and very fine apartment buildings are now in process of construction in the neighborhood of Lincoln park and Jackson park, but nobody seems to contemplate a modern hotel or a modern theater or a modern department store or modern apartments for the west side of Chicago.

The best location in the city right now for a high class modern hotel is the square now vacant fronting Jackson boulevard and Canal and Clinton on the west side. Owing to the fire, the excavation is already prepared. Such a hotel would face the new $60,000,000 Union station, through which multitudes of travelers will pass daily. It would be only two blocks from the Northwestern station, the greatest suburban terminal in Chicago. The finest hotels in New York, and therefore the finest in the world, adjoin the Grand Central terminal and the Pennsylvania terminal and are connected with those railroad stations by well lighted, convenient underground entrances.

Where is the man or the bank or the syndicate with vision and courage to inaugurate the real development of the immense west side district?

WILLIAM HANSON.

BUT WE DIDN'T OVERLOOK IT; SEE FIFTH PARAGRAPH OF EDITORIAL.

Chicago, June 29.—THE TRIBUNE's reasoning as to "The Great Cruelty" conveniently overlooks the little point that our food animals are bred for the very purpose of slaughter. "Nature would subject the animals to hunger, cold, disease, and the attacks of predatory beasts before bringing them to a slow and painful death." Wild animals, certainly. But nature would not be subjecting the food animals to that program, because the food animals would not exist at all were they not industriously produced by man for his own consumption. M. G. H.

THE RAILROAD SHOPMEN'S VIEW.

Chicago, July 1.—Who will say the cut in wages of the railroad employés is justified when our teachers and higher city officials got a raise in salary lately and our firemen and policemen are seeking a raise on account of the high cost of living? H. W. N.

HAGUE PARLEY SEEMS DOOMED TO HIT OLD ROCKS

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE HAGUE, July 4.—As the Genoa conference failed through the inability of the Russian and allied and neutral delegates to agree, The Hague threatens to fall.

With a deadlock reached on two Russian questionnaires demanding to know the social positions, the professions, the revenues, and the family positions of the previous holders of property, bonds, and securities, the budget crisis is hanging fire by the submission of a list of questions to the Russians asking what legislation has been passed providing for the payment of debts, what resources will be used for this purpose, and what guarantees the government will be able to give if a moratorium is granted.

Difficulties Pointed Out.

The allied and neutral delegates at both the property and debts meetings outlined the difficulties in the way of giving the Russians the details asked in the questionnaires, France pointing out that it alone has 1,400,000 claimants against Russia.

At the property subcommission meeting, Mr. Cattier, the Belgian delegate, declared it was not necessary, as well as practically impossible, to send out to each previous owner of property in Russia a questionnaire detailing his claims, how the property was acquired, whether the owner is a proletariat or a capitalist, and other information which M. Litvinoff stated his government desired him to get as a basis for concrete proposals for the settlement of each case.

M. Cattier asserted the details are beside the point and that the Russians must recognise the principle of restitution or compensation. M. Litvinoff repeated that the information was necessary before discussion of compensation was possible. He warned the delegates that refusal to get the information would establish a precedent permitting him to withhold facts.

Demand Word as to Restitution.

The tilt ended by Sir Philip Lloyd Greame, the chairman, who presented a list of the private agricultural claims of French, British, and Belgian nationals—the first category on the program—and demanded to know under "what conditions Russia is willing to make restitution or compensation."

Much of today's session was devoted to the Russian budget, which Chairman Alphand characterised as a project rather than a budget and which the British referred to as "an amazing document." The budget, which admitted that one-fifth of the entire revenues consisted of new issues of paper money, also contained a paradox by showing that the more rubles were printed the more valuable they became. The budget figures, which were in gold rubles, were calculated on an arbitrary rate in paper rubles every three months. The total expenditures for the nine months ending April 19 were 1,192,000,000 rubles and the revenues were 993,000,000 rubles, leaving a deficit of 138,500,000 rubles. Sixteen and a half per cent of the nation's expenses was for the army and 2½ per cent for the navy.

HOLDUP SUSPECT HAS USE OF LOOT FIFTEEN MINUTES

Fifteen minutes after the saloon of Michael O'Connor, 4337 South Halsted street, was held up and robbed of $51 yesterday by an armed man Sergeants Walters and McGann arrested Peter Stout, 4325 Grand boulevard, believed to be the robber.

The saloonkeeper was robbed shortly after noon and when O'Connor notified the police he said he recognised the robber as the man he knew as "Stout."

Stout was arrested two blocks from O'Connor's saloon, and had $36 in his possession, but no revolver.

No waste heat—no waste current —economical to operate

No long waits for the percolator to start "percking." It starts almost as soon as the electric current is turned on, and the coffee is made in a jiffy. This Manning-Bowman electric percolator has an improved heating unit that applies the heat directly to the liquid—right where it is needed.

Even if the pot boils dry, the Manning-Bowman cannot be damaged. An automatic switch cuts off the current before the heating unit or the finish can be damaged.

It is the only automatic switch on any percolator that can be reset from the outside. There is no taking apart or sending back to the factory for repairs. A simple turn of a lever on the bottom of the percolator and it is instantly ready for use again.

The automatic switch never fails to work at the right time and never works at the wrong time.

The Manning-Bowman is equipped with an improved percolating valve—no noisy sputtering—no nerve-racking rattle.

Ask to see the Manning-Bowman percolator at electric shops, department or hardware stores, jewelry or novelty shops. It comes in several sizes, styles and sets, range style and electric.

Also ask to see the complete line of Manning-Bowman household helps, electric grills, reversible toasters, irons and other devices, and the famous Hotakold vacuum temperature-retaining vessels.

TANLE OF CHAOS MENCES FUTURE OF I S. FORESTS

Nation Program Urgent if Trees Are Saved.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special.]—America is being denuded of forests and has not begun reforestation on adequate or effective scale. As a result lumber and other wood products are becoming expensive for the present generation and we are beginning to get a glimpse of the future generations of Americans unless measures for the protection of our remaining forests and the growing of more forests are undertaken.

Menace of Floods.

The increasingly disastrous character of floods attributed to the disappearance of forests. This causes rainfall to be shed from the surface of the soil instead of sinking in. Denuded forests thousands of years ago and never reforested, China, with its destructive floods and devastating famines, is regarded as the awful object lesson in man's interference with the forces of nature.

Closely related to this phenomenon is the observed result of excessive artificial drainage of agricultural lands. Scientists say that the farms of Illinois and Indiana, for example, are being excessively drained and that the soil is beginning to show signs of aridity, pointing to the fate of Mesopotamia, once a garden, now a desert.

We have no comprehensive national forestry policy, though congress is being urged to provide one.

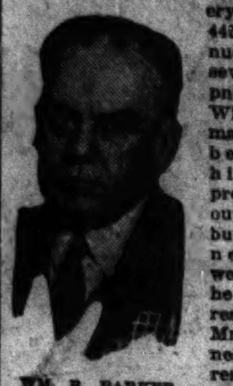
The first step was taken in this direction just as the house adjourned for a six weeks' holiday, when Representative Haugen [Ia.], chairman of the committee on agriculture, announced the appointment of a subcommittee on forestry, consisting of himself and Representative McLaughlin [Mich.], Clarke [N. Y.], Rainey [Ill.], and Jones [Tex.].

Wallace's Forest Program.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has advocated sound national policy that Chairman Haugen hopes will get favorable congressional action, namely:

1. Extension of the existing federal coöperation with the states in forest fire protection.
2. Initiation of federal coöperation with the states in growing or distributing forest trees or seeds for planting.
3. Extension of the national forests.

WILLIAM R. PARKER RECOVERING FROM PNEUMONIA ATTACK



WM. R. PARKER.

William R. Parker, clerk of the Criminal court, is on the road to recovery at his home, 4433 Calumet avenue, following a severe attack of pneumonia. Dr. William T. Gilman, who has been attending him, yesterday pronounced him out of danger, but said he would need several weeks' rest before he will be able to resume his duties. Mr. Parker's illness came as the result of a cold contracted some time ago. He has been in a critical condition for several weeks until the recent crisis and turn for the better.

JERSEY PRIEST, NOTED CHAPLAIN IN WAR, MISSING

West New York, N. J., July 4.—[Special.]—The police of this town, Hoboken, Newark and New York City have been asked to search for the Rev. William A. Hayes, assistant rector of St. Joseph's Church of the Palisades, it was learned today. He has been missing eleven days. A young woman of his parish disappeared the same day, but their names have not been linked in reports to the police.

Father Hayes had an enviable war record. He served in France as chaplain of the 366th infantry and was cited on three occasions for gallantry. He was chaplain of Cusick post, American Legion, and had been connected with his parish for ten years.

BOLSHEVIKI JAIL TIKON, EX-CHIEF OF GREEK CHURCH

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

RIGA, July 4.—Despite bolshevik statements to the contrary, Patriarch Tikon, former head of the orthodox Greek church in Russia, is now in jail, according to Archbishop John, the head of the orthodox church in the Baltic states. He declares that the Don monastery, where the patriarch is confined, is really a concentration camp where the bolsheviks are holding prominent Russians who are considered dangerous.

Archbishop John reports that Patriarch Tikon never resigned. He says the bolsheviks sent the patriarch to the monastery and turned Metropolitan John over to the Petrograd revolutionary tribunal. The latter was given three years in prison.

REBUILD FIRE HOUSES, URGE OF CULLERTON

Business Manager Calls Equipment Obsolete.

Recommendation that a new ten story central fire headquarters be constructed at 117 North Franklin street and that at least fifty of the present 175 fire houses be relocated to conform with fire hazards of the present and near future, was made yesterday by John F. Cullerton, business manager of the fire department.

The big program, together with extensive repairs to nearly 100 other fire houses and the elimination of all wooden fire stations from the department can be accomplished without the expenditure of a dollar from either corporate or bond funds, according to the recommendations forwarded to the council finance committee.

Shows Improvement in Property.

In a partial revaluation of the property of the department it has been found that at least 75 per cent of this property has increased approximately 500 per cent since it was purchased. It is recommended that all of this property not needed for fire station sites be sold. Among the parcels the value of which has increased many fold are the following:

Eng. Co.	Location.	Date purchase.	Cost.	Present value.
1	331-3 Wells	1886	$38,500	$125,000
11	10 E. Austin	1852	600	20,000
13	209 N. Dearborn	1872	25,000	100,000
17	556 W. Lake	1851	550	25,000

Wants Big Fire Headquarters.

Mr. Cullerton suggests that the central fire headquarters be built at 117-19 North Franklin street, the present home of Engine 40, and that the building be of sufficient stories to house a fire engine company, the fire marshal's office, the fire prevention bureau, and the fire alarm office, with space suitable for the offices of outside concerns.

"The need of survey is evidenced by the fact that during the last seven years 46,319 buildings have been constructed in Chicago at a cost of about $613,000,000," the letter says. "This indicates the constantly growing responsibility of the fire department and the necessity of relocating the fire companies to conform thereto."

Rehabilitation of the fire alarm system is also recommended.

Girl, 3, Watching Boys Celebrate, Falls 3 Floors

Leaning from the third story window of her home at 513 North Wells street to watch boys firing crackers in the street, little Anna Mae Joseph, 3 years old, fell to the pavement last night, fracturing her skull. She was taken to the Passavant hospital, where it was said she will die. Her father and mother were closing their Fourth of July celebration with ice cream and cake on the rear porch when the baby wandered to the front of the apartment.

ROBBERS LOOT BATHHOUSE.

Z. Japustius, owner of a bathhouse at 1115 South Paulina street, reported to Marquette police yesterday that two men entered his place and robbed him of $3, and John Rigutis, a patron, of $76.

LAKE COUNTY TO OPPOSE SMALL'S GALLOWS VETO

Seek Death for Potz, Saved by Governor.

Col. A. V. Smith, state's attorney of Lake county, will appear before the state board of pardons at the Great Northern hotel this morning to oppose commutation of the death sentence of Ignatz Potz, who shot and killed Motorcycle Policeman Peterson of Winthrop Harbor last winter.

Governor Reprieved Him.

Potz was to have been hanged in the courthouse at Waukegan during the trial of Gov. Len Small, but the governor granted a sixty day stay of execution. And last week the governor announced that he had commuted the slayer's sentence to life imprisonment. He said he had done so because that was the last request of Mrs. Small.

State's Attorney Smith said yesterday he had taken no initiative in the matter after his announcement but had received from George D. Sutton, the governor's secretary, a telegram asking whether the prosecutor wished to be heard by the pardon board on the subject of the commutation. He replied that he would speak.

Already Decided.

But Gov. Small told newspaper men that the matter was already decided.

"Potz shall not hang," he said. "Mrs. Small's last request was that he be saved from the gallows. The pardon board can listen to Col. Smith. There appears to be no harm in allowing him to talk, but his speech can make no difference."

Col. Smith said he could not reconcile this interview with the invitation from the governor's representative, Secretary Sutton, to appear before the board.

POLICEMAN PICKS OUT MAN WHO WOUNDED HIM

"That's the man," declared Patrolman Albert W. Hahn of the South Clark street station, regaining consciousness at St. Luke's hospital long enough yesterday to identify Charles Whittle, 633 Cumnor road, Kenilworth, as the man who stabbed him, probably fatally, in a saloon at 626 South State street, Monday night.

Although Whittle denied stabbing the policeman, a bloody knife was found on him at the police station. He was identified also by Peter Herzich, saloonkeeper. Whittle, it is said, was mixed in a brawl which Policeman Hahn attempted to break up.

Snow and Hail Falls in Mountains of Tennessee

Knoxville, Tenn., July 4.—[Special.]—Today was the coldest July 4 in Knoxville's history. It was much colder in the mountains, and holiday visitors huddled about wood fires. Snow and hail fell on top of Clindman's dome and Mount Le Conte.

BROTHERS OF PETROTTA'S FIRST WIFE ARE SOUGHT

Vincent Curtalo, so-called "king of bootleggers," and his partner, George Candiotta, charged as accessories in connection with the murder of Thomas R. Petrotta, wealthy wine broker of Sacramento, Cal., were released on $10,000 bonds each yesterday. Sam and Carmella Gentile, brothers of Petrotta's first wife, Mrs. Rose Calise Petrotta, 1119 Townsend street, are still being sought. Mrs. Ruth Rose Petrotta, wife and former secretary of the slain man, has charged that her husband was the victim of the Sicilian Mafia.

TRAIN KILLS 3 NEWSDEALERS.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 4.—[Special.]—Three men were killed and four injured early today when a Pennsylvania railroad engine, running light, dashed into a group of newsdealers who were unloading morning papers from a New York and Long Branch train at the station. The engineer and fireman of the light engine were arrested and are being held for a hearing.

ALL normal folks have hobbies.

Ours is the oxy-acetylene process—its past performances and future possibilities.

And we ride our hobby to the limit.

There isn't a phase of oxy-acetylene welding and cutting that isn't our particular study. No improved method, no new application, no development of the process that doesn't receive our painstaking investigation and our enthusiastic co-operation.

We flatter ourselves that we know the oxy-acetylene process.

And we know its application to a great many different industries.

In hundreds of plants making everything from locomotives to glassware, Oxweld welding and cutting blowpipes are reducing production costs, improving products and saving time.

It is quite possible that your business is no exception—even though the process has never yet been applied to your production and reclamation problems.

It won't take us long to find out if you give us the opportunity.

KILLS COUSIN HE BELIEVES AGENT OF 'BACK HAND'

Slayer Arrested as He Stands Over Body.

Patrolman C. Croake, hearing revolver shots rushed out of his house yesterday morning and found Michael Carrell, 9140 Blackstone avenue, standing at the corner of 92d street and Harper avenue, a pistol in his hand. A few feet away lay the riddled body of Thomas Gerico, 922 Sibley street. Carrell, admitting killing Gallerico, surrendered without protest. He then unfolded a tale of the Black Hand.

Gets Black Hand Threats.

During the last fortnight, he declared, he had received two letters. The first told him to bring $1,500 to Milwaukee and Chicago avenues, where he would meet a man with an orange in his hand and with a black beard. The second raised the tribute demanded to $2,000.

Carrell said that he had asked his cousin, Galleco, for aid. Gallerico, after investigation, told Carrell that he'd better heed the notice; the Black Handers were bad men and would "get" him if he didn't come across.

Cousin Asks for Money.

Yesterday, the slayer continued, his cousin called him on the telephone. "I'm going up that way," said he. "I'll deliver the money for you."

Gallerico stopped at Carrell's house. "Wait a minute," Carrell said. "I'll go in and get it."

Instead he got a revolver. The two met in the street, walked a block together, and then Carrell fired three times. His cousin dropped dead.

"He sent me those letters himself," Carrell insisted.

An inquest will be held tomorrow.

BANDITS ROB COLLECTOR.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 4.—Three bandits in a large touring car stopped an automobile in which Ralph W. Taylor, collector for an oil company, was returning from a round of the company's gasoline stations, seized a bag containing $2,000 in cash, $1,000 in checks, and a number of gasoline coupon books, and escaped through traffic filled streets.

Friday will be woman's day, and Saturday will be young people's day. On Sunday Bishop Thomas Nicholson will preach at 10:30 a. m., and Bishop W. O. Shepard, Portland, Ore., formerly a Chicago pastor, will preach at 2:30.

VIEWS DIFFER ON FAILURE TO CLIMB MOUNT EVEREST

LONDON, July. 4.—The Daily Mail correspondent in Bombay writes that a controversy is under way there regarding the recent unsuccessful attempt to scale Mount Everest, which it is widely believed failed through overhaste.

While the members of the climbing party declared the early monsoon prevented success, native bearers say the monsoon does not reach the higher Himalayas, and that the rains which the climbers believed to be the monsoon were merely a passing storm.

They assert that if the expedition had waited at a height of about 20,000 feet it would have found several calm, sunshiny days on which the summit could have been reached.

PUSSYFOOT SAYS WORLD ILLS ARE DUE TO ALCOHOL

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 3.—Europe's financial and economic problems, including the payment of all war debts, will be solved and wiped out in five years if prohibition is adopted, said William "Pussyfoot" Johnson this afternoon.

"The United States reduced its debt $5,000,000,000 last year and will entirely pay off the total in from five to ten years, because of prohibition," Johnson said. "The Germans are insisting that they cannot pay, yet they are expending enormous sums on booze, being the heaviest consumer of whisky per capita. They could find funds to pay for the devastated regions of France if they stopped drinking for a couple of years.

"Similarly, the British and French could pay the United States if the people were willing to economize through prohibition. One reason why America will never cancel the debts is because Americans will not stand for reading in the newspapers daily about gay doings, and champagnes, wines, and whiskies flowing freely abroad while they at home have stopped drinking and settled down to serious work."

Johnson admits he has no information concerning drinking in Germany since the war.

India, Australia, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, and Denmark soon will be dry, Johnson said. He believes England will be dry in ten years, but France probably will be one of the last nations to adopt prohibition.

WATERWAY MEET PONDERS OVER 64 BLOCKADE MILES

Short Stretch Keeps Canal Road Shut.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Peoria, Ill., July 4.—Delegates to the lakes-to-gulf waterway congress today pondered over the problem of what makes the "missing link" still missing. A gap of sixty-four miles between Lockport and La Salle separates two great water systems on which millions have been spent and keeps the middle west from a Chicago-to-New Orleans barge outlet.

Men from cities in the Illinois river valley and from towns far from the stream mulled over again an analysis given a year ago by the state engineer, to the effect that if the link between Lockport and La Salle were built, three-fourths of the farmers of Illinois would be within one day truck distance of the navigable waters of the state.

Everybody Near Water.

About 75 per cent of the area and 50 per cent of the population of Illinois, according to this compilation, lie within a zone not more than forty miles away from navigable waters. The use of trucks on the farms is growing at a phenomenal rate, and with one day's travel products could be shipped from the farm to the seaboard without touching a rail.

E. T. Harris of the Illinois Manufacturers' association estimates that the saving each year in freight rates to the industrial and agricultural producers would more than pay the cost of the Lockport-La Salle project.

Millions have been spent at both ends of a transportation artery but nothing in the middle.

Finest Ship Canal.

At the Lake Michigan end is the drainage canal, one of the finest ship canals in the world. It originally cost $27,440,000 and more than $10,000,000 has been spent by the district on the Chicago river. Thus from Lake Michigan to Lockport, Ill., there now is what amounts to an inland harbor some thirty-six miles long. Speakers at the meeting Monday night recalled that one argument that helped put the sanitary district bill through years ago was the fact that it would compose part of a lake to gulf transportation system.

Down at the other end millions of dollars have been spent by the United States in improving the Mississippi, Ohio and Illinois rivers. Years ago it built the Hennepin canal at a cost of $7,500,000 to link up the Mississippi and Illinois rivers. Thus, as far up as La Salle, is a great watercourse system with a minimum depth of seven feet.

Politics Hindered.

But between Lockport and La Salle is a sixty-four mile break. Barge commerce can move down from Chicago as far as Lockport. It can move up from New Orleans as far as La Salle. The systems miss contact by sixty-four miles. Back in 1908 the voters put through the constitutional amendment authorizing $20,000,000 of bonds to construct the missing link. In the 1909 legislative session the project ran slapbang into political conflict.

Politics handed it a Dempsey wallop that put it into a deep slumber from which it began to waken a few years ago, and now it is being urgently pushed by organizations in more than seventy-five cities, in the Illinois chamber of commerce and by many other kindred organizations.

The engineering plans were all completed years ago under Gov. Lowden. Work has been in progress on the Marseilles locks for a year and a half under contract let during the Lowden régime. But dams and other locks have to be built at Starved Rock, Brandon Road, and Dresden Island. High prices during the peak period led Gov. Small to hold back contract letting, but the delegates to the Peoria waterway congress take the ground that precious time is being wasted now and that the project should be put fully under way at once.

Experts say if all contracts were let it would take three or four years to complete the undertaking, and by that time industry and commerce will have revived and the rails will be experiencing their old time periodic congestion.

Supplement to Hard Roads.

Besides, the delegates hold, the waterway link is a necessary supplement to the hard road building, which has been the most astonishing development in transportation during the last five years. Concrete pavements now stretching over the state, they say, will vastly increase their commercial efficiency if they lead to a water haul to seaboard as well as to the rails

"HELL AND MARIA" DAWES, JOB FINISHED, DUE HOME TOMORROW

BRIG. GEN. CHARLES G. DAWES. [Copyright: Harris & Ewing.]

Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, who as director of the budget has spent a year in Washington showing Uncle Sam that his business can be run as economically as a private enterprise, is coming home tomorrow. He was the guest yesterday of President Harding at the latter's Marion, O., home.

Gen. Dawes is leaving the budgetary post at the end of a year of service there in accordance with his agreement with President Harding when he undertook the task of putting business methods into the government bureaus, the heads of which said such a plan was impossible. He was succeeded in the place on July 1 by Brig. Gen. H. M. Lord.

During the year Gen. Dawes' famous "hell and Maria" methods of cutting red tape have been in operation governmental expenses have been reduced $1,741,000,000, and a system of budgetary accounting installed that will continue the savings he has begun. It is understood he will resume management of the Central Trust company of Illinois.

Home Buyers or Builders Should Look First To Heating

A house can only be a "home" when properly and economically heated. In buying or building this item is positively the most important of all.

Houses equipped with Weil-McLain Boilers are "homes" beyond all question of a doubt, for in these boilers efficiency and economy are combined.

Many years of study have resulted in perfecting the two major functions of a boiler. These are: complete burning of fuel; full utilization of heat units. In Weil-McLain Boilers every pound of fuel is completely burned—made to yield a maximum number of heat units. Waste is practically eliminated.

Due to the perfection of three remarkable features full utilization of heat units is accomplished. These include: the Weil-McLain fuel-saving corrugated "double surface" crown sheet which gives double heating surface directly above the fire. The simple candle test shows that this is the most valuable surface in any boiler.

All other heating surfaces are also corrugated. This further promotes economy of fuel and heating efficiency.

A long "back and forth" fire travel holds the hot gases in continuous contact with all the fuel-saving surfaces. This final safeguard prevents waste of valuable heat units.

Other notable features which add to the efficiency of Weil-McLain Boilers are: large fire door; handy front clean-out doors for each section; smooth, non-clogging surface of lower one-third of fire pot; triangular grates which cut and shake out all ordinary clinkers.

For full value in dollars, service and economy your logical choice should be a Weil-McLain Boiler. Write us for further details and we will send you, if desired, the name of a competent heating engineer who will serve you.

The Surface Directly above the Fire is the most Efficient

WITHOUT exception, those who have seen and driven the new Peerless gladly concede that it meets in full measure, their ideas of what a motor car should be.

Regardless of what cars they have owned, they believe it to be as nearly perfect as it is humanly possible to make an automobile.

There is sound reason for the excellence of the new Peerless.

R. H. Collins and his associates, recognized for years as foremost authorities on eight-cylinder motors, acquired in Peerless a sound, substantial eight-cylinder equipment and a splendid eight-cylinder car ready to their hand.

These two factors—an experienced, balanced eight-cylinder organization, and a finely developed eight-cylinder plant and product—rendered it certain that Peerless would forge further to the front than ever in its history.

The Peerless of today is the Peerless of this new organization. Even present Peerless owners marvel at the refinements and the performance of this new car.

Appreciation is definitely shown in the sales of this direct factory branch, which are three times greater than they have ever been before.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Spe- al.]—Passage of permanent restric- immigration legislation is on the ram for next winter's session of ngress. Representative Johnson Wash.], chairman of the house com- ttee on immigration, believes that e United States never will return to e wide open door policy prevailing r to the passage of the present tem- ry 3 per cent restrictive law.

Mr. Johnson at next winter's session cts to press a bill, which he intro- ed before the adjournment of the ress, revising the present law so as give all countries a base quota of plus 2 per cent of the number of ns from that particular country in United States as shown by the cen- of 1910. His bill also contains er new features, including a require- t that aliens coming into the Unit- States shall obtain a certificate of ission from an American consul.

As the situation now stands the pres- t 3 per cent restrictive act has been nded for a two year period from July 1. Mr. Johnson favors the enact- t of permanent legislation which ll become effective before the expira- of the two year period.

REBEL OLD HOME WEEK IN OAXACA AS UNREST BOILS

Mexican Insurgents Grow in Numbers.

BY J. H. CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Mexico City, July 4.—Reports from the state of Oaxaca declare that the discontent with the governor continues, causing frequent additions to the ranks of the rebels. Mario Ferrer, reported killed in battle a week ago, according to Las Noticias is conducting an active campaign in the Huestaca district of the state.

Rebels Join Forces.

The latest addition to Gen. Ferrer's ranks is Gen. Urriola from the state of Puebla. Rafael Meigar, another rebel leader, again is active in Oaxaca, where he is working in concert with Gen. Montero.

The moving revolutionary figure in the north now appears to be Gen. Maldonado. Gen. Elizondo also is reported to be active in the state of Nuevo Leon, where he has invaded several small places and exacted forced loans from the people.

Manuel Larraga has issued a revolutionary proclamation to the inhabitants of the Huasteca district in the state of Tamaulipas, inviting them to take arms against the Obregon government.

Another Town Looted.

A party of rebels yesterday entered Villa Garcia, Nuevo Leon, shouting for Gen. Villareal. They overcame the weak federal garrison there and plundered the town, exacting money from the merchants and arms from the citizens.

STOLEN GEMS OF RUSSIAN CHURCH ON SALE IN RIGA

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

RIGA, July 4.—Representatives of some of the largest jewelry houses in Germany, Holland, France and England are arriving at Riga and Reval to purchase gems smuggled from Russia which are arriving in the Baltic states in large quantities. THE TRIBUNE was informed that the jewels were obtained from former wealthy Russians, and also they were confiscated from Russian churches and stolen by communists.

This, according to diamond buyers, explains why the bolsheviki are disappointed with the results of the confiscation of church property. The returns are said to be small. Even soviet couriers from Moscow are smuggling in the lining of their capes and in cigarets, diamonds, rubies, and pearls which were favorite jewels for those making gifts to the church.

The correspondent has seen a hand of the Virgin, cut from an ikon, which was decorated with fifteen jewels, the finger nails being rubies. Plenty of large gems are being offered for sale, the Riga sellers claiming they are from church property.

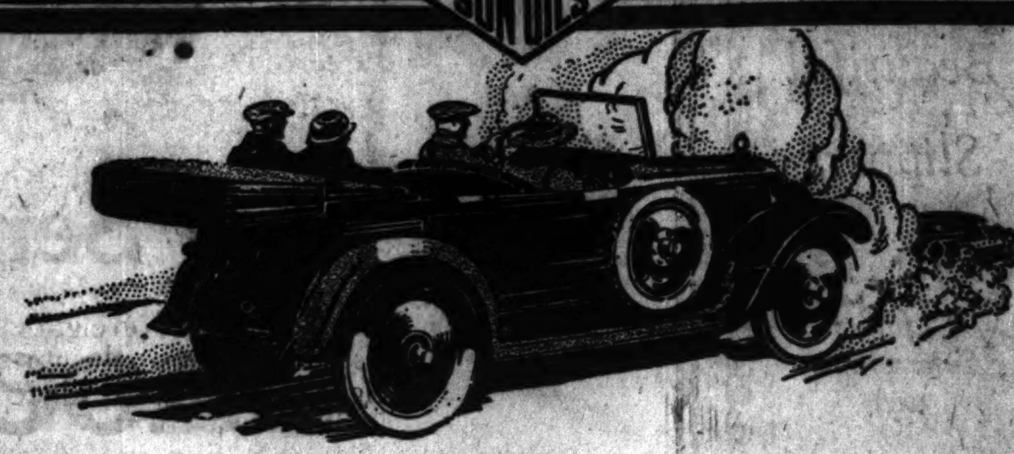
HUGE CITADEL IN EVANSTON IS NOT YET ABANDONED

John Deynger, husband of Evanston's wealthiest woman, announced yesterday that neither his wife nor himself has abandoned plans to erect a $2,000,000 citadel apartment on their property extending from Sheridan road to the lake, north of Milburn street, Evanston.

Permission to erect the "dream castle" was refused recently by the city council, and an appeal to the zoning board proved equally futile. Mrs. Deynger then threatened to build thirty-seven little shacks.

"We have not decided which course we will pursue," said Mr. Deynger, "but we do not accept the council's disapproval as the final decision."



SUN OILS

Whose dust must you swallow?

Whether it's a car like yours—or one of lower horsepower—the result is the same. You must pull over and trail behind.

Power and speed—equal to the best—were perhaps once in your own engine. But they're gone! And why?

It may be leakage of compression—heavy friction drag on the bearings—carbon-clogged cylinders and valves—any number of troubles.

Whatever the reason, your oil is probably largely to blame. It is poor in quality or not meeting the lubricating demands of your engine.

If you want to keep your engine full-powered, smooth-running and free from trouble, use SUNOCO Motor Oil—and use it exclusively.

SUNOCO is an absolutely pure, wholly-distilled oil—not a compound that plasters the vital parts of your engine with carbon or clogs the bearings.

And SUNOCO, by reason of patented, super-refining processes, has the stamina and scientific accuracy to keep your cylinders power-tight and leak-proof.

SUNOCO has revolutionized motor lubrication. Try it and prove its remarkable qualities for yourself. Ask the nearest SUNOCO dealer for the right type or phone or write us.

RUSSIAN AGENTS KEEP WATCH ON CORRESPONDENT

BY OTIS SWIFT.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ARTICLE II.

LONDON, July 4.—Throughout my long wait in Riga, until the soviet officials refused me permission to enter Russia to represent THE TRIBUNE, I underwent as careful a scrutiny and cross questioning as ever did a prisoner under the third degree.

With Foreign Minister Tchitcherin bluffing at Genoa the bolsheviks were determined not to admit an American correspondent to Russia who was not "safe," and who was liable to expose the full truth regarding the Russian situation, cutting under the paper prosperity and alleged successful reconstruction with which M. Tchitcherin was attempting to hocus the western premiers.

Comrade Volinsky of the Riga red delegation, after promising me my visa on the second day after my arrival, devoted long conversations to attempting to discover whether my politics were favorable to communism.

M. Volinsky, was a slight, middle aged, bald and alert former railroad engineer who had handled big construction projects all over the world. He knew the world capitals and he spoke perfect English.

Sees Russian Mind Primitive.

Through him I saw something of the twists of the semi-oriental Russian mind, which even though veneered with the highest polish of civilization remains basically primitive and barbaric.

M. Volinsky, like all bolsheviks who themselves dshonest and devious minded are not able to credit motives of honesty to others, could not believe that any one wanted to go to Russia without some subtle, ulterior motive.

"Why does THE TRIBUNE want a man in Russia?" he asked. "THE TRIBUNE has never done favors for us—we can expect little support from THE TRIBUNE."

He intimated that the newspaper represented the capitalist minded American nation and that it would approve counter revolts in Russia. Also he suggested his belief that American business would gladly aid and finance a counter revolt in order to discredit the reds and to prevent a bolshevik government in America, which he said was ultimate and not far off.

Would Have to Convert Him.

When I told him that I was going to Russia without the slightest prejudice and with no preconceived ideas—that my sole business was to report on economic and political facts—that a newspaper man's duty was solely to report the truth, leaving opinions to the editorial columns, he smiled politely, saying:

"We will have to convert you. We convert them all, once they get in."

Had I attempted to convince him that I was an ardent, or even a lukewarm friend of communism, I believe that my application would have been approved in twenty-four hours.

In the meanwhile Moscow was not acknowledging my numerous telegraphic queries asking the foreign office, M. Tchitcherin and Maxim Litvinoff, whether my application had been received. I telegraphed a friend in Moscow, who wired that he had called at the foreign office and had been informed that it had never received my application from London.

Therefore I applied again, answering the questionnaire a second time and submitting new photographs, and in addition I wrote personal letters to the foreign office, stating the reason I wished admittance. Further I submitted a number of my signed stories which had appeared in THE TRIBUNE.

Has Histories of U. S. Correspondents.

This data went to Moscow, where the cheka keeps the full life histories of all American correspondents in Europe today in order to size up their politics should they ever want to enter Russia.

Before finally sending my application off a Red official said: "We can not forward to Moscow for a week, as M. Yuraneff, the soviet plenipotentiary, must make an investigation of you."

Up to this point the bolsheviks had been constantly regretting their delay, promising admission shortly, but now with their activities at Genoa apparently succeeding they became arrogant and blustering. M. Antoneff, sucking at endless, paper tubed cigarets and jovially talking through a Russian interpreter, had always prevented direct talking by alleging that he spoke no English, French, or German.

Does Not Need Journalists.

When I insisted on seeing M. Yuraneff, however, he suddenly became linguistic, and, bursting into a flood of German, said:

"Russia does not need you American journalists, does not want you. We have nothing further to expect from capitalistic America. You say if Russian conditions are all right, you will report it to THE TRIBUNE and tell the American people. You will not and can not see Russia as we see it, and, as for your people in America, we do not care what they think."

Harry Collins to write on Dress
for Modern Priscilla

New York's most famous costume designer will tell women how to dress not only fashionably but artistically—in an illuminating series of articles accompanied by original sketches

ANOTHER authority added to Modern Priscilla's famous list of contributors!

The trend of fashion and the art of dress will be clearly set forth in Modern Priscilla, beginning with the October issue, by no less an authority than Mr. Harry Collins, New York's foremost costume designer and critic—the same Harry Collins who designed Mrs. Harding's inaugural gown, and who is recognized as the most ardent and authoritative exponent of artistic dress in America.

It is not enough to recognize that a woman has a face, Mr. Collins explains. Correct dress is based on an understanding of the lines of the human figure. Too many women dress merely to enhance the beauty of the face; whereas a costume should be built from the toe to the hat!

Mr. Collins decries a slavish following of fashion, urging in its place an adaptation of the fashion to the individual—a development of the discriminating sense.

Color, harmony, textures, taste, will enter into Mr. Collins' monthly discussions—all converging to the basic underlying principle, the correct lines.

These articles will be of such import to the women of America that they will constitute practically a college course in dress appreciation.

They will appear exclusively in Modern Priscilla. It is expected that hundreds of thousands of women will not only follow these articles with tremendous interest, but will keep the issues from month to month as a permanent guide on the New Art of Correct Dress.

Each article will be accompanied by original sketches, designed especially for Modern Priscilla by Harry Collins.

EXT MOVES IN MALL'S CASE TO E DECIDED SOON

nferences on Course Expected This Week.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The state's next step in the proceedings against Gov. Len Small and Fred Sterling in connection with the interest collected on public funds during their terms as state treasurer probably will be determined this week.

A decision was to have been made immediately after the close of Gov. Small's trial at Waukegan, but because of the death of Mrs. Small consideration of the question was postponed until after the Fourth. It probably will be taken up in conferences between State's Attorney C. F. Mortimer of Sangamon county, who is in command of the criminal proceedings, and Attorney General E. J. Brundage, who has civil suits pending against Small, Sterling, and three other former treasurers.

While both of these officials have refused to discuss the subject in any way during the last ten days, it is understood that up to the present there has been no decision whether the state will proceed along criminal or civil lines or both in the near future.

Plans of the State.

Before the verdict in the Small case, both Mortimer and Brundage had made it plain that whatever the outcome of that trial, their battle would not end there. If the verdict had been "guilty," they would have proceeded with the trials of Sterling and Vernon S. Curtis and with the civil suits. With a "not guilty" verdict they were prepared to take up the question whether they would proceed against Small by indicting on charges covered by two other indictments returned against him last July.

He was prosecuted under the indictment charging him, Sterling, Vernon S. Curtis, and the late E. C. Curtis with conspiracy. Another indictment, charging the same group with embezzlement, was knocked out last winter because the foreman of the grand jury signed his name above the dotted line instead upon it. And a nolle prosequi was entered by the state on an indictment charging Small alone with embezzlement, this step being taken because of tactical necessity.

May Seek New Bills.

The lawyers say that either or both of these indictments could be revoted by a grand jury which is expected to meet in Springfield next week. Such a step would mean that the conspiracy case against Vernon Curtis in Lake county would be dropped, as the attorneys for the state feel that further procedure in that territory is undesirable. Then necessarily the conspiracy case against Sterling, the only one of the three who did not take a change of venue from Sangamon county, also would be dropped. The cases against all three would be begun anew in the Springfield courts.

UNCLE SAM GETS "TREE CLIMBING PANTHER" STORY

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special.]—Cadet Raymond White says it was a panther. The war department received today an exhaustive narrative by Cadet White of the army air service of his misadventure in the cypress swamps of Florida during which he took to a tree for safety from a panther he thought he heard close at hand. After relating how his airplane was wrecked in the swamp and his efforts to wade out, he thus describes the panther episode:

"Having dug my way through such thicket infested swamps for about six hours, I finally stopped to rest. Deciding then that it was useless to continue in this mosquito and reptile infested swamp, I picked out a dry spot near a pine tree to spend the night. Since I did not smoke, I did not have any matches with which to build a fire, which would serve as a signal to the searching planes which would soon be sent out for me from Carlstrom field. After fighting mosquitoes for some time I finally dozed off to sleep while standing against the tree.

"During the night I was awakened by a piercing scream which I thought was either a panther or a bob cat. Listening for a few minutes, I heard a noise in the undergrowth, and I immediately climbed a small tree, where I remained during the night. After prowling around for some time toward morning the panther disappeared. At daybreak I descended from the tree and continued on my westerly course."

HOLD INQUEST INTO BOY'S DEATH.

An inquest will be held today at 316 West 63d street into the death of 7 year old Henry Klasey, 6936 South Lincoln street, who fractured his skull after he was said to have fallen while climbing a tree. Englewood police are investigating the accident.

BEGIN RECOUNT OF DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY TODAY

September 1 is now figured as the earliest date at which will be known definitely the names of the Democratic candidates for judges of the Municipal court.

Recount of the ballots cast in the entire city, at the April 11 primaries, starts this morning with ten teams working on the job. Sixty days is the lowest estimate of the time that will be occupied by the recount.

"The regular Democratic organization has no fear whatever of the outcome of the recount," said Martin J. O'Brien, chairman of the Democratic managing committee. "We are proceeding on the theory that the official canvass already returned has shown the candidates actually nominated."

How about your vinegar?

Is your vinegar "just sour?" There should be more to it than that. There should be a real flavor, a fine aroma that awakens the latent tastes of vegetables and salads. Heinz Vinegars are like that.

Health is wealth itself-

and depends more upon the selection of proper food than upon anything else.

The reason is simple—the right kind of food digests promptly and is absorbed into the blood for building sound tissue; while food that digests slowly may ferment and lead to serious conditions.

Grape-Nuts—the delicious cereal food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley—is so easy to digest that even delicate people and young children thrive on it.

This is only natural, because Grape-Nuts is baked for 20 hours, which transforms and partially pre-digests the starch elements, resulting in easy digestion and quick assimilation.

Served with milk or cream Grape-Nuts is a complete food—and along with its nutritive qualities is that wonderful flavor!

"NEWBERRYISM" IS ROCK ON WHICH MICHIGAN SPLITS

Hottest Primary Will Be Waged on Issue.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Detroit, Mich., July 4.—[Special.]—United States Senator Charles Emery Townsend of Jackson made a fleeting Independence visit to his home state today to serve notice that he will be here within a few weeks to begin his fight for renomination at the Republican primaries Sept. 12.

Senator Townsend faces two oppo- to face the issue of "Newberryism" in the commonwealth where it was born in the election of 1918, and where it is now being turned against him because he voted for the senate resolution seating his colleague, Truman H. Newberry, although condemning the lavish use of money in his campaign.

Senator Townsend faces the opponents for the nomination, each of them making "Newberryism" the cornerstone of his platform. They are Representative Patrick Kelley of Lansing and Major John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, former national commander of the American Legion.

Hottest Fight of History.

Both have begun to fight, and when Senator Townsend arrives about July 20, to take off his coat in the climactic struggle of his long political career, the grand old Republican state of Michigan will be in the throes of a primary struggle that will eclipse in intensity and interest the terrific election battle between Newberry and Henry Ford four years ago.

Senator Townsend will appeal to voters on his record at Washington. He will not apologize for his vote to seat Newberry. Neither will his friends and supporters.

They are insisting that "Newberryism" is not the real issue, and that Senator Townsend is entitled to reëlection as a constructive statesman who has done much good for the country and his state and is needed for the future, particularly in the fight to come for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project, and in continuing his persistent effort for improved national highways.

Two Principal Planks.

"The Townsend for Senator state committee" which has been organized with William J. Smith of Battle Creek as chairman, and Carl B. Fritsche of Detroit as executive chairman, has adopted "deep waterways" and "national highways" as the foundation planks in the Townsend platform. This committee is not attacking Maj. Emery, but it is already assailing Representative Kelley and the fur is beginning to fly.

Maj. Emery, the Townsend leaders hold, has a perfectly laudable ambition to become United States senator and cannot be questioned in his right to speak his mind on "Newberryism" or any other issue.

But they are attacking Kelley on the ground of insincerity, claiming him to have been friend and supporter of Newberry and turning now upon him and Senator Townsend for political expediency.

Senator Townsend, passing through Detroit today, would have nothing to say about his supporters' attacks on Kelley.

He called attention, however, to a telegram he sent recently to a gathering of Michigan Republicans here in the interest of his candidacy, in which he appealed for support upon his record in congress and said:

"It will not be necessary to hire any one to work for me. If my record of nineteen years in congress does not appeal sufficiently to the people to induce them to support me, then I ought not to expected to be elected."

Townsend Republicans also are firing at Kelley for his attitude on the naval appropriation bill, Kelley being a member of the house committee on naval affairs. In this connection William E. Metzger, chairman of the Wayne County Townsend club, said today:

"Any congressman who voted against Harding's demand for 86,000 men in the navy is guilty of charging the President, Secretary of State Hughes, and Ned Denby with bad faith, and you can't get away with anything like that in this town, believe me."

The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project is to be used by the Townsend forces as their greatest argument. Senator Townsend is regarded here as the originator of this great plan.

VATICAN WOULD SAVE TO CHRISTIANS LORD'S LAST SUPPER PLACE

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, July 4.—The Vatican is making strenuous efforts to save for Christianity, if not all Palestine, at least the sanctuary of the "cenaculum" in Jerusalem where the Lord's supper took place. The publication of the French and English white books on Palestine reaffirming the decision to make Palestine the national home of the Hebrews, and the white book of the American congress, approving this determination, caused a deep disappointment in Vatican circles.

The Vatican is watching closely Foreign Minister Schanzer's negotiations in London concerning the sanctuary of the cenaculum which is claimed by Italy. The Corriere della Sera, a Catholic newspaper, maintains that the sanctuary is the private property of the King of Italy and for this reason, despite the fact that it has a mandate over Palestine, England has no jurisdiction over the holy place.

U. S. A GOLDFISH BOWL FROM RULE OF BUSYBODYISM

New York, July 4.—An attack on the "insane and pernicious saturnalia of socialistic legislation" passed by and being urged upon congress was made today by Senator Stanley, Democrat [Ky.], in an address at a Tammany hall celebration. Traditional principles of the American government are being abandoned, he declared, in the so-called "progressive" movement and the people are being harassed by innumerable government boards and bureaus.

Criticizing the "progressive wing" of the Republican party, he said it was "the most ingenious inventor of new ways and means of invading the vested rights of the states and the liberties of the citizen."

FISH AND FLOUR TARIFF BOOSTS IN SENATE TODAY

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special.]—Approval of increased duties on a number of remaining commodities in the agriculture schedule of the McCumber tariff bill is in prospect in the senate tomorrow. Among the items to be acted upon are walnuts, peanuts, oil bearing seeds and materials, sago flour and tapioca flour and fish.

New amendments to the cotton schedule, which are ready for presentation to the senate by the finance committee, include one which limits all duties on cotton cloth to 45 per cent.

Experts have advised the finance committee that the compound duties on cotton cloth contained in the McCumber bill as originally reported to the senate will average considerably above the rates of the former Payne-Aldrich law, which imposed specific duties with a minimum rate of 40 per cent and had a basket clause providing a rate of 45 per cent on cotton cloths not otherwise provided for.

When you talk business with men, you say things that are worth listening to.

The chances are that if you wrote down on paper and had printed many of the things you say about your business, these remarks would be read with interest by your customers and prospects.

People subscribe to trade papers and technical papers because they contain facts of value and interest. Surely there are equally interesting facts about your business that you can send direct to your trade by Third-Class Mail in attractive folder and circular form.

Interview yourself about your business once a month or so. See that this interview is properly written, illustrated, and printed, and send it to your trade.

HUMAN HANDS

Proofs of Kissel Craftsmanship

- Hand-scraped bearings.
- Dynamically as well as statically balanced crankshafts.
- Individually balanced connecting rods—balanced at both ends.
- Individually fitted pistons.
- Complete dis-assembly of motor after block test.
- Hand-fitted bearings on all moving chassis parts.
- Special bearings taking up side-play in springs.
- Kissel double external contracting brakes.
- Hand-built bodies, with body metal hand-fitted and hand-hammered into place.
- Special form-fitting seats and seat backs, equipped with individual Marshall springs.
- "Hand-tailored" hood.
- Triple offset doors—like a bank vault—individually fitted and equipped with extra bumpers.
- Kissel fenders rolled in pairs by an exclusive process.
- Twenty-three body finishing operations.

Only the sure touch of skilled hands can build into a motor car the distinctive appearance and performance that are so immediately evident in the Kissel Custom-Built Six.

Machines alone could not balance Kissel crankshafts and connecting rods so as to cut vibration to a minimum, could not fit pistons within two-thousandths of an inch, could not make the score upon score of infinitely delicate adjustments demanded by Kissel methods of custom-building.

There is unmistakable evidence of real hand craftsmanship in the ready responsiveness of the powerful Kissel motor, in the roadibility for which Kissel cars are noted, in their ability to reel off many thousands of trouble-free miles, in the beauty of their design and finish and the thorough comfort they provide.

You will quickly sense these differences—the results of true custom-building—when you see and drive a Kissel. And this finer type of motor car performance is yours to enjoy at a price no higher than you would expect to pay for an ordinarily good automobile.

We are now showing the latest Kissel models.

Annual July Clearance Sale

THE biggest sale event of the year—offers values that are unequaled. More than a million dollars' worth of Stevens' choice merchandise is included in these radical reductions. Our only reason for such extreme price cutting is that we do not carry one season's merchandise over the next season.

TREACHEROUS LOVE

BY BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

SYNOPSIS.

Shane Boreland, a prospector cruising up the Alaska coast in his own schooner, the Hoonah, arrives at Katleean. He and his wife, Ellen, their little son, and his wife's sister are welcomed by Paul Kilbuck, the agent of the Alaska Fur and Trading company. Kilbuck, a strong but unscrupulous man, is known up and down the coast of Alaska as the White Chief.

Boreland's interest is aroused by Kilbuck's tales of a lost island on which Indian rumor has it that gold has been found. This mysterious island is supposed to be Kon Klayu, a small uninhabited strip of land ninety miles off the coast of Katleean. At the mention of gold Boreland's adventurous blood is profoundly stirred and he decides to visit Kon Klayu.

Kilbuck encourages the prospector in this project, although he knows Kon Klayu is nothing more than a barren island completely surrounded by dangerous reefs and shoals and shunned by ships as a death trap. He is tired of the native women of his household, and Ellen's beauty and courage have fired his imagination. He desires to get rid of her husband, but Ellen upsets all his carefully laid plans by refusing to remain behind at Katleean, and, with Jean and her young son, goes with her husband to Kon Klayu.

Gregg Harlan, the trading company's bookkeeper at Katleean, captivated by the charms of young Jean, makes the trip with the expedition to the island. He intends to return with the Hoonah to Katleean after the Boreland party has been landed, but, through an accident, the boat goes back without him. Kilbuck has prejudiced the Borelands against young Harlan by branding him a squaw man, and his presence worries Ellen.

INSTALLMENT XXVII.
THE BOAT IS LOST.

A gust of wind caught viciously at the tarpaulin spread over provisions in the stern. It carried its fluttering blackness straight back into the white and green of a giant comber directly behind. The onrushing breaker reared its cruel head . . . then, just as another rain squall broke, hiding it from view, it curled down, swift, terrifying, swallowing the whale boat in its foaming maw.

With a cry of despair Ellen rushed to the edge of the surf, straining her eyes over the wild sea. Had the force of the breaker swept every one from the whale boat? Had the canvas stretched tightly over the provisions been sufficient to keep the water from filling and swamping the boat? Would the violence of the tide and wind bring them in if—if—Kayak Bill had not been torn from his post? Suddenly she knew that on Kayak depended everything; Kayak Bill who had once been a pilot at surfbound Yakataga; Kayak Bill who had run the raging bars of the delta mouthed Copper river. Would he be equal to the surf of Kon Klayu? Could he keep his hold on the tiller? O, if the rain curtain would only lift! If she could but see out there in that foaming, roaring swelter of water!

Harlan's eyes glowed.

She dashed a hand across her face, tearing aside the wet hair that flattened itself against her eyes. The squall was letting up. She could see now, but there was nothing—nothing but breakers. A sob tore itself from her throat. She started to turn away when, dimly, she saw. Low in the water, veiled by flying whitecaps, they came—Boreland and Harlan bailing desperately, and in the stern Kayak Bill, his hand still on the tiller, keeping the oarless boat steady atop the swift, rushing wave that was sweeping them on to the beach! With outstretched, welcoming arms Ellen waded out into the foam of the spent breaker that grounded the whaleboat almost at her feet.

That evening the adventurers sat in the warmth of the crowded little cabin, living over again the events of the day. Every available corner was piled high with the wet provisions that had been unloaded from the whaleboat that afternoon, but, contrasted with the gale outside, the place seemed wonderfully snug and comfortable. Still lingered the savory aroma of the duck mulligan that had been their supper. In the Yukon stove the fire roared and crackled as if in defiance of the terrific blasts that shook the cabin. The sense of kinship that comes to those who have fought their way together through some great danger was upon them all strongly tonight.

"Holy Mackinaw, boys!"—Boreland emphasized his remarks with the stem of his pipe—"I wouldn't have given a hoot in hades for our chances when that wave broke! Thought it was all day with us then. Kayak, Harlan, a fellow never realizes what small potatoes he is until he looks up from the hollow of a wave!" He stretched his long arms comfortably and laughed. "But after you've been up against a proposition like that and come through it certainly makes a man feel like a man!"

"It certainly does, skipper!" Harlan's eyes glowed. He appeared more alive than at any other time since his landing, beginning to understand, evidently, something of the hard freedom of the north, for which men must either fight or die. He took up a roll of blankets and went into the other room. There was no thought of his crossing the island tonight. Kayak Bill's tent had blown down during the afternoon, and he was, as he put it, "forced to seek better anchorage." He and Harlan were to spread a bed on the floor of the adjoining room.

Kobuk, with appealing whines and tentative pawings at the door, had finally won an entrance and was curled up in front of the stove. Just before supper Shane had come in, lugging the pigeon's cage, which he placed carefully on top of a tall packing box. Ellen felt the bird's presence in a way that was beginning to trouble her. Tonight it seemed to wear a sullen and dejected look, unlike its usual bold air. All evening it had sat motionless in the bottom of the cage. The only sign of life it displayed was in the deep orange pupils of its eyes, which, she was sure, followed her about wherever she went.

She forced herself to look away from the cage. A hush had fallen on those in the room. The shrieking of rising wind challenged attention. Ellen listened with a feeling strangely compounded of delight and terror. Never before had she known such a wind. It swept down on the roof of the cabin in woolies, threatening to blow it in, and then seemingly sucking it out again. The log walls quivered. Every joist and board cracked and strained. The box on which the lamp stood vibrated and the flat yellow flame flickered. The air reverberated to the thunder of surf that crashed against the hundred reefs of Kon Klayu. Ellen had a feeling that the little island trembled in the splendid abandon of wind and sea—trembled, yet exulted in the freedom of the elements. She found herself paradoxically fearing, yet hoping that the next blast of the gale might be heavier.

Harlan had finished spreading the blankets in the other room. "Skipper," he said, "I've been wondering how the whaleboat is. Before we turn in I think I'll go down and see that we made the old girl fast." He took up his oilskins from the floor and slipped into them.

When the door had closed behind him Kayak Bill looked at Boreland and nodded. "I make affirmation," he drawled, "that there's a paystreak in any man who looks first after his hoss—or his boat."

While the significance of the old man's remark was dawning on Ellen there was an odd lull in the storm. Surprisingly, a new sound came to them. It was a sound blown from the south cliffs; a sound that was, yet was not of the storm; a hollow, reverberating roll that was deep and mellow, thrilling and strange. Boreland and Kayak rose simultaneously and looked questioningly into each other's eyes.

"What——" Boreland's words were cut off by the flinging open of the door. White faced and dripping, Harlan staggered in, slamming it to shut out the driving rain. He leaned heavily against it.

"God, skipper!" he gasped. "The whaleboat—it's gone."

At that moment, like a happening in a sinister dream, Ellen was aware that the pigeon perched high on the packing box had suddenly come to life. It was flapping its wings diabolically, exultingly.

The loss of the whale boat was a calamity staggering in its magnitude. It meant that every pound of provisions left at the West Camp must be packed on the backs of the men to the cabin. Not only that, but they were now without any means whatever of leaving the island. Nothing but direct necessity could have forced Boreland to seek the mainland in the frail craft, but, remembering that the Indians of the coast had been known to journey the hundreds of miles from Sitka to Kodiak in open canoes, there had been a certain feeling of assurance in the thought that with the whale boat there was at least a chance of bringing help to the island should it be necessary.

Boreland was the first to recover from the blow. The morning following the loss the three men were discussing it.

"Well, these post-mortems get us nowhere," he said at last as he rose and prepared to stow the provisions away in the loft. "We'll tackle the job on hand now. After all, Kilbuck will be here with the Hoonah soon, and we can get another boat from him."

ZONING LAW AND BUILDING CODE HIT BY COURT

Supreme Bench Ruling May Knock Out Both.

Study of a recent state Supreme court decision in the case of Roos vs. Forest Park, led city legal authorities to declare yesterday that the court's stand "knocks the props" from beneath the proposed city zoning ordinance, on which $60,000 is being spent, and destroys the foundations of the city building code, laid following the Iroquois disaster of December, 1903.

The blow to both the zoning ordinance and the building code is contained in the following paragraph of the decision:

"An ordinance is void which prohibits one citizen from conducting a particular kind of business in a certain locality and permits another to engage in the same character of business in the same locality merely because the latter had established his business before the ordinance was passed."

The basic theory of the state zoning act on which the proposed zoning ordinance is based is that the powers granted "shall not be exercised so as to deprive the owner of any existing property of its use or maintenance for the purpose to which it is then lawfully devoted." Without this provision the act would not have been passed by the legislature, attorneys for the city say.

Law Held Invalid.

In the Roos case the Supreme court held invalid a part of Article 5 of the Cities and Villages act, because the paragraph contained a proviso that the powers granted should not be construed to require the removal of buildings from locations which they lawfully occupy at the time of the passage of ordinances passed pursuant to the act.

The proviso, the court held, made the paragraph granting cities the power to control the location and regulate the use of breweries, distilleries, factories, bathing beaches, brick and lumber yards, etc., discriminatory. As this proviso is regarded as much less discriminatory than the one contained in the state zoning act, passed subsequently, the court is sure to declare the zoning act invalid in view of its stand in the Roos case, the attorneys assert.

"The decision made me dizzy," Assistant Corporation Counsel Leon Hornstein, advisor of the zoning commission, declared. "In view of the decision it seems a waste of time to go forward with zoning ordinances."

New Basic Law Only Hope.

The only immediate hope of safeguarding property through zoning, appears to be in the ratification of the new state constitution which makes specific provisions for zoning and would of course be beyond the reach of a Supreme court decision.

Practically the entire city building code is based on classifications which put into one class buildings constructed before the ordinance in question was passed and into another class buildings to be constructed later.

Upheld in Lower Courts.

This theory was upheld many times in nisi prius courts but has never been passed upon directly by the Supreme court before. Running through the city building code are hundreds of provisions which relate to "existing buildings" and "buildings hereafter to be constructed." For instance, the fire limits ordinance allows frame buildings constructed previous to the passage of th ordinance to rmain inside the limits.

On petition for a rehearing the city asked leave to appear as amicus curiae and its brief, concerning the court's decision, which had already been rendered, averred:

"If the same rule of law • • • is applied to an ordinance creating districts passed under the zoning enabling act, zoning cannot be accomplished in the city of Chicago."

Butler Shoots Self, Wife, Her Mother, in Evanston

In the presence of scores of persons enjoying the holiday, John Robinson, colored butler for C. E. Driver, 535 Cherry street, Winnetka, whipped out an automatic pistol at Pratt boulevard and Foster avenue, Evanston, yesterday and shot his wife, his mother-in-law, and himself.

The two women received two bullets each. The fact that the weapon jammed, police believe, saved Robinson from shooting bystanders. The butler is not expected to live.

Colored Woman Murders Another for Man's Love

Mrs. Jessie Shannon, colored, 33 years old, 2041 Park avenue, was shot and instantly killed last night by Mrs. Ida Raymond, also colored, as aftermath of a quarrel over a man.

Mrs. Raymond was arrested by the Warren avenue police.

GYPSY BACKSTOP STOPS BAT WITH EAR; RIOT BEGINS

Batter Gets Home Run as Police Battle.

It was a peaceful baseball game until some one hit the catcher with a bat.

Four days ago Frank Stanley, king of the gypsy encampment out on Archer road, decided that his followers should celebrate the Fourth. And over the evening campfires the devotees of gaudy calico and the open road voiced their approval of the idea.

Crack Expectorators.

The day started off nicely with a score of young bucks spitting at a crack for a box of cigars. Then came the horseshoe throwing tests, a tug of war, foot and pony races and finally the piece de resistance—a baseball game.

The first six innings progressed in the usual style. Each hit was greeted by a chorus of cheers and the waving of many colored handkerchiefs. Then came the "lucky" seventh.

Christo Beaned.

Alex. Christo was the catcher on team No. 1. An unknown man came up to bat. Like Casey, he swung madly at the first one—swung clear around, in fact. He didn't hit the ball, but he did swat Christo's skull, and Christo dropped.

The batter ran to first, then decided to keep on running. About that time Christo's eight teammates registered violent protest against such proceedings. Knives appeared with celerity from waistbands and boot tops. Clubs—choice young wagon stakes—began to grow where none had grown before. Suddenly there was a cloud of dust. Biff! Bang!

Riot Calls Pour In.

Ten minutes later the Brighton Park police received a riot call over the phone. So did the Fillmore street and South Chicago police.

Wagonmen Peter Mallon and Archie Watson were first to respond. They found a riot; they plunged in with guns and clubs.

Half an hour later, with clothes torn and covered with dust, they emerged. They left behind them half a score of victims and had with them Christo, Frank Eli, and Joseph Wassa. Christo was sent to the county hospital; Wassa and Eli were taken to the station for protection.

The man who had hit Christo made a home run—in a straight line.

Boy Falls Off Bicycle and Is Killed by Auto

Falling from his bicycle, an unidentified boy about 12 years old, last night rolled under the wheels of a passing automobile at Elston and Montrose avenues, and received injuries from which he died at the Swedish Covenant hospital. Walter Ekstrom, 2829 North Troy stret, the driver, was held. The boy had blue eyes, fair hair, wore a yellow shirt striped with green, knickerbockers, brown shoes and black stockings.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Are you in favor of legalizing boxing in Illinois?

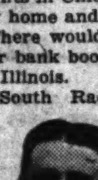
Where Asked.

West Side Sportsmen's field.

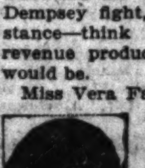
The Answers.

William Rooney, 772 Gilpin place, chauffeur—You bet your life! Boxing is one of the greatest sports there is, if it's on the level. And you don't hear of any "frames" nowadays like you used to. Why make us travel all the way to Michigan City to see a good "go" when we might see one right here?

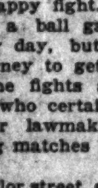
Mrs. Marie Marzano, 721 South Jefferson street, housewife—Yes. My husband is a fight "fan," who wants to go to see every fight in the vicinity. Now, if they allowed fights in Chicago he'd stay home and see them. There would be a lot more money in our bank book if they'd legalize fights in Illinois.



Joseph Biondo, 817 South Racine avenue, machinist—Fighting in Illinois would be a money making proposition as well as a convenience for us who like to see 'em. Take the tax on a big Dempsey fight, for instance—think what a revenue producer to the state that would be.



Miss Vera Fay, 721 South Jefferson street, stenographer—Next to a baseball game, I like to see a good, snappy fight. I can see a ball game here any day, but it costs money to get to where the fights are. I'm one who certainly would like to see our lawmakers' prejudice against boxing matches disappear.



Rocco Gragibo, 718 Taylor street, garment cutter—Boxing was about all the sport we had when I was in the navy. I'm in favor of bringing it back to Chicago, on a clean basis and with politics kept out of it. "Fake" fights were what killed the game here years ago.

Three Hurt When Ottawa Fireworks Stand Burns

Three persons suffered slight burns and $500 damage was done yesterday in Ottawa, Ill., when a fireworks stand in front of a store was accidentally fired. Skyrockets and Roman candles shot in all directions, smashing plate glass windows, igniting the interior of the Harbold dry goods store, and throwing the people into a panic.

EVANGELIST HELD FOR TRAVELING WITH GIRL OF 16

Itinerant Preacher Is Named by Her Kin.

William Brooks, a traveling evangelist, at one time attached to the Volunteers of America in Chicago, was charged at Urbana, Ill., yesterday with contributing to the delinquency of Louise Clark, 16 year old Urbana girl. The complaint was signed by her brother.

In the meantime investigation was begun by Lieut. Col. Huldah Smith, 221 North La Vergne avenue, head of the Volunteers in Chicago. Col. Smith said that Brooks was for a brief time connected with the Volunteers as a collector, but was dropped six months ago.

Volunteers May Prosecute.

"If it is true he purports to be a representative of the Volunteers now, he's an imposter and I'll begin prosecution of him," she declared.

Brooks, who is 40 years old, was arrested Monday when, according to Sheriff George W. Davis, it was learned he had been traveling around the country for several months with the Clark girl. The girl is in the care of the juvenile probation officers at Urbana.

Left His Family.

Brooks is said to have disappeared from his home at 215 North La Crosse avenue about the time he left the Volunteers. Yesterday it was said by neighbors that his wife and their two small children, Jack, 6, and Billy, 4, are at her mother's home near Putnam, Ill. Reports indicate Brooks is also wanted on bad check charges at Davenport and Moline, Ill.

"Brooks called me up to ask for his wife a week ago, but said nothing about being in trouble," said a neighbor of Mrs. Brooks.

HIS WIFE NOT SLAIN; MERELY SEEKING DIVORCE

Mystery surrounding her alleged disappearance and rumors current in Quincy, Ill., that she had been murdered were dissolved yesterday when it became known that on Monday Mrs. Osa Eolia Stannus filed suit here for divorce from Dr. Edwin F. Stannus, wealthy surgeon of Quincy.

Dr. Stannus visited the detective bureau yesterday seeking aid in locating Mrs. Stannus, who, according to information received by Lieut. William Killeen from State's Attorney Garner of Quincy, had been shot and killed. Stannus asserted that his wife was supposed to have left several days ago for California.

Mrs. Stannus charges the doctor with extreme and repeated cruelty and seeks an injunction restraining Dr. Stannus from molesting her or disposing of his property. The last beating is said to have taken place a week ago in their rooms at the Congress hotel.

BEG PARDON!

An editorial of June 30 said, "The Burlington [railroad] . . . have recently announced the cancellation of their contracts for shop work . . ." A few minor arrangements related to maintenance of way were discontinued but the railroad did not contract its shops and therefore could not have canceled such contracts.

CHAMPAGNE POPS GLAD FOURTH FOR YANKS IN LONDON

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 5.—With oratorical pyrotechnics for fireworks and popping champagne corks for fire crackers, Americans celebrated Independence day in London until early this morning. Hotels, restaurants, and dancing places were granted a two hour extension of the closing time and liquor selling privilege.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson was the only person in London who was dissatisfied. "They use this as an excuse to ply American visitors with booze," he complained.

'Twas Dry, So Dry, in Berlin.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BERLIN, July 4.—When the German workers laid off today on account of the republican demonstration, the whole American colony went dry because the bars in the hotels were closed. They flocked to Ambassador Houghton's reception and raided the punch bowl. Then they discovered the ambassador's first official Fourth of July in Berlin since 1914 was pitifully dry.

5 DROWNED; AUTO KILLS MAN; 200 4TH FIRE ALARMS

But Only One Fireworks Casualty Is Listed.

Five persons drowned; one dead and a dozen hurt in auto crashes; one injured by fireworks; 200 fire alarms, with a few fires among them.

This was the life and property casualty list of yesterday's Fourth of July observance in Chicago and surrounding towns.

List of Drowned.

Those drowned were:

William Bartolucci, 18 years old, 811 Bishop street, drowned while swimming in a brickyard pool at West 79th street and South 58th avenue.

Ginndedi Dante, 16 years old, 2038 Polk street, died at the same place.

Morris Pokopegy, 1734 West 13th street, and W. Pauliski, Y. M. C. A. hotel, swept by undertow far out in lake near Gary.

James Morris, 1933 Adams street, Gary, drowned while swimming in Deep river.

Firemen Kept Busy.

Firemen sat in their stations with feet uptilted until late last evening, when the alarms began to sound, and before midnight they were willing to report that "business had been as usual" for a July Fourth. There were 188 alarms, stills and otherwise. None of the fires was very serious. Most of the alarms were false.

The victim of the day's single fireworks accident was Mrs. Sarah Moses, 22 years old, who was struck in the neck by pieces of tin can filled with sulphur and potash, which exploded when struck by a street car in front of her home at 1851 Roosevelt road. Her condition is not serious.

One fire caused by fireworks was at the Exchange hotel, East 92d street, where guests were routed by flames set by a firecracker which a boy threw into the basement. Several hundred dollars' damage was done.

Exploding fireworks did $100 damage to a frame building at 7406 Blackstone avenue. Slight damage was done to a building at 7131 Dobson avenue by a fire set by fireworks. A firecracker set flames which did $200 damage to a two story frame building at 1137 Lill avenue. At 1838 North Robey street the two story brick building owned by Julia Lakowski was damaged $300 by flames set by firecrackers thrown into the basement. Small damage was inflicted by a fire which destroyed a woodshed at 1752 Clybourn avenue.

"Bootleggers" Beaten.

The freedom from fireworks casualties is attributed to the campaigns against illegal use and sale which were waged by the police, Assistant Fire Marshal McDonnell, the Chicago safety council, and other organizations, and which resulted in the arrest of many fireworks "bootleggers" before the Fourth and in the creation of public sentiment against the law regarding pyrotechnics.

Inquiry in suburbs last night revealed that in none of them had any fireworks accidents or fires been reported. At the city hospitals those in charge expressed surprise at the negligible number of casualties.

Dies in Auto Wreck.

The few accidents reported in Chicago yesterday were caused by automobiles rather than by Fourth of July activities. John Gustafson, a carpenter contractor, was killed when his automobile steering wheel broke and he collided with a Cicero car in Cicero avenue, near Thomas street. Several occupants of the street car were severely shaken up.

John Heller, a stationary fireman, living at 450 North Clark street, suffered a cerebral hemorrhage when he was struck at State and Van Buren streets by the automobile of Joseph Black, 1651 West 63d street. Miss Lydia Smith suffered a fractured leg and Miss Della Ryan and W. G. Randall of Aurora suffered minor injuries when the automobile in which they were riding struck a sign post at Lake and Dearborn streets. Two deaths from automobile accidents were reported at Stickney, Ill.

Man Is Drowned.

Maun Bokolski, 1356 Newberry avenue, was drowned yesterday afternoon while swimming in the lake near Miller, Ind.

An ideally clear, cool day contributed to the success of the many celebrations held in the city. Chief among these was that at the municipal pier, under the auspices of the United Americans and the Chicago Woman's club. Judge Marcus Kavanagh and Walter Hoff Seely were speakers. The American Legion, which participated in planning for many of the celebrations, had charge of a program at Melrose Park, where Edward R. Litsinger, chairman of the county board of review, spoke.

Central street, Evanston, had the biggest Fourth of July celebration held in that city in twenty years. A parade of floats opened the festivities in the morning. The day was topped off by a $5,000 fireworks display in the evening at Northwestern university athletic field.

Wounded Men Meet.

Buddies and Ex-Service Men of America held a field day for disabled soldiers on the grounds of the Chicago Sharpshooters' association at Palos Park. At the House of Correction there was an all day program.

Play festivities at Pulaski and Dvorak parks were the principal events of the day in the west side parks. At Pulaski park, Blackhawk and Noble streets, a play festival and folk dances were given by 100 girls.

Boys and girls in kilts danced the old Scotch folk dances for prizes yesterday in Kolze's park at the annual reunion of 5,000 members of the Order of Scottish Clans.

At Independence park an elaborate program was given by cooperation of the American Legion, G. A. R., and Spanish War Veterans. Judge Harry Olson made a brief address at Independence park on the eradication of crime.

BENNIE LEONARD, MASTER OF OLD, NEVER IN DANGER

FIGURES ON THE BOUT

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., July 4.—The receipts for today's Leonard-Kansas fight were $59,830, it was announced, this including the government tax which amounted to $5,415. The attendance was placed at 10,000, this figure, however, not including a large complimentary list.

Michigan City, Ind., July 4.—[Special.]—Bennie Leonard, lightweight champion, lived up to all that has been said about him this afternoon when he stopped Challenger Rocky Kansas of Buffalo in the eighth round of the scheduled ten round session, main event of the boxing show held in Floyd Fitzsimmons' arena.

After Leonard had pounded Kansas with rights and lefts to the head and body in the eighth round Manager Dan Rogers threw a sponge into the ring as the silent sign of defeat. The sponge was tossed into the ring after the gladiators had been mixing it for two minutes and thirty-seven seconds.

Arm Broken in Third.

As soon as Leonard backed away to his corner, Manager Rogers announced Rocky had broken his left arm in the third round. Examination showed a fracture about four inches above the wrist. Kansas displayed gameness to the end, but was a badly outclassed fighter.

It simply was a case of a tried master of the boxing game meeting a willing fighter who knew little or nothing of how to battle a man of the champion's ability. Leonard made Kansas look foolish at times, and caused him to miss by wide margins with right and left swings.

The champion picked off most of Kansas' blows before they reached the intended marks, and at the end of the bout showed a slightly cut lip, and the right side of his face was badly swollen.

Bennie Shows His Cunning.

Leonard was of the standup type boxer, while Kansas employed a crouching position. The champion feinted him into positions, then nailed him with every punch known to the game. Bennie stuck straight lefts to the face and then crossed rights to the head and body for damaging results. It was only on a few occasions that Leonard's blows missed their marks.

As soon as the bell sounded for the first round the champion made Kansas face the sun. He kept the challenger in this position for the greater part of the fight, one of the many incidents of the fight which show Leonard is one of the most cunning boxers who ever drew on a boxing glove in the lightweight division. He repeatedly pulled Kansas toward him and then nailed him with right uppercuts to the jaw and body. Time and time again Leonard's solid right hand punches rocked Kansas' head, while in others Bennie's straight lefts made the Italian retreat.

Leonard Shows Class Early.

In the first round the champion pecked away with his left hand and blocked Kansas' returns in the air. Rocky started a number of punches low but managed to get them above the foul line when they landed. The champion had all the best of the second round, although Rocky planted a left swing on Bennie's jaw. Near the close of the round Leonard hammered Rocky with rights and lefts to the body and it was evident he was the Italian's master.

The third round was all in Leonard's favor, and in the next session he brought the claret from Kansas' nose with a right uppercut. From this time until the finish the champion bided his time and gradually wore his opponent down with head and body punches.

Leonard tried hard for a knockout in the seventh but failed and in the eighth round he went after his man in relentless fashion. A straight left to the face started the challenger on the road to defeat. As the blow knocked Kansas back, Leonard followed with a right cross to the jaw.

Kansas Reels Along Ropes.

The blow sent Kansas reeling along the ropes. Leonard then started in to finish his man and would undoubtedly have done so had not Manager Dan Rogers thrown a sponge into the ring.

In the semi-windup Dennis O'Keefe of South Chicago knocked out Eddie Welsh of South Bend in the second round. A left hand punch to the stomach, followed by a right cross to the jaw, sent Welsh to the canvas early in the session.

Eddie made the fatal mistake of getting up too soon, and Dennis sent him to the mat again with a right to the jaw. He got up at the count of eight, but was wabbly. Dennis kept after him relentlessly and put him away with a right to the jaw.

Harold Smith Whips Kelly.

Harold Smith of the Stock Yards, Chicago, earned the decision over Jimmy Kelly, west side Italian in the second preliminary. Smith started strongly and won the first five rounds. Kelly showed improvement in the last three sessions.

In the opening contest Al Wolgast of Cadillac, Mich., brother of the former lightweight champion, won the decision over Jack O'Toole of Milwaukee. It was a tame affair, but Wolgast forced the fighting and landed the punishing punches.

EVER AND PINKIE ON HAND READY TO DEFY VICTOR

Michigan City, Ind., July 4.—[Special.]—Ever Hammer, Chicago lightweight, who defeated Charlie White recently in Aurora, and Pinkie Mitchell of Milwaukee were here to challenge the winner. Leonard is frank to admit Hammer gave him the toughest fight of his career. This bout took place in 1916 at Kansas City, just before Leonard won the lightweight championship.

Fight By Rounds

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., July 4.—[Special.]—The detail by rounds of the Leonard-Kansas lightweight championship boxing match follows:

FIRST ROUND—They shook hands. Leonard tried to keep Kansas facing the sun and struck a right to the face as they went into a clinch. Rocky put a light left to the body and Bennie missed a right uppercut. Rocky was short with a left for the body and Bennie stopped a right for the chin. Leonard struck straight left into Rocky's nose and followed with a left hook to the body. Bennie jabbed three times with the left hand without a return. Leonard kept continuously sticking his left hand in Kansas' face and suddenly crossed a right to the jaw at the bell. It was Leonard's round.

SECOND ROUND—Leonard struck straight to the face and Kansas missed left to the body. Rocky put light left to Leonard's face but received a solid right to the jaw in return. Leonard drove a straight right to Kansas' stomach and blocked Rocky's wild left for the head, as they went into a clinch. Leonard picked off Rocky's blows in the air and was continually sticking his left in Rocky's face. Kansas drove a left through Bennie's guard to his stomach. They traded left hands to the jaw and went into a clinch as the bell sounded. Leonard had a shade.

THIRD ROUND—Leonard put a light left to the jaw and Kansas fell down backing away from a clinch. Bennie nailed Kansas with a right cross to the chin, keeping after the challenger in relentless fashion. Kansas was wild and his blows missed by wide margins. Leonard's left hand was always in evidence and kept Kansas at a safe distance. Rocky landed a left hook to Bennie's jaw and the champion broke ground. Bennie peppered with rights and lefts to the head and Kansas drove in close at the bell. Leonard's round.

FOURTH ROUND—Kansas let go a straight left and it was low. Kansas missed with left swing for head and Bennie nailed him with a right to the head. They traded body punches and on the break away Leonard sunk a left in Kansas's stomach. He followed this with a right cross to the jaw, and as Kansas held on Bennie ripped three right uppercuts. Leonard chased Rocky around the ring and Kansas went into a clinch. The blood started to flow from Rocky's nose. Leonard drove rights and lefts to the stomach at the bell. Leonard's round by wide margin.

FIFTH ROUND—Leonard kept Kansas facing the sun and had him on the retreat most of the time. Leonard's defense was almost perfect and he beat Kansas to the punch on every occasion. Bennie pumped straight lefts to Kansas' face and crossed his right to the stomach. Leonard pulled a one two on Rocky and made the Italian back away. Kansas missed with left swing and Bennie drove his right to the chin and stomach. The champion caught a left on the jaw and they went into a clinch on the ropes at the bell. Leonard's round.

SEVENTH ROUND—Leonard put straight lefts and rights to Kansas' face and backed away from a wild left swing. The champion ripped in a left hook to Kansas' jaw and blocked a left swing for the body. Kansas landed lightly to the head, but Bennie came back with a solid left to the body at close quarters. Leonard pulled a right to the body and brought it up to the jaw. Kansas backed against the ropes and caught two rights on the jaw. The champion jumped away from a left swing and hopped back in with a heavy right to the jaw. Leonard forced the fighting and drove a solid left to Kansas' body on the ropes as the bell sounded. Leonard's round.

EIGHTH ROUND—Leonard struck a straight left to the face and forced Kansas into his own corner. Kansas missed a wild swing for the body and caught two lefts on the face. Leonard missed with a hard right swing but managed to knock Rocky back with straight lefts to the face. Leonard was trying to measure his man and forced him to the ropes where he peppered him with rights and lefts to the body. Rocky covered up as his manager, Dan Rogers threw a sponge into the ring as the silent sign of defeat. Kansas was out on his feet. The sponge was thrown into the ring after two minutes and thirty-two seconds of fighting in the eighth round.

CARP READY TO FIGHT GREB, BUT BUSINESS DELAYS TILL WINTER

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, July 4.—"Georges Carpentier is ready and willing to fight Harry Greb as soon as a match is arranged," said Francois Deschamps, the French champion's manager, in an interview with THE TRIBUNE tonight.

"THE TRIBUNE can announce to American fans that Georges is ready to meet Harry Greb or Jack Dempsey again, if public interest is shown and promoters arrange the bout. Carpentier cannot meet Greb before February, as we are under contract with film and theatrical engagements and exhibition boxing dates.

"Don't let the American people think that Georges is trying to avoid the Greb bout. It is simply that we cannot overthrow all our plans and arrangements every time we receive a challenge."

Asked about a Dempsey-Wills fight, Deschamps said:

"Dempsey can knock out Wills in one round if he wants. I know all about Wills. He is not in it with the champion."

Jack Curley was with Deschamps when the French manager was interviewed at the Midnight Follies here, and Georges was foxtrotting with Jack's wife and Pearl White.

LEONARD PUTS OVER KNOCKOUT IN EIGHTH

finishing blow, when the seconds threw the sponge into the ring. Their explanation is sufficient. They said it was to save him from being murdered.

More than 10,000 persons assembled to witness the match. More than 5,000 Chicagoans came down to the Queen City of the Dunes by train, by auto, by yacht, and by airplane to watch the battle. More than $25,000 of Chicago money flowed down into this little spot in Indiana, the Atlantic City of the west, and to the promoter who faced all the kicks and the complaints to pull off a sporting carnival which proved one of the best and cleanest ever handled in the country.

The crowd was one of the most spectacular and the most orderly ever assembled at any boxing match. More than 2,000 of the spectators were women and the color scheme of the big arena was beautiful.

The promoters had the judgment to select none of the easy bleeders for the preliminary matches, so that the effect was that of a perfect pink tea, with the stinger in the finishing punches concealed.

Crowds Pour In.

With the arrival of the first special train from Chicago the city of the dunes, after a fitful nap between firework explosions and fires, waked into full life. This being one of those old fashioned towns that measures patriotism by the number of houses burned and fingers blown off, not even the fighters who are paid to fight, had a chance to sleep.

Just at daybreak auto busses, autos, and trucks from all over this section commenced to pour into the town. Then a special came roaring down from Chicago and disgorged the first thousand of the Chicago fistic élite, and a heavy sprinkling of our best pickpockets and gunmen.

Chicago Dicks on Hand.

A heavy detail of detectives from Chicago was on the welcoming committee to tell the boys not to get their hands into the wrong pockets today. The first case of pocket picking was reported by a roar from a fat man ten minutes later. Some one had his wallet, his reserved seat, and his return ticket. His explosion only added to the din.

Before 9 o'clock today the crowd was swarming out to the big arena, and the ticket sellers were besieged by throngs. Two hundred or more fans were massed at the gates before the ticket men arrived, and at 9 o'clock the promoters sent out a squad of police to handle the crowds.

Weather Man Generous.

The weather was ideal and the promoters breathed more easily. They had not been able to insure the scrap against rain sufficiently, but the weather man saved the risk. The breeze tempered the heat of the sun, the sky was cloudless, and while the glare of the sun was blinding, the blue color scheme of the interior of the arena absorbed it and made it more comfortable inside than out.

American League Gets Guthrie, Southern Umpire

Memphis, Tenn., July 4.—[Special.]—Bill Guthrie, umpire of the Southern league, has gone to the American league. John D. Martin, president of the league, announced today that Guthrie had been released to the major body and was on his way. He left New Orleans Monday night. Guthrie umpired in the Western league last season. He is a strapping big fellow and has an impressive style upon the field.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

TOURNAMENT EXPERIENCE.

THE Wake's contention that competitive experience is an essential factor in reaching topmost positions in any branch of sport was strikingly illustrated in the western amateur golf tourney at Kansas City last week.

George Von Elm, a brilliant young player from Salt Lake City, was opposed to our Chick Evans in the finals. Chick had more difficulty in reaching the ultimate round than George. The latter had shown a brand of golf which forecast a ding dong finish. Chick had behind him fifteen years of tournament experience. George had risen to prominence in the last three years. The issue was between a resourceful confident veteran and a sterling but less experienced player.

In the nerve racking final test, Evans was at his best while his opponent clearly was not at the top of his game. Evans practically determined the result on the morning round, taking victory even more easily than the score of 5 and 4 indicated.

Evans' showing indicates that Chicago, as usual, will be well represented for the national amateur title.

"Gran'pa's" Place.

Tho' years have passed, these summer days
Bring mem'ries sweet; again I gaze
O'er quiet fields to woodland thick,
Through whose soft shade the narrowing "crick"
Goes rippling on to wider space;
And over yon another place,
A shaded hillside—artist's dream,
Or subject fit for poet's theme.
There stands a linden reaching wide,
Where tiny fairies might abide;
And from its boughs a monstrous swing—
To childish hearts most welcome thing—
That rides far out o'er grasses wild,
Its burden light, a laughing child;
And far beneath, a brook in play
Goes gurgling on the livelong day.
The stately grandsire marching by
Regards the scene with twinkling eye.
His sons' and daughters' children small
Arrive each year at Summer's call.
And so these summer days again
Bring back a scene no writer's pen
Can full describe, 'twould but abase—
Child's fairyland at "Gran'pa's" place.

I've always tried to cater to Dame Fashion,
I've followed her, a most obedient slave;

Her language points to that which really hurts,
For in a manner that is truly wasteful,
She has ordered us to lengthen all our skirts.

PAL MOORE AND MANDELL DRAW IN MEMPHIS RING

Memphis, Tenn., July 4.—Pal Moore and Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., bantamweights, fought eight fast rounds here tonight. Mandell's weight was given as 121 pounds and Moore's 117½. Both men traveled at top speed throughout the bout.

Referee Haack stated that had he rendered a decision he would have called the bout a draw.

PLANE CARRYING FIGHT PICTURES SETS NEW RECORD

The Triangle Airways Inc., six passenger flying boat, the Isla De Luzon, that was chartered by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to fetch pictures of the Kansas-Leonard boxing match in Michigan City, Ind., yesterday broke all records for flight between Chicago and the resort city. The air lines distance between clear water at each port is 39.5 miles and the flying boat made the trip in exactly twenty-six minutes.

The Isla De Luzon was the first ship to land in Chicago from the flight. Sixteen minutes after the flying boat was tied fast to a buoy at the foot of Randolph street the second airplane—a land ship—set its wheels on the ground at Grant park.

Pilots Work Fast.

The race to Chicago with the pictures had the spice of competition. The sponge that Kansas' seconds threw into the air at Michigan City had hardly touched the floor of the ring when two TRIBUNE photographers were racing for the exits of the stadium. Outside a high powered motor car was panting. It roared through the streets to a dock at the harbor. There a swift motor boat picked up the photographers and their plates.

As the bow of the motor boat scraped the bow of the flying boat, Mechanic E. F. Engstrom started the Liberty motor. The photographers scrambled aboard. The anchor lines were cast off, and before the camera men were settled in their seats, the Liberty broke into a roar.

Reach Chicago at 7:16.

It was 6:50 p. m. Chicago daylight savings time, when Pilot G. R. Benedict, a veteran aviator, put the nose of the ship into the path of the setting sun and the old Liberty, aided by a fair wind, pushed the boat along at the tune of 110 miles an hour. At 6:55 the Wrigley tower could be seen. At 7:16 the Isla De Luzon was fast to a buoy.

The previous record for the flight was 32 minutes and it was made by Pilot Richard Pears in a sister ship.

JACK PICKETT, OLD TIME BALL PLAYER, DEAD

John Thomas (Jack) Pickett, a familiar figure on midwestern ball fields nearly a half century ago, and manager of the A. G. Spalding bat factory, died yesterday at Mercy hospital, following an operation Friday. He is survived by his wife and a daughter.

Pickett will be remembered by old time baseball fans as a veteran of the days of Cap Anson. When Anson was guiding the destinies of the Chicago club, Pickett was a member of the Philadelphia nine in the old National league. From there he went to Baltimore, Brooklyn, and other eastern teams, finally winding up his diamond play as manager of Green Bay in the old Wisconsin-Illinois league.

For the last twenty-four years Pickett has been employed by the Spalding sporting goods company. He was a well known figure, both as umpire and player, in semi-pro games in and near Chicago. He resided at 6556 Greenwood avenue.

One obstreperous bird, heated with the sun and some red eye, was forcibly ejected by the chief of police for trying to run the show. This happened during the opening show. We will have to give it to the Michigan City police. Traffic was extremely well regulated here and there was order every minute outside and inside the [illegible].

When the seventh inning arrived, just before the big bout every one stretched and Rocky Kansas slipped into the ring unnoticed. The photographers were on the job, however. A minute later Leonard pushed through the ropes to meet the cheers of the crowd and the battery of cameras. Then there were more people in the [illegible] than there are housed in Dunning, and some of them were—well, write your own ticket.

When two rounds of the big blowoff were finished, no blood was spilled and the gang was calling for action. They got it in the third session, but there was no blood.

Davey Miller kept the two big lads going all through the fracas. The lads behaved well and broke on his word. A referee who has the respect of the boxers, is a good referee.

Promoter Fitzsimmons took the necessary precaution to have an extra canvas cover for the ring and two sets of gloves for each bout. Fitz asserted he was not taking chances of having the bouts spoiled by a torn canvas or ripped glove.

Bennie Leonard, Manager Billy Gibson, and party will leave for New York tomorrow. The title holder will resume training upon arrival for his fifteen round decision contest with Lew Tendler on July 27.

Leonard was sorry to learn Rocky had met with the unfortunate injury. The champion asserted he remembered stepping inside of a left swing in the third round. The blow landed on Leonard's head, and he said this may have been the cause of the fractured bone.

* * *

The thing that pleased Leonard most, was the fact he emerged from the fight without hurting his hands. Bennie said Kansas is a hard man to fight because chances must be taken of hitting him on top of the head or on the elbows to make him uncover.

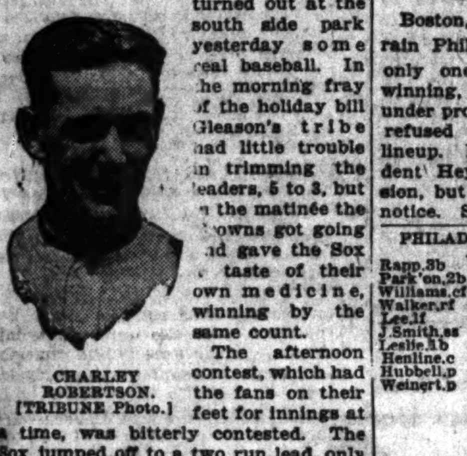
BY FRANK SCHREIBER.

Lee Fohl's pace setting Browns and the White Sox showed 38,000 fans who turned out at the south side park yesterday some real baseball. In the morning fray of the holiday bill Gleason's tribe had little trouble in trimming the leaders, 5 to 3, but in the matinée the Browns got going and gave the Sox a taste of their own medicine, winning by the same count.



CHARLEY ROBERTSON.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The afternoon contest, which had the fans on their feet for innings at a time, was bitterly contested. The Sox jumped off to a two run lead, only to have the margin knocked to splinters when the Browns assaulted Red Faber for four tallies in a sixth inning rally.

Robertson Wins A. M. Game.

The morning game saw Charley Robertson of no-hit-no-run fame on the rubber, and Charley breezed through the nine innings in fine shape, strong and timely batting by his mates keeping him just two runs ahead of the Browns throughout the contest.

Charley was a great hurler in the pinches, while young "Pod" Pruett, who started for the league leaders, yelled for help after the Sox had battered his offerings for two runs in the fifth and started to repeat the performance in the sixth.

Urban Shocker worked a relief for Pruett, but didn't get by. The Sox lammed his benders for a run in the sixth and followed with another tally in the seventh. It was the first contest Shocker had worked in since his lay off due to a strained tendon.

Danforth Winner in Second.

For the matinée Fohl trotted out the venerable Dave Danforth and Danny went right along and followed the example set by Robertson in the morning session. Danforth was touched for two runs in the fifth inning, but the Browns came back with a rush and pushed over four in their sixth, and that decided the game.

The Sox scored again in the eighth, but so did the Browns, leaving the visitors with a two run lead. In the ninth Danforth threatened to blow up and Manager Fohl again called on Shocker, and this time Urban wound up the contest in a hurry with the aid of a double play.

Faber Weakens in Sixth.

Red Faber started the matinée in the same form which made him famous as the premier hurler of the American league, but wabbled badly in the sixth. In that session five solid singles and a sacrifice fly went to score the Browns' runs that brought defeat to the south siders.

In the forenoon contest Earl Sheely led the Sox in the swatting with a double and a pair of singles, while Shorten was the St. Louis ace with three singles.

McManus led the Browns' matinée attack with three singles and a sacrifice in four trips to the plate. Sisler, Jacobson, and Severeid each contributed two hits which figured in the scoring. Eight hits were all the Sox could collect.

SOX LEAVE ON EASTERN TRIP

Kid Gleason led his Sox tribe away last night immediately after the game on the second Sox invasion of the east. The Sox will play an exhibition game today in Erie, Pa., and open the jaunt around the hostile grounds of the east at Philadelphia tomorrow.

GIANTS-ROBINS TIE, 5-5.

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—In a weird battle of fourteen innings the Giants and Dodgers quit with the score tied, 5 to 5, at the Polo grounds this afternoon. No morning game was played because of wet grounds. A drizzling rain fell in the afternoon from the sixth inning to the finish. The Battle might have been fought to a decision, but the Brooklyn players had to catch a train for St. Louis. Thirty-one men took part in the long drawn out contest. Score:

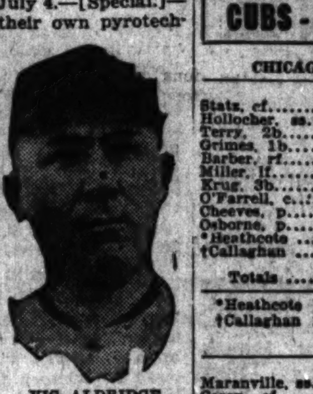
Cubs Go on Rampage and Whip Pirates Twice, 8-4, 8-0

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 4.—[Special.]—The Cubs set off their own pyrotechnics in the form of a brilliant cluster of base hits against the Pirates today and won both ends of the holiday bill, 8 to 4 and 8 to 0. By celebrating in such fashion the Killefer klan passed the Corsairs in the league standing and are now only one game shy of the 500 mark. They conquered the locals by collecting a total of twenty-seven blows off five pitchers, four of whom performed in the morning.



VIC ALDRIDGE.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The afternoon contest was featured by the great pitching of Vic Aldridge, who held the Pirates to two hits, one by Carey in the fourth, and the other by Maranville in the sixth. Rohwer was the only other Pirate to get on, drawing a pass in the eighth. He was not there long, for Grimm hit into a double play.

Batting Change Helpful.

Killefer switched his batting order in the morning battle. Marty Krug was not hitting, so he changed places with Zeb Terry, whose timely two base hit down the third base line in the sixth won for the Cubs. Before the second sacker came to bat Killefer's athletes evened up a three run lead assumed by the Pirates in the fifth.

In that session Miller started off with a single and O'Farrell and Heathcote drew passes. Statz poked out his third hit, sending Miller and O'Farrell across. This put the Cubs in a tie and also forced Manager McKechnie to remove Glazner in favor of Cooper. Hollocher greeted the left hander with a single to left, filling the bases, after which Terry laced out his double, cleaning the bases of Callahan, who ran for Heathcote, Statz, and Hollocher. When Grimes contributed a single Cooper was given the air, to be supplanted by Carlson.

Cheeves Relieved by Osborne.

Virgil Cheeves, who started for Killefer, pitched effectively in the first four innings, but weakened in the fifth, the Pirates getting their three runs on as many hits and two passes.

Jeff Osborne took up the job of stopping the Pirates, and did so in commendable fashion until the ninth, when Bigbee singled and Tierney tripled with two out for the locals' final point. The Cubs added two runs to their total in the eighth on Hollocher's second two bagger, Grimes' sacrifice fly, a three bagger by Barber, and a wild pitch by Carlson.

While the Pirates were being subdued by Aldridge in the afternoon game the Cubs took picks on Johnny Morrison, clubbing him for fourteen hits.

Cubs Start Early in P. M.

In the first inning of the matinée Hollocher singled and stole second, scoring on Grimes' blow. The Cubs then put on a big fourth. In this round they pasted Morrison for four hits. Grimes began with a walk. Barber sacrificed, to be followed by a double by Miller, a single by Krug, the same by O'Farrell, and a base hit by Statz, four scoring.

In the eighth Miller and O'Farrell combined a single and triple for another marker, while in the ninth a pass to Grimes, Barber's double, and Miller's fourth hit raised the count to eight.

FANS NEAR RIOT AS BLOOMERS WIN PAIR AT PEORIA

Peoria, Ill., July 4.—Bloomington defeated Peoria in both games of a doubleheader marked by the arrest of Outfielder Callahan of the Bloomers and numerous clashes between the fans of the two teams. The scores of the games were 7-5 and 3-0.

In the fifth inning of the first game Callahan went over into the bleachers after fans who were showering him with fire crackers. A police officer interfered and the player and officer battled several minutes before they were parted. Near rioting was renewed at the end of the contest when Callahan was arrested and escorted from the field.

Manager Sykes of the Bloomers declared the second game off and his players started for their hotel. President J. C. Ryan of the Peoria club secured Callahan's release from police court and the second game was played. Several fist fights were staged between the fans of the two teams.

MANORS WIN TWO GAMES.

Marquette Manors of the Midwest association defeated the Mark Greys of Zanesville, O., 1 to 0, in a morning game at Pyott field yesterday. It was a hurling duel between Johnny Overlock and Lefty Kime, the latter having the shade on hits, although he allowed two to be bunched in the sixth for the only run of the game. In the afternoon the Manors won by 6 to 5. Scores:

Studebaker Bodies Don't Rattle or Squeak

Studebaker bodies rest squarely on the chassis frame—not on the body sills. The body and the frame form a rigid unit that successfully resists the rack of the road.

Studebaker bodies are built in Studebaker shops by men, many of whom have been building vehicle bodies for Studebaker for upwards of 30 years—and their fathers before them. Studebaker has been building fine bodies for seventy years.

Studebaker Special-Six bodies, because of their quality and soundness, weigh more than those of other cars around the Special-Six price. You cannot skimp in material and build a body that will not rattle.

Freedom from rattle or squeak is just another of the fine-car refinements that emphasize the extra value of the Studebaker Special-Six.

The Special-Six chassis frame is 7" deep. It tapers from a width of 29" in the front to 41" in the rear, so that the sides of the body fit perfectly without overhang. Five cross-members prevent the distortion that eventually causes bodies to squeak.

BY JOE DAVIS.

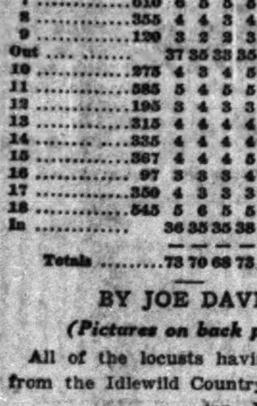
All of the locusts having departed from the Idlewild Country club Walter Hagen, the new British open champion, and his traveling companion, Joe Kirkwood, from the land of the Kangaroo, introduced a flock of "birdies" in their thirty-six hole match against Jack Hutchison of Glen View and Laurie Ayton yesterday, upsetting the local pair by a margin of 8 and 7.



LAURIE AYTON.

The match had traveled along on an even keel for seven holes, the man on the lookout reporting all square. Then the visiting team let loose the birdies. Kirkwood took the eighth hole, 355 yards, with a 3, and at the ninth the partners each had twos. Hagen won the tenth hole, 275 yards, with a 3, and took the eleventh, 585 yards, with a 4.

Four holes in a row completely altered the complexion of the match and the local team did not reduce this lead until the eighteenth, where Ayton got a birdie 4 and left his side three down at the interval.

Afternoon Margin Widens.

This was not a decisive margin, but the afternoon play was recessional, as far as the Chicago players were concerned. The tourists won the second, third, and fifth holes, and were 6 up. Ayton won the eighth, 355 yards, with a birdie 3, but the British open champion got down a good putt for a 2 at the ninth, which left his side 6 up at the ninth hole, and birdies by Hagen and Kirkwood at the tenth and a birdie by Hagen at the eleventh settled the match.

The morning round was a real golf match, which thrilled a gallery of 1,000, but the after-luncheon session lacked the same pyrotechnical effects. Kirkwood's putting was of the kind that the gallery looks for from players of championship class, but does not always see. He had putts ranging from six to ten feet at the third, fifth, eighth, ninth, and eighteenth holes, which helped him to turn in a competitive record of 68, five strokes under par for the 6,346 yard course.

All Putt Consistently.

Ayton sank a long uphill putt on the fourth green, and at the sixth Jock holed a downhill putt of twelve feet. Hagen was also consistent on the greens.

The driving in the afternoon was not as straight as in the morning, an easterly breeze bothering the players at some of the holes. Hagen won the second hole, 465 yards, with a birdie 4, having only a short putt, while Jock missed a four footer for a half.

Jock and Laurie both pulled to the rough at the fifth hole, and Jock's second again was in the rough, while Ayton was trapped. They each took fives and lost to par fours by the other side.

Prize to Kirkwood.

There was a prize of $50 for the best round and this went to Kirkwood. His total for the double round was 142, Hagen taking 143 and Jock and Laurie 148. Jock was not in good shape, as coming over on the boat he had a severe attack of ptomaine poisoning.

The Idlewild course was in great shape, especially the greens. The gallery was well managed by members of the club.

ROSS AND MISS DE VRY SWIM TO A. A. U. TITLES

BY GEORGE BUCKLEY.

Using a trudgeon kick and a double beat stroke, Norman Ross of the I. A. C. world's record holder in several events, loafed through to the Central A. A. U. championship in the men's free style 100 yard swim in 1:04 1-5 at the Lincoln park lagoon yesterday. The event was a part of the Lincoln Park Boat club's annual Fourth of July regatta, and was witnessed by a big crowd that lined the waterway. Ross finished twenty feet ahead of R. G. Alexander, also of the I. A. C., who led M. F. Kelleher of the local club by a like distance.

NORMAN ROSS.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Swimming the crawl with a pronounced scissors kick, Minnie De Vry of the I. A. C. finished an easy winner for the women's 440 yard free style championship, turning the distance in 7:14 1-5.

Miss De Vry Wins Handily.

Miss De Vry won off by herself, touching the buoy at 220 yards with a forty foot advantage. Miss Edna O'Connell, a teammate, placed second, leading Miss Ruby A. Blood, unattached, by ten yards.

The events brought out what was probably the smallest field that ever competed in a Central A. A. U. title meet, only three starters facing the gun in each race.

In the home club's canoe and shell races Leroy Coombs proved the best all around water dog by winning the quarter mile single paddle race, taking second place in the 440 yard double canoe event with his partner, W. Exham, and with W. Rathberger, spilling L. Sherer and Williams for tilting honors.

A summary of the events follows:

BRITISH GOLFERS LAND IN GOTHAM FOR TOUR OF U. S.

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—Passengers on the Majestic, which arrived here from Southampton today, were three British golfers of note, George Duncan, Abe Mitchell, pros, and Willie Hunter, winner of the British amateur championship in 1921 and semi-finalist in the American national amateur championship at St. Louis last summer. All three will leave for Chicago Thursday to take part in the national open.

FIVE WORLD RECORDS SET UP BY MERMAIDS; FOUR BY MISS BAUER

NEW YORK, July 4.—Five world's swimming records for a seventy-five foot Pool were shattered today at Brighton beach, four by Miss Sybil Bauer, back stroke champion of the Illinois Athletic club, Chicago, and a fifth by Miss Aileen Riggin of the Women's Swimming association, New York.

Miss Bauer, who began her record breaking performances in metropolitan waters a few days ago at Manhattan beach, set new back stroke marks today for 50 yards, 200 meters, and 220 yards in special invitation events.

She broke her own record of 35 3-5 for 50 yards by a full second, leading Miss Riggin and Frances Clarke of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde to the finish line. Her other three records, all made in the 220 yard event, were: 200 yards, 2:51 4-5; 200 meters, 3:06 4-5; 220 yards, 2:07 1-5. Miss Clarke was second and Miss Dorothy Donohue of the Women's Swimming association third.

Miss Riggin, competing from scratch in a handicap 300 yard invitation race, beat Miss Ethel Baker, a clubmate, in the record time of 4:23.

CHARLES PADDOCK SMASHES RECORDS AT SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 4.—Charles Paddock, California's super-sprinter, made five new world's records here today in competition at a sanctioned meet over a measured track. They were:

175 yards—:17. [This clipped 1 1-5 seconds from the record.]

125 yards—:12 1-5. [1-5 of a second off the record.]

80 yards—:07 4-5. [1-5 second off the record.]

70 yards—:07 1-10. [1-10 second off the record.]

60 yards—:06 1-5. [1-5 second off the record.]

Paddock also equaled the record of :09 3-5 for the 100 yard dash and :07 3-5 for 75 yards. He breasted the tape first in every distance of every race except the 50 yard distance of the first of the three sprints, in which Eddie Sudden led with :05 2-5 seconds, not a record, and the 65 yard dash of the third race, which Sudden also won.

The day was ideal and the officials all men of experience, headed by President Robert Weaver of the California A. A. U.

Three official timers caught Paddock at :17 and two unofficial timers of experience agreed with them. One of the latter was Robert Edgren. Andrew Crow of Santa Barbara high school also competed and ran third in each event.

SUZANNE ENTERS NET SEMI-FINALS; BEATS MISS RYAN

WIMBLEDON, England, July 4.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen gave a superb exhibition of tennis today, and in doing so eliminated Elizabeth Ryan of California, formerly United States champion, in two straight sets, 6—1, 8—6, and qualified for the semi-finals in the women's singles of the turf court championship tournament here.

ELIZABETH RYAN.
[Topical Press Photo]

In the men's singles J. O. Anderson, the Australian ace and member of the Davis cup team, defeated his teammate, Pat O'Hara Wood, 6—3, 6—3, 2—6, 2—6, 6—4, after a bitterly fought match that stretched over forty-four games.

Girls at Top Strength.

The two singles brushes were the only matches played, a heavy rain playing havoc with the schedule. As a result hope of finishing the tournament in all classes by Saturday is blasted.

The Lenglen-Ryan encounter brought out the finest net play of both stars, the California girl reaching her greatest height in the second set, when she carried her opponent to an 8-6 score. Miss Ryan used her topstroke with excellent form and great speed, but found Suzanne's defense and brilliant placement shots unbeatable.

Anderson in Semi-Finals.

Anderson by his victory qualified for the semi-final bracket, but only triumphed after his teammate had put up a wonderful struggle. Anderson owed his victory to his terrific serve and zippy placement shots that precluded any possibility of return. Wood did some excellent volleying and his net work in the final set was well nigh perfect.

SALLY VII. SHOWS HEELS TO FLEET IN LAKE REGATTA

Sally VII., the Fox, and Knauer 35 foot sloop, added another victory to its long list yesterday, when it showed its heels to the fleet of the Lake Michigan Yachting association which sailed in the annual regatta off Belmont Harbor. The old Seawanhaka single sticker made the course in 1:38:08, which was better time by 25 seconds than that of Columbia, which won second fleet honors.

Sally also took first in the 35 foot class. H. Redmon's Columbia was victor over the 30 foot boats, Don Prather's Intrepid won the P class contest, and George H. Spies' Siren brought home the berries in the Q class.

Springtime, Vandal Win.

Gust Nylund's Springtime copped the honors from the raceabouts and W. P. Newcomb's Vandal trimmed the 20 and 25 footers. Commodore Thornby's Omoo had no difficulty in winning the yawl contest, while E. M. Railton's Gossoon beat the other R boats.

The wind was ten to fifteen miles strong and the sea fairly smooth.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY FRANK RIDGWAY

WHY GARDENS ARE WEEDY.

WEEDS are so common in the average garden that most gardeners have come to think that they are necessary evils and cannot be stamped out. In spite of this general belief a weedless garden is possible and a few good gardeners are able to exhibit these rare weedless plots every year. Most weeds, like lettuce and radishes, spring from seed every year. Since most of the weeds are annuals, coming from seed each year, they can be kept under control and in some cases entirely eliminated from the garden if the seeds are destroyed.

Attempts have been made to invent machines that could be drawn over the ground and heat the upper layers of the soil to such a high temperature that all the weed seeds would be charred and their germination properties destroyed, but so far no practical machine has ever been made for the gardener to use. The job of chopping them down with a hoe year after year becomes monotonous and is hard work that can be avoided. The only sure and practical way to keep weeds out of the garden is to never allow a single plant to go to seed. With the hundreds and thousands of seeds produced by a plant it would only take a few to reseed the entire area of the average home garden.

Many gardeners try to hold weeds in check by not allowing them to go to seed, but they usually become discouraged too soon. It takes from two to four seasons to wipe them out completely. The seeds that were plowed or spaded under last season will be turned up to germinate this year. Weeds grow rapidly at this time of the year and must be watched carefully to keep them from going to seed.

A. was second to finish, and won second time prize. His time was :56:06 while Al Dealinger of the Calertons, was third finisher and third time winner with a mark of :56:12. Other summaries:

You might as well be cool

A man's bodily comfort in summer depends largely on his clothing. The fabric in a Palm Beach Suit lets the heat escape from the body. This quality, together with its thinness, makes it a blessing in hot weather.

You can get Palm Beach Suits in any pattern or color. The price, of course, depends on the amount of tailoring skill and talent that is devoted to making the suit.

The Palm Beach label guarantees you the quality of the cloth, and for your protection it is sewn in every suit of the genuine cloth.

Golf Knickers made of Palm Beach are cool and good-looking—practical and durable.

The Fish Bit; the Girl Hit! What Chance Had Dan?

"OUR LEADING CITIZEN."
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Alfred Green.
Presented at the Chicago.

THE CAST:

Daniel Bentley	Thomas Meighan
Katherine Fendel	Lois Wilson
Oglesby Fendel	William P. Carlton
Colonel Sam	Theodore Roberts
Cale Higginson	Guy Oliver
G. Sylvester Dudley	Laurance Wheat
Hon. Cyrus Blagdon	James Neill
Editor	Lucien Littlefield
Judge	Charles Ogle
Mrs. Bidsey	Sylvia Ashton

By Mae Tinée.

I reckon George Ade had an awfully good time writing this story. I'm SURE Mr. Meighan et al had lots of fun making the picture and I am here to tell you straight from the heart dudt that Mr. Green, who directed the star and his cohorts in their efforts, deserves to be patted on the back.

Our leading citizen was a lawyer by profession and a fisherman by preference. The Satan he was never able to tell, to get behind him was one Cale Higginson who always knew when the bass were biting and who, no matter what the time or place, relegated the news to Dan Bentley. Mr. Bentley then lost all interest in other things. So far as he cared a hurrah, the rest of the world might go by. Just he and Cale with their lines and bait, a lake or river that had fish, and fish that bit, mattered.

Until—the world war. Dan HAD to go and win that. He came back, however, the same lazy Dan. And there was Satan Higginson; and there were the fish and the waters and the sleepy old town.

AND a girl!

Ah, now reckon with the girl. She had met Dan overseas and knew what he could do when he wanted to. Under the spur of her contempt, then, the fish gain a respite; Satan maunders around alone, while Mr. Bentley makes a sleepy old town sit up on its haunches and give the world a once over. He is finally elected congressman by a ONCE sleepy old town which he has caused to wake up for fair.

There's a lot of chicanery connected with Dan's run for congress but this no must tell you about. See the picture for the details.

It's really a lovely picture. Beautifully acted and photographed. By humans FOR humans.

CLOSEUPS

Mabel Normand will be back from Europe around about Aug. 15 to start work on a new Sennett picture.

Before she could wash her face or do up her hair Mary Pickford was recently called upon to play hostess to the thirteenth international convention of Rotarians. They were making the rounds of the studio, and there was "Little Mary" right in the midst of a scene for "Tess of the Storm Country." Nothing to do but put on her best company smile and pretend that she was glad to see 'em, was there?

The name of Jane Novak's first starring vehicle will be "Colleen of the Pines."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Child Needs Wheel Chair.

"I want to appeal to you in behalf of a little girl, 6 years old, who has not walked for three years. Her old grandmother is not always able to carry her, so she has to sit in one place for want of a wheel chair. Such a chair would be greatly appreciated.
"C. H."

Who will be the good angel to help this child get some air and sunshine? She cannot live without it. Who gives her a chair saves a life.

Been in the Hospital.

"I have heard how much good you have done, so I am coming to you in my need. I have a baby who is fast growing and no bed or carriage for him. If he had the carriage he could sleep in it, too. I would not ask, only I have been in the hospital so long and am not able to carry him.
"Mrs. H. R."

Some one will help Mrs. H. R., I feel sure, for there are many baby carriages that must be empty these days. Who will give her one?

Doris Blake

All a Girl May Do.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl 22 years old, and work with a young man three years my senior. Although he has never invited me out, I love him and can't help thinking of him constantly, day and night. Even though he speaks to the other girls of the office, he seems to encourage me more than the others. Won't you please tell me how I can become more acquainted with him, as I certainly would love to go out with him.
WAITING."

If he sees you every day and still makes no move to invite you out, it looks a little discouraging, doesn't it? About all a poor girl can do under the circumstances is to remain hopeful, look her prettiest, and mayhap extend just a little more sympathetic interest in his hopes and ambitions, if he has any, than the other girls.

Hurt His Pride.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 17, and have a boy friend one year my senior. Only lately he asked me to attend an affair up at his aunt's home, but I refused. This caused us to be angry at each other. Dear Miss Blake, do you think it was right of me to go to that party? I know he is fond of me, so will you please tell me how to regain his friendship?
"ANXIOUS."

Why did you not go to the party at his auntie's home, dear? I think that was nice of him to extend the invitation. Naturally, his pride would have been hurt because explaining to his aunt would have to be done, which would not have been easy under the circumstances. You will have to square yourself now with a good excuse or an apology.

Voile Frock for the Girl in Her Mid-teens

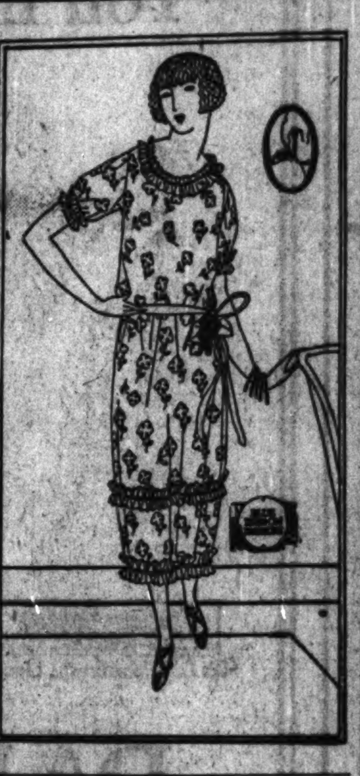
by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—For her reading matter she may select "Rose in Bloom," but when it comes to dressing matter the girl of from 14 to 18 will do much better to select old rose. That is to say, if she be a brunette sub-deb.

This tint is found in some of the most delightful of imported voiles and in the drawing it forms the background for a design of soft green. Ruches of harmonizing green voile outline neck and sleeves, and a girdle of green grosgrain ribbon is punctuated by equally verdant grapes.

Voiles play an important part in the drama of summer clothes, and among their number may be mentioned the candy striped silk voiles made up so effectively into morning frocks for maid and matron. In spite of the prevalence of the figured fabric, however, black and navy blue organdy seem to have lost none of their hold.

Certainly the woman who wants to wear a real summery frock on the city streets can do nothing wiser than to pick out either this fabric in one of the dark hues or else the serviceable black swiss with white dot.



Sunday fashion page will be found in the New Color Section.

Dobbin Climbs an Alp.

One day my sister, Babe, and I went to town in the old buggy, hitched up with our ancient horse.

In due time we jogged into town. The streets had curbs that were at least two feet high. As I drove up to the leading store I let Dobbin take his course, thinking he would know enough to stop where he should.

Imagine my surprise when he raised his bewhiskered front hoofs and laid them on the curb. Babe immediately brought forth more spectators by yelling, and waving her arms excitedly. By the time old Dobbin, with the aid of a bystander, had gingerly removed his hoofs from the shrine, the drowsy little town was thoroughly aroused and highly amused.
M. M. M.

Some years ago, while a professor of an eastern university, I made a trip west, stopping en route, where I was entertained at dinner by friends socially prominent in that city. Only three relatives of the host were invited, including an elderly woman whom I believed to be Mrs. Anderson.

Discussing marriage and the number of unmarried women in New England, I made this sage remark: "I have been told that since the opportunities for marriage are so much greater in the west it is considered a disgrace to be an old maid."

My hostess now kindly informed me that the woman directly opposite me, on her left, was Miss Anderson.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MABEL: FREQUENTLY INDIGESTION registers itself with a red nose. Poor circulation, too. But these things usually go together. I should advise a more hygienic diet, with fresh vegetables and lean meats rather than the canned foods and porks and gravies. Taboo the candy entirely for awhile. Drink much water, and then play tennis, golf, swim, walk, or do some exercise daily. Also, let the cold shower stir up the blood circulation mornings. Perhaps you better get my youth preservers, a set of twelve exercises to be done daily, which will get and keep you in good shape. They are in illustrated form.

W. M.: IT CANNOT BE DONE, W. M. In order to get some flesh spread over your legs and ankles it must be a part of a general building up. If you are willing to permit that, then I can give you the directions if you will send the necessary s. a. e.

This old fashioned melodrama was given first in 1909 and practically the same cast will repeat it. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Farwell Winston of Lake Forest.

Betty is a litle southern beauty in spirit as well as in body. Always she finds things lovable in everything and everybody, and if she cannot say kind things she speaks not at all. It was cold and raw when she visited Chicago recently. With her aunt and mother she sat at a luncheon table in the loop.

"My hands are terribly cold," said mother.

"It's too bad the weather should be so chilly," the aunt agreed.

Betty, with even a good word for a bad Chicago day, held up her hands. "Mine didn't get cold," she said with a smile. Then honesty compelled her to add—"except a little around the edges." W. M.

Did Priscilla really ride on a white bull to the log church in Plymouth to marry John Alden?

Longfellow, in "The Courtship of Miles Standish," contended she did. The question yesterday provoked a serious debate at the annual reunion of the Midwest chapter of the Alden Kindred of America, held at the home of Col. S. F. Stewart, 2110 Orrington avenue, Evanston.

Seventy-five descendants of John Alden were gathered. Mrs. Jane Alden Hawes of Oak Park asserted Priscilla could not have ridden a white bull, as no cattle were imported to Plymouth until four years after her marriage.

Mrs. Harry Neely, 4207 Winchester avenue, Chicago, said that Longfellow told her when she visited his Cambridge home as a child that the white bull version was correct.

Frank Alden, president of the chapter, appointed a special committee to investigate.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special.]—The Vice President and Mrs. Coodidge today celebrated a double birthday—Uncle Sam's and Mr. Coolidge's. It was, however, a mild form of celebration for they spent the day quietly at their apartment in the Willard, and dined en famille tonight. Vice President Coolidge is 50 years old today.

Members of the Chilean delegation to the Tacna-Arica conference spent the Fourth of July holiday in Atlantic City at the Ambassador hotel. In the party were Carlos Aldunate, Luis Izquerdo and Alejandro Alvarez.

Mrs. Clarence Wilson, who is spending the summer abroad, is the guest of Jonkhree Van Swinderin, Netherlands' minister to Great Britain, and Mme. Van Swinderin, in London.

"Il Trovatore" Given Hearty Reception by Audience at Ravinia

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Il Trovatore," hardy perennial of all the operatic best sellers, held the stage at Ravinia last night. This specimen of the early Verdi output retains its call on the public. Only the most optimistic claim to be able to untangle its story—conductors spend hours in demonstrating how they can improve the performance of its music—but the public, rightly oblivious of all argument, turns out when it is billed.

It spurts tunes as a recently tapped well in Texas does oil. All that is needed is a quartet of sturdy dramatic voices whose owners can put their heels together and pour out their souls in melody, incidentally at other times drawing swords or registering surprise that a medium sized baritone could even in the dark be mistaken for a tall tenor. The audience might, if it stopped to think, register the same kind of surprise, but last night it was too busy applauding the performance.

There was reason for its approval. Morgan Kingston was the troubadour who, it would seem, always carries a harp with him when he goes to call upon a young lady in the evening. Frances Peralta was the young lady. The two excelled in their rôles, pitching their melodies in full throated splendor, as did Vicente Ballester, a prize among baritones. The second scene gave opportunity to Alice Gentle, somewhat patrician for an aged gypsy, but stirring, effective, and in fine vocal form. There was assistance in certain minor matters by Philine Falco, Giordano Paltrinieri, and others, and to a major extent by the best chorus Ravinia has ever known.

Jaroslav Gons, violoncellist, continued the course of summer recitals at the Ziegfeld theater yesterday morning. A good showman of the cello is he, expert in the twin arts of leaning heavily against a sentimental melody and of causing an enormous number of notes to become evident in a given interval of time.

If in his case the mechanics of speedy playing tend toward expeditious succession rather than complete accuracy of pitch, the passages are none the less nimble and therefore likely to be approved by his hearers. A sonata of olden manner by Piatti, a concerto by his near namesake, Goens; the Bruch "Kol Nidrei," and short pieces by Cui, Glazounow, Popper, and others were cheered by a small but enthusiastic audience.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Snow Pudding.

The term "snow pudding" seems always to have been an attractive one for a summer dessert. All the custard-like mixtures which might be frozen are excellent summer foods, and the better for chilling, even if they are not frozen. If anybody happens to need eggs, which are so indispensable in cookery, but might well be spared as a frequent ingredient of the diet, according to my way of thinking, snow pudding is a pretty way to get them and get some milk, too, which is good food first, last, and all the time.

Allow two eggs to each cup of milk. Beat whites and yolks separately. Bring milk to boiling point in a flat pan. When it is ready the egg whites should have been beaten stiff, slightly sweetened, and salted with a tiny bit of salt and perhaps flavored with a drop or two of a favorite essence. Dip this egg white up in spoonfuls, drop it on the milk, and peach it gently, then skim it out into serving dish. After all the egg whites have been cooked add the egg yolks beaten until they will ribbon with a tablespoon or two of sugar for each, cook to boiling point, flavor and pour over cooked whites. Chill well before serving with wafers or without. Instead of two eggs per cup of milk one egg and one tablespoon of cornstarch may be used, or this method may be used for utilizing egg whites, the milk being thickened entirely without the yolks. A number of variations of this udding may thus be made.

Of course, snow puddings are also made with gelatin, but a boiled custard which we get here in the second part is poured over the pudding.

FOR A CONSTIPATED CHILD

A small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will bring quick relief.

MOTHER, when one of the children is constipated are you going to give the first laxative within reach? It is dangerous to do so. Some have been known to rupture the intestines of little children. Don't be beguiled by the outside sugary appearance. Look into the formula. Calomel is seldom necessary; salts, minerals, coal tar, never!

Unlike these, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is admirable for children, as it is for grown people, too. Mothers have been giving it to children for 30 years. They know it does not gripe, and is free from narcotics. The formula is on every package, and you can see it is vegetable, just a combination of Egyptian Senna and other laxative herbs with pepsin. Use it yourself and you will find it is not necessary to take it every day, nor to increase the dose, and that it is pleasant to the taste. Bottles can be had at all drug stores, and the cost is only about a cent a dose. Have no hesitancy giving it to a baby in arms. It is absolutely safe.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free

Few escape constipation, so even if you do not require a laxative at this moment let me send you a Half-ounce Trial Bottle of my Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. Simply send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 514 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Write me today.

LABOR TROUBLE MAIN CLOUD IN BUSINESS SKIES

BY O. A. MATHER.

There is no lack of indications that the second half of this year will witness acceleration in the country's business. About the only drawbacks appearing at the present time are labor difficulties, headed by the railway and coal strikes. But there is doubt whether these major disturbances will continue into the autumn, which usually is a period of seasonal revival.

The views of bankers and business men generally reflect optimism. This feeling is based on the prospect for abundant harvests, ample credit facilities at moderate rates and the general disposition of the public to buy more generously than last autumn. In industries which are not affected by strikes there is a steady increase in employment, which agriculture is offering seasonal employment for a vast number of workers.

Federal Reserve Bank View.

In its monthly report on business conditions throughout the United States, the federal reserve board says in a special summary:

"The outstanding features of the economic development during the month have been the continued and noteworthy increase in the physical volume of production and a continuance of the advance in prices noted for the month of May, the wholesale price index number of the United States bureau of labor statistics showing an increase of 8 points for that month.

"An increase of production is noted in highly finished lines of manufacture as well as in basic industries. Wholesale groceries and hardware show a very pronounced advance over April but in dry goods and shoes a seasonal recession is reported. The retail trade for the first time in many months is in excess of that of a year ago.

"Although the production of anthracite coal has been reduced practically to nothing, the production of bituminous coal of nonunion mines has increased somewhat, at the same time that the petroleum output for the month has shown an advance as compared with April.

Employment Conditions Better

"General employment conditions have taken a very decided turn for the better. In some lines a scarcity of labor is now reported, as for example in the steel and building trades. Demand for agricultural labor also continues upward. Of fundamental interest has been the continued downward tendency of discount and money rates.

"May retail figures for the entire country covering sales of 451 department stores show an increase of 0.8 per cent in May sales as compared with May, 1921; stocks were 3.3 per cent less than in April and 6.7 per cent less than in May, 1921; and the turnover rate based on the cumulated percentage of stocks to sales since Jan. 1, 1922, was 2.8 times a year."

New York Bank's Survey.

The Mechanics and Metals National bank of New York summarizes the general situation as follows:

"Different people come to different conclusions from a survey of the many cross currents in present day affairs. Those who are cheerfully inclined take satisfaction in the continued fall of money rates, the sustained industrial activity, the reduced railroad tariffs and the prevailing demand for investment securities.

"Others less cheerfully inclined temper their satisfaction by setting over against the favorable indications those which are unpleasant; the labor difficulties, for example, which found their latest expression in the threat of a railroad strike and the coal strike violence; the tariff and bonus legislation; the indications given at recent electons of a change in the public's political sentiment; and, overshadowing all, the foreign difficulties which block the return of international prosperity.

Optimism Prevails.

"On the whole, the majority of American people are influenced by the favorable indications of the moment, and a distinct spirit of optimism prevails in financial and business circles. With money rates lower than at any time in a number of years, credit is a cheap and plentiful commodity, and it is not to be wondered that this consideration by itself has had a distinct effect on sentiment.

"With the reserves of our central banking system at a high point, and with gold continuing to flow into the country to add to those reserves and broaden the facilities for credit, there is every present assurance that the legitimate demands upon banking resources through the balance of the year will be readily met. Further reduction has occurred in the volume of 'frozen' agricultural loans which were carried over from last year, and this has contributed further to strengthen the credit position of the banks and to improve sentiment, especially in the west and south."

Department of Commerce Finds Business Reviving

Washington, D. C., July 4.—Figures to United States department of commerce to June 30 indicate the revival of business is getting on more substantial grounds. Among favorable features are the continued increase in iron and steel, now operating above pre-war level; sustained activity in building, which makes new records monthly; marked increase in production of automobiles and trucks; lower interest rates and increasing demand for money; increase in employment and decline in business failures. The stock market also continues active, with further advances in all classes of securities. Even the textile industry, somewhat backward in recent months, showed greater activity in May.

"Thou Hast Given a Banner to Them That Fear Thee, That It May Be Displayed Because of the Truth."

(Psalm lx., 4.)

America's Glorious Banner, or Flag, the Stars and Stripes of Red, White, and Blue, Shall Continue To Be Displayed as the Emblem of Truth.

"Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth: . . . Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in Heaven; for He maketh His sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust. . . . Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."
—CHRIST JESUS.

"I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also."
—ST. PAUL.

"The voice of God in behalf of the African slave was still echoing in our land, when the voice of the herald of this new crusade sounded the keynote of universal freedom, asking a fuller acknowledgment of the rights of man as a Son of God, demanding that the fetters of sin, sickness, and death be stricken from the human mind and that its freedom be won, not through human warfare, not with bayonet and blood, but through Christ's divine Science."—MARY BAKER EDDY.
(Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures, p. 226.)

WHOEVER attempts to "open the future's portals with the past's blood-rusted key" will experience a signal failure. The demand of our people for a National Anthem should be considered. Americans should be granted their inalienable right to use words and music which express sentiments suggestive of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," according to the dictates of conscience, the rights which are guaranteed by the Constitution, while another class of thinkers should be permitted to give utterance to their sentiments. This privilege will result in classification, and there will be no further doubt as to the law-abiding American.

The resistance to spiritual ideals, which progress, the law of God has aroused and the efforts to compel recognition and acceptance of the un-American, outgrown, and unworthy song, "The Star-Spangled Banner," reveal the fact that the hour has arrived when the people are called upon to choose anthems which shall be acknowledged as National Hymns and to establish them in the annals of history.

The responsibility is grave. Upon the shoulders of our representatives, who are chosen by the people to maintain America's standard and advance the nation toward life, liberty, and hapiness, rests a sacred trust. The tocsin has sounded. Truth, seemingly crushed to earth, is appearing and demanding Her throne—Her eternal dominion and righteous reign. Up to the present hour, the history of America chronicles experiences which have attended her conception. America is now in travail, paining to be delivered. The birth of this great nation, America, under God, shall establish the brotherhood of man. Evil thinkers and doers, having masqueraded so long and so seductively as Truth's representatives, are all ascending the scaffold for self-annihilation. Fear and hatred, which have separated brethren and caused the good to shed the unavailing tear, are seen to quail before the oncoming Christ, who demands recognition of the law of God, the righteous Judge, and restitution of the rights of man.

George Washington, the father of our country, put his trust in "the divine Author" of being, the eternal Father, the Almighty God, when he acknowledged his allegiance to God and His Christ and left this injunction to Americans: "Let us raise a standard to which the wise and honest can repair; the event is in the hands of God." This great patriot and President lives, and his words are as audible today as when he uttered them; and they are heard by all having ears attuned to righteousness.

Christ Jesus, the great Demonstrator of eternal Life and Love, lives. His words have rung down the centuries and are today the reverberating Truth's mighty arguments for life, "liberty of the sons of God," and the power of love, which destroys hate. These mental, spiritual wireless messages are "rolling down from inland mountain to seaboard town," and are heard and understood by all who keep abreast with Truth.

Mankind seems to be asleep in the Adam-dream of life in matter, unconscious of the fact that man is a mental being, governed either by the Mind of Christ, Truth, or by the so-called carnal mind, which Jesus designated as a liar. Today the voice of Christ, the master Metaphysician and the Way-shower of eternal Life, is heard, demanding, "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve." Lulled by false mental suggestions, some remain in the cradle of infancy; but the hour has struck when all must awake to God's law of progress, which removes mental shackles and enables mankind to throw off the sensuous apathy of the Adam-dream—to awake from ignorance and superstition and obey the mandate of Life and Love, God's righteous law.

Blind faith, without understanding, or a knowledge of demonstrable Truth, has clouded humanity, until the sun of righteousness has been so obscured that today darkness covers "the earth, and gross darkness the people." (Isaiah lx., 2.) Having eyes, they see not, and ears, they hear not. To the material senses, Truth has been entombed for centuries; but Christ has always been on the field and is now marshaling his disciples for final victory over the enemy of good. He has rolled back the stone of materiality the second time and is rising to refute ancient theories and forever break the mental fetters which have bound mankind to sin and its penalty, death, the Adam-dream in which "all die." (I. Corinthians xv., 22.) Omnipotent Life and Love, the I AM, and there is none beside, has enthroned Truth in America—that Mind of Christ which is every man's royal birthright, and in which all shall "be made alive." The clarion call is heard, "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." (Ephesians v., 14.) The words of that noble woman, Julia Ward Howe, are being realized:

"He [Christ] has sounded
shall never call retreat;
He is sifting out the hearts of men before his judgment seat."

The efforts to continue to incite Americans to hatred and violence, which those who are ignorant of the power of good or evil thinking are making, by holding in thought the sentiments uttered by Francis Scott Key, viz., "the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air," "the foe's haughty host," "the terror of flight and the gloom of the grave," and "their blood has washed out their foul footsteps' pollution"—the efforts to perpetuate these sentiments can no longer be entertained against our Anglo-Saxon comrade of today, Great Britain, nor against any nation or people. In the words of Alice Morgan Harrison, America "must lead the longing world from phantom fears to Love's unfurled Omnipotence." America's "planted seed of potent good shall grow to world-wide brotherhood, man's true estate.".

The efforts of those whose anti-Christian purpose it is to estrange the two great English-speaking people are doomed to defeat. No alien despotism shall ever impair the guarantee given by our Declaration of Independence, of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness"—not liberty to destroy our brother man, for God is the Father of all, and we are all brethren; not liberty to trample upon God's commandments, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind," and "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself"; but the "liberty of the sons of God," which frees from sin and its penalty, sorrow and death, and establishes the true, spiritual brotherhood of man. Under the solvent of Truth and Love, evil must finally dissolve.

If there are those who desire to continue to witness "the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air," and the destruction and suffering which follow, that is their privilege. Their weapons of welfare are the same that humanity, under the rule of the so-called carnal mind, has used for generations, and with what result? Let us continue to pray, "Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven." St. Paul says, "The weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds." The time has arrived when humanity is awakening to the fact that thought is force and that spiritual thought-force, the Mind that was in Christ Jesus, controls the universe. Ever re-echoing through consciousness are these words of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy:

"Legally to abolish unpaid servitude in the United States was hard; but the abolition of mental slavery is a more difficult task. The despotic tendencies, inherent in mortal mind and always germinating in new forms of tyranny, must be rooted out through the action of the divine Mind.

"Men and women of all climes and races are still in bondage to material sense, ignorant how to obtain their freedom. The rights of man were vindicated in a single section and on the lowest plane of human life, when African slavery was abolished in our land. That was only prophetic of further steps towards the banishment of a world-wide slavery, found on higher planes of existence and under more subtle and depraving forms."—(Science and Health, pp. 225-226.)

Mental slavery must be abolished. America, founded upon spiritual ideals, can never become the prey of the carnally minded, but shall be preserved and defended by the Mind which was in Christ Jesus, whose words and works have been preserved through the centuries, in accordance with his statement: "Heaven and earth shall pass away; but my words shall not pass away,"—and they have not. Christ Jesus exercised the power of spiritual thought-force with which God endowed man. With the sword of the Spirit, the Word of God, the dynamic spiritual thought, he attacked the strongholds of sin,—hatred, malice, envy, greed, lust, hypocrisy, pride of place and power, autocratic human will, and all that composes a carnal man, who attempts to hold humanity under a mental influence, which results in wars, pestilence, famine, sin, woe and death. These hallucinations, which animate the so-called fleshly mind, Jesus dispelled with his understanding of the potency of his divine mentality, his reflection of Life, Truth, and Love. As at his first appearing, he triumphed over sin and its desolation, which ends in self-extinction, so at this, his second appearing, he is pulling down the strongholds of ignorance, superstition and mental slavery. The final combat between Christ and the dragon has arrived. The wise read the handwriting on the wall and the twentieth century prophet sees the end of evil oppressors.

Truth was embodied in the Constitution of the United States of America, when the words of our forefathers were penned, affirming our right to worship God according to the dictates of conscience.

"Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide,
In the strife of Truth with falsehood, for the good or evil side."
—Lowell.

Let Americans be granted the privilege of classifying themselves. This right is accorded them by the Constitution of the United States, viz., freedom to worship God according to the dictates of conscience; but the stultifying idolatry of material gods and pagan philosophy, which terminates in sin, want and woe, and finally self-extinction, is neither worship nor religion. Let such people as may desire to continue to contemplate and unite in enthusing humanity with hatred, fear, greed, avarice, revenge, and resentment for wrongs long since righted and expiated,—let these have the privilege which the Constitution grants; but let them not murmur when the law of God, with its "Thou shalt not," intervenes in defense of America's spiritual ideals and final spiritual birth. Let them appeal to the Federal authority, and let the government decide and register their sentiment in favor of a law which would perpetuate wars; but give the Christian and those who are advancing to the achievement of spiritual power, in fulfillment of the law of Life and Love, the exercise of which conquers sin, sickness, and death,—give such the privilege of choosing an anthem which will express their sentiments. Then all will be classified, as belonging upon "the right hand," or upon "the left hand." Then we will know upon which side we are fighting, and the people will know whom to place in office as defenders of America's spiritual standard and ideals; and the right thinkers will wrestle with the wrong mentalities, until victory crowns the true American.

Thousands of Americans are adhering to the weapons of warfare which Christ used, when he commanded Peter to put up the material sword and use "the sword of the Spirit," the Word of God, man's spiritual weapon, as a reflector of Life and Love. The material sword, wielded by hate, destroys our brother man. The two-edged sword of the Spirit, which Christ used to decapitate evil, and which he enjoined his disciples to employ, destroys the sin which is at the foundation of all discord, war and death, and brings life, love, and peace to suffering, sorrowing humanity. Finally, if all cannot agree, let us have two anthems, one for those who are abreast with progress, who accept, understand, and are able to demonstrate the power of spiritual thought-force, Life and Love; and for the other class, the song of hate, malice, and enmity. Let the demand of Christ be heard in this hour, "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve."

Thousands are today appealing to God to deliver them from the tyranny that would compel them to express the evil thoughts which are embodied in the song entitled "The Star-Spangled Banner,"—the evil thinking which has brought desolation and devastation for generations, and has filled our hospitals and laid in our cemeteries our brave, manly, American boys, and which today raises up its Hydra head to compel America to continue devastation and death. The call to arms is heard. Christ, at his second appearing, is commanding his disciples of the twentieth century to use the two-edged sword of the Spirit, which triumphs over sin, and its consequences,—want, woe, and finally self-destruction.

When the classification has been made, and Americans are permitted to worship God according to the dictates of conscience, and are not compelled by the brute force and human will, which animate the so-called material man, to unite in the mental battle which is voiced in "The Star-Spangled Banner," then will come the final crossing of mental swords,—the sword of the Spirit, the Word of God, wielded by all whose Exemplar is Christ, and the blade brandished by the so-called dragon; then will the potency of the sword of the Spirit, versus the material sword, used by the carnal mind, be proven. The two-edged sword of the Spirit will destroy evil and its dire consequences, and restore unity of the brethren and their relation to their Maker,—God. The mental missile of the so-called carnal mind ruptures the brotherhood of man and leaves desolation and devastation, with humanity crying out for "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness,"—a promise which has never been fulfilled during America's conceiving experience, but which will be fulfilled at her birth. Watts discerned the power of thought, when he wrote:

"Were I so tall to reach the pole,
Or grasp the ocean with my span,
I must be measured by my soul:
The mind's the standard of the man."

In this hour Americans are awaking to the spiritual fact that the reflection of Life, Truth, and Love, the Mind which Jesus the Christ demonstrated, is an ever-active and living presence, and is overcoming every foe. "Choose ye" is ringing through consciousness. "New occasions teach new duties." The struggle for the Mind of Christ will go on, until "every knee shall bow and every tongue confess" that man is immortal and that God is the Author of his being, supplying him with all things, according to the Scripture, "No good thing will He withhold from them that walk uprightly." (Psalm lxxxiv., 11.) The struggle for unity with the source of man's being, eternal Life, Love, and Truth, God, goes on, and will terminate in victory over all the ills to which flesh is heir. When America is delivered and her birth is recognised and announced, then will humanity unite in the annunciation, "glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." (Luke ii., 14.) Then there will be a "new heaven and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness," and there will be no more suffering and no more death.

Patrick Henry was awake to this mental conflict between the carnal and the Christ mentalities when he declared, "The war is inevitable—and let it come! I repeat, let it come!" In this hour the mental war at the birth of America is inevitable; the conflict between the mental forces—spiritual and material—is waging. "The chaos of mortal mind is made the stepping-stone to the cosmos of immortal Mind." (Mary Baker Eddy.)

"Never on custom's oiled grooves
Thought to a higher level moves,
But grates and grinds with friction hard
On granite boulder or flinty shard."

Indeed the granite boulder of the so-called fleshly mind must finally yield to the law of omnipotent Life and Love, our Father-Mother God.

Woman was found last at the cross and appeared first at the tomb of Christ Jesus. There are thousands of Miriams and Esthers today who, like Mary of old, are singing the cradle song of Christ: "Peace on earth, good will toward men." In happy anticipation of the freedom of the sons of God, millions on earth are uniting with the invisible host in the chant: "Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of His Christ; for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night." (Revelation xii., 10.) Humanity will not forever remain deaf to their prayers. "The date is no longer B. C. Might no longer makes right, and in this fair land at least fear has ceased to kiss the iron heel of wrong." (Pulpit and Press, p. 82.) The hour of the abolition of mental slavery has arrived.

"They are slaves who will not choose
Hatred, scoffing, and abuse,
Rather than in silence shrink
From the Truth they needs must think;
They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three."

Our glorious flag, the Stars and Stripes, shall wave triumphant, until finally there will be no foe to divine democracy, no oppressor to demand allegiance to the enemy of good and no one to wield the cruel sword of injustice. The cradle song of Christ was not sung in vain. The anthem of peace on earth, good (God's) will toward men, will ring out from the hosts who love their country, America, and their flag, the Stars and Stripes, and who, beneath its royal colors, consecrate themselves to its defense, with the slogan,

One God, One Law,
Divine Democracy, Universal Brotherhood.

$88,801,562 IS COST OF NEW I. C. TERMINAL

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The new Illinois Central terminal "will ultimately cost $88,801,562," according to present official estimates. Of this amount it has been reckoned that $78,057,616 will be properly chargeable to capital account, and the remaining $10,743,946 should be charged to operation and not capitalized.

These official figures indicate the enormity of the undertaking, which it is anticipated will soon be put under way. Financial arrangements are almost completed to obtain all the cash which it is believed can be economically spent this year.

Strike May Cause Delay.

The death of Vice President Baldwin, in charge of the terminal construction, and the strike now in progress may cause a slight temporary delay, but no delay worth speaking about is expected. All governmental permits and commission approvals have been obtained, and the work of selecting types of construction is rapidly progressing.

The cost of surveys, studies, and general plans has been met and President Charles H. Markham has completed arrangements to obtain more than $10,000,000 for the first construction work other than such preliminaries as have already been completed.

New Stock Issue.

The first step in the financial plan is the issuance of $10,929,600 of preferred stock, which will be sold at par or above. The present stockholders have subscribed for $3,170,000 of this amount and an agreement has been made with Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to sell the remaining $7,759,600 at par or above.

This arrangement has received the approval of the Illinois commerce commission and also the interstate commerce commission, so no delay on account of lack of ready cash is anticipated.

The feature of the improvement of most interest to Chicagoans is the electrification of the suburban service. Mr. Baldwin died on his way home from Europe, where he had gone to inspect the last word in electrification overseas.

Trolley or Third Rail.

Upon his return it was planned to decide whether the road will use the overhead trolley or the third rail, and the direct or alternating current. The decisions on those points have not been made. But they will be taken up at once and the policy determined before autumn. Then will start the manufacture of the facilities and the installations.

On the main line the suburban service is to be electrified from the Chicago river to Matteson, and the entire length of the South Chicago and Blue Island branches is to receive the same improvements.

In obtaining approval of the interstate commerce commission Mr. Markham got an authorization broad enough on "subways" that he may properly connect the terminal facilities with any subway system which the city may project to the lake front.

PLAN NEW LOOP TRUNK SHOP.

The store at 29 West Adams has been leased by I. Lieberman from Kernett & Beck and will be occupied by the Oshkosh Trunk works. Frank P. Slosson of John P. Hooker & Co. represented the lessors, and Harry R. Jess the lessee.

U. S. IS HARD UP, SHOULD REALIZE IT, SAYS CAPPER

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special.]—Slight prospect is seen by Senator Capper [Kas.], head of the senate farm bloc, of any marked reductions in governmental taxes and expenditures in the years of the immediate future. In order to keep down expenses at all Senator Capper says that small savings must be made wherever possible.

He enumerates among the comparatively small items which can be eliminated such things as the distribution of free seeds by members of congress, the construction of new public buildings, and river and harbor improvements.

"It may be necessary to invent new taxes to meet the government's expense account and a half billion dollar deficit in revenue in the fiscal year beginning July 1," said Senator Capper.

"Several billions of war obligations are coming due that year, including $125,000,000 of accumulated interest on war savings stamps. Much if not all of this huge amount will have to be refunded. Even then, Treasurer Mellon says, the government will lack $500,000,000 of meeting expenses for the year.

"By lopping off $1,500,000,000 of expenditures—a world record in economy—the Harding administration has brought us through the fiscal year ending June 30 without a deficit and with a few millions to spare. But on this reduced scale of national living expenditures for the fiscal year beginning July 1 will exceed the government's income by $500,000,000 because federal revenues are shrinking.

"As calculated by Secretary Mellon, all the government's sources of income for that year will not exceed $3,298,000,000. Expenditures will reach $3,657,000,000. This shows an outgo exceeding the government's income of $359,000,000, to which must be added the $125,000,000 interest due on war savings stamps Jan. 1, 1923."

REPORT SHOWS DROP IN PRICES OF FRESH PORK

Declines in the prices of fresh pork along with a twenty per cent increase over last year in the prices of live hogs, are the principal features in the review of the meat industry for June just issued by the Institute of American Meat Packers.

"Pork loins of all weights showed substantial declines," reads the review. "Other fresh pork cuts also decreased in price. Receipts of hogs during June were heavier than June of last year. Prices at Chicago averaged above 10 cents per pound as compared with 8.2 cents during June of last year."

A depressing factor in foreign trade is laid by the packers on the unsettled condition of exchange money rates. More sales would have taken place had the exchange remained steady, the report states. It adds that European countries need meat and will buy in larger quantities if some satisfactory means of paying for their purchases can be arranged.

BUSINESS NEWS IN BRIEF

[Copyright: 1922: By Fairchild News Service.]

NEW YORK.—Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective association and International Ladies' Garment Workers' union have reached an agreement to replace the contract which expired June 1.

NEW YORK.—The present slump in radio business is a boon to the industry, says Alex Eisemann, president of National Radio Chamber of Commerce and director of Independent Radio Manufacturers. Retailers have been shown the wisdom of carrying lines of a few dependable manufacturers, instead of buying heterogeneous lots of merchandise piecemeal, he says.

BERLIN.—Because of sensational decline of the mark and to attract domestic and foreign buyers, the Hamburg textile fair has inaugurated a policy of fixed prices on merchandise.

PLAUEN.—The German government removed export regulation on curtains, as regards both price and quantity. Invoices may now be paid in marks, although foreign currency is preferred.

NEW YORK.—Chain stores cut prices of straw hats before Fourth. The expected volume of sales is lessened by cloudy and rainy weather.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Improved wholesale dry goods business during the last ten days is reported by jobbers. Wholesalers are cleaning out summer lines in satisfactory manner and have bought in anticipation of better fall business than in the past two years.

BERLIN.—Jobbers here say that high prices of German textile manufacturers are diverting business to Alsace. Alsatian cotton goods, they say, are delivered in Berlin 20 per cent cheaper than they can be bought in German cotton districts. Deliveries are good, and quality as good or better.

NET EARNINGS OF FRISCO GREATER FOR LAST YEAR

St. Louis, Mo., July 4.—Net earnings of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway company for 1921 were $3,225,680, compared with $1,743,231 in 1920, according to the annual report of the railroad made public today.

The earnings were equal to a return of 6 per cent on the preferred stock and 5½ per cent on the common stock, compared with a return of 2½ per cent on the common stock in 1920, the report declared.

Although the operating revenue declined approximately $13,000,000 from $98,723,039 in 1920 to $86,292,584 in 1921, the report said, expenses were reduced about $25,000,000 from $89,886,545 in 1920 to $64,385,706 in 1921.

Baldwin Works Report Large Unfilled Orders

New York, July 4.—Baldwin Locomotive works has been gradually expanding activities for the last six weeks and during that interval it is reported 1,000 additional men have been added, bringing the working force up to 6,463. It is stated that work now on hand is about evenly divided between domestic and foreign business, while unfilled contracts still aggregate about $10,000,000. Operations are now about 35 per cent of capacity, as against 30 per cent maintained for some months.

LONDON RAISES BUILDING HEIGHT TO EIGHTY FEET

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, July 4.—The London municipal authorities have given away before the demand for higher buildings and today increased the legal height from fifty to eighty feet by an official decision. This is regarded as the first step towards permitting skyscrapers for which there have been persistent demands due to the high price of property.

T. Ernest Jackson, secretary of the Distributors' association, which is fighting for skyscrapers, said:

"The absurdly low height to which buildings are limited is a great handicap. The old methods are gone and the fire risk of modern buildings is nil. Today's decision will encourage the erection of modern buildings."

24 Northern and Western States Have Farm Experts

Twenty-four northern and western states now have thirty specialists to devote full time to farm management extension work. County agents in 985 counties report that they distributed 51,083 farm account books in 1921; 519 counties reported 18,448 books kept, and 444 reported that 8,454 farmers were assisted in summarizing their accounts. County agents in 237 counties report that 2,972 farmers made changes in their business as a result of keeping accounts. More than 800 farm account schools, with an attendance of 20,000, were held in 1921, the United States department of agriculture reports.

LUMBER TRADE GROWS BETTER; MORE SHIPPED

Although lumber orders for the week ended June 17 were only 95 per cent normal, against a total of 11 per cent better than normal for the year, shipments ran 5 per cent better than normal against 2 per cent for the whole year. Lumber cut was normal, as it has been all year, and the industry in general showed signs of recuperating from the recent trade slump.

Orders, which dropped from 272,545,311 feet to 228,207,037 feet in two weeks, showed a further decline of but 630,094, while shipments gained over the week previous. Lumber cut also gained, climbing from 238,118,304 to 240,312,093, which, however, holds it at normal because of the improving seasonal conditions.

COLLECT DUTIES OF $230,000,000 AT PORT OF N. Y.

New York, July 4.—Customs duties collected on importations through the customs district of New York in the twelve months ended today will probably exceed $230,000,000, it was estimated by the cashier at the New York custom house yesterday.

Collections during the last several days have averaged more than a million dollars a day, it was explained, and this has rolled up a total which will exceed the previous record of $229,325,000 for the government fiscal year ended June 30, 1920. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1921, customs duties collected amounted to but $209,000,000.

Why Miller Bonds Pay 7% or 7½%

Miller First Mortgage Bonds, secured by income-earning structures in leading Southern cities, offer to investors the liberal rate of 7% or 7½%. Such a rate is possible because the opportunity for the profitable employment of money in the South exceeds the present available supply of money in the South.

By taking such fundamental factors into consideration, investors can with perfect safety get a considerably higher return on their money than is obtainable in older sections, where supply of capital more nearly balances demand. Thousands of investors are now realizing this fact, which explains why every fresh issue of Miller First Mortgage Bonds is promptly oversubscribed.

Hood Rubber Sales Gain $1,200,000 in Five Months

Boston, July 4.—Notwithstanding lower selling prices all year, sales of the Hood Rubber company for the first five months of 1922 are $1,200,000 in excess of the period from Jan. 1 to June 1, 1921. This gain in turnover is considered so encouraging as to justify fully the expectation of a substantially larger gross for the full year than the $24,000,000 total of 1921.

What Is Cement?

What is this finer-than-flour building material called cement, that you can mix with water, sand, and stone or pebbles, and cast into all sorts of shapes that become as hard and enduring as solid rock?

Portland cement consists principally of silica, lime, and alumina. In cement manufacture these are obtained from (1) Cement rock and limestone; (2) Limestone or marl and shale or clay; (3) Blast-furnace slag and limestone.

First the rock is quarried and transported to the mill. Then it is ground to a powder, analyzed, and the several ingredients mixed in accurate proportions.

Next it is subjected to long and gradually increasing heat until, at about 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit, the mixed materials decompose and fuse into hard balls, known as clinker.

Then this hard clinker is cooled, mixed with a definite proportion of gypsum, and again ground to a powder so fine that at least 78 per cent of it will pass through a sieve having 40,000 holes to the square inch.

Finally this finished product must be analyzed to determine that it conforms to the exacting specification requirements of cement manufacture, packed in bags and placed in cars for shipment.

The manufacture of cement is a complex process involving great care, skill and expense, and requiring an enormous capital investment.

This Is the Age of Cement

Earnings

Careful investors are as much concerned with past showing as with future prospects. Twenty successive years of profitable business is a record deserving of attention. The Benjamin Company achieved it. In 1921, in common with most other concerns, conservative mark down of merchandise to current values resulted in a loss. Present earnings are satisfactory and again indicate normal results.

The consistent earning power of the Company is well illustrated by the following figures reported for the last six years, representing earnings applicable to interest, after full deductions for Federal Income Taxes, depreciation, and inventory adjustments.

WHEAT ADVANCES IN LIVERPOOL AND WINNIPEG

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

All the United States grain and other exchanges were closed on the Fourth of July, while Winnipeg and Liverpool markets were open. Liverpool advanced and closed at the top with a gain of 1¼d on wheat, while corn was unchanged. This strength in the face of the heavy world's shipments last week was due to a decrease on passage to the United Kingdom, while shipments to the continent increased.

Winnipeg July wheat advanced to $1.33⅜ or 2½c over Monday's close, and finished at $1.31⅝, a net gain of 1⅜c for the day. October advanced to $1.22⅞, or 1c from the previous finish, and closed at $1.21⅞, a gain of ⅝c. December moved up to $1.19½ and closed at $1.19¼, a gain of ⅝c.

Business Light in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg traders missed the absence of Chicago market prices and news, and business was light. A message to Logan Bryan said the wheat market had a good healthy tone with exporters doing some business in July wheat which was the main feature. There is some apprehension regarding continued dry weather in the more western provinces, but general rains in the Saskatchewan and Northern Alberta over night will relieve this to a certain extent. Rains would be beneficial to crops in all provinces.

There was an excellent export demand for No. 1 and No. 2 northern wheat, and a fair business was done at unchanged premiums. We consider the market on debatable ground at present, and are inclined to favor the buying side on any dips for the present.

Crops in Western Canada.

"Crop conditions on the whole are favorable," says the Winnipeg Free Press crop report. "Although some damage has resulted from drought, hot weather, hail and wind, Manitoba crops are generally in first class shape. Saskatchewan is doing well but the crop is one week late and moisture is needed in some districts. Albert has suffered from hot weather and wind, but fair average crops are promised. Cutting of rye will be general about July 15."

Broomhall gave the wheat on passage at 50,425,000 bu, as compared with 46,761,000 bu the previous week.

No. 1 northern wheat in Winnipeg was $1.40⅝, No. 2 northern, $1.38¼, No. 3 at $1.33⅝. No. 2 white oats, 53¾c; No. 3 at 51c. Rye, 87½. Barley, 65½c for No. 3. Flax, $2.42½ for No. 1 northwestern. Trading in oats was light, with July ⅛c higher at 52⅝c at the close, October, 47⅛c, and December, 45⅞c, showing gains of ⅜c to ½c. July flax was ½c lower, and closed at $2.40½, with October $2.21½. July rye steady at 87½c.

There were 350 cars of grain in sight for the day.

Market Subject to Crop Scare.

"While it is possible and probable that the next major move in wheat may be downward, the immediate minor movement is most distinctly subject to the bullish influences of a black rust scare in spring wheat and it comes earlier than usual at that," says E. W. Dennis of Thomson & McKinnon. "Usually August is time enough to look for this pest, but here are the first definite reports of it now, and while, as one leading authority says, 'the northwest can lose 25 per cent of its present crop prospect and still have a comparatively large one,' you can rest assured that while there is any chance of its losing any approximation of 25 per cent of that crop, prices will advance under the speculative value of the news.

"There promises today to be plenty of wheat for this year's needs, but not at a cheap or low price. There certainly promises, beyond a doubt, to be sufficient to defeat any high priced ideas though, and should losses in the northwest fall short of the calamitous type, rest assured the buying side will make losses and the trade that sells their cash wheat outright or make hedging sales on the bulges and the investment seller who will discount the future of probable adequate supplies by sales of December wheat on any immediate advances will undoubtedly be putting himself in the way of prospective profits. The liberal decrease in the wheat visible is the natural result of disposing of the May wheat deal accumulations. The decrease here makes large world's shipments and gives the foreigner liberal supplies temporarily, at least."

New Cornelia Copper.

W. O. H., Joliet, Ill.—The New Cornelia Copper company earned $2,643,128 on metals in 1921, compared with $7,089,513 in 1920. There was a deficit for the year of $360,102, against a net income, before dividends, of $91,137, or 55 cents a share on the stock, in 1920. Current assets as of Dec. 31, 1921, were $6,577,747, and current liabilities $1,661,310, leaving net current assets of $4,916,437. Dividends at the rate of $1 a share per annum are being paid, which is at the rate of 20 per cent on the $5 par value stock. This stock is a speculation at present.

International Nickel.

W. H.—The International Nickel company reported for the nine months ended Dec. 31, 1921, a loss after taxes, depreciation, etc., of $641,678, compared with net earnings of $2,620,873 for the same period in 1920. After payment of $401,067 dividends on the preferred stock there was a deficit of $1,042,745, compared with a surplus of $2,219,806 in 1920. As of Dec. 31, 1921, the company's net assets applicable to the common stock amounted to $52,670,032, or $31.48 per share of $25 par value. The 6 per cent dividend on the preferred stock has been paid regularly since 1906, but it is noncumulative. This stock is entitled to a good rating. No dividends have been paid on the common since March 1, 1919. The par value is $25. This rates fairly well among common stocks, but is more of a speculation than an investment.

The B. F. Goodrich Company

First Mortgage Twenty-Five Year 6½% Gold Bonds

To be authorized, $25,000,000; to be presently issued, $20,000,000.

Dated July 1, 1922 To mature July 1, 1947

Interest payable January 1st and July 1st at Bankers Trust Company, New York. Coupon bonds, in denominations of $1,000 and $500, interchangeable, registerable as to principal only. Redeemable as a whole at the option of the Company on the 1st day of any month at 107 and accrued interest on 60 days' notice.

BANKERS TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK, TRUSTEE

A letter from Mr. B. G. Work, President of the Company, is summarized as follows:

BUSINESS AND PLANTS—The B. F. Goodrich Company and predecessor organizations have operated continuously since 1870. By intensive development throughout this 50-year period of profitable operations the business has been broadened to include the production of practically all types of rubber products. The plants at Akron are of modern fireproof construction with a total floor space of about 107 acres. The Company's products are distributed through over 100 branches in the United States, which supply about 75,000 dealers, accounts with whom are now active.

SECURITY—These Bonds will be secured by a first mortgage lien on all the fixed assets of The B. F. Goodrich Company, now owned or hereafter acquired, together with pledge of stocks of certain subsidiary companies, subject, however, as to after-acquired properties, to existing liens or purchase money mortgages.

The mortgage under which these Bonds are to be issued will provide in effect, that so long as any of these Bonds are outstanding, the Company shall not declare dividends on any class of its stock, nor retire or acquire any stock by purchase or redemption if such dividend payments or purchase or redemption of stock will reduce net current assets (to be defined in the mortgage) in an amount less than the principal amount of Bonds of this issue then outstanding.

SINKING FUND—An annual Sinking Fund will be provided, sufficient to retire each year until July 1, 1927, at least 2½ percent of the largest principal amount of Bonds outstanding prior to the date of each payment into the Sinking Fund, such fund to be applied to the purchase of Bonds at not exceeding 102 and accrued interest. Any unexpended balance in the Sinking Fund on the first day of each October to and including October 1, 1927, will revert to the Company.

Thereafter an annual Sinking Fund sufficient to retire 3 percent of the largest principal amount of bonds outstanding prior to the date of each payment into the Sinking Fund will be provided to purchase Bonds at not exceeding 107 and accrued interest or to call Bonds at that price.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE—The proceeds of this Bond Issue will be used in the retirement of $30,000,000 five year 7% Convertible Gold Notes, due April 1, 1925, which issue will be called for payment in its entirety on October 1, 1922.

FINANCIAL—During the 8-year period ended December 31, 1921, earnings available for interest, before Federal taxes but after average depreciation charges of $1,431,000 annually and including the loss of $10,921,000 incurred in 1921, largely due to inventory adjustments, averaged $9,412,000 annually. The annual interest requirement on the $20,000,000 Bonds now being offered will be $1,300,000.

For the first six months of this year earnings available for interest will be in excess of three times the semi-annual interest requirement on these Bonds. Sales in practically all departments have expanded substantially throughout the six months period and the present outlook is for larger production and increased earnings in the last half of the year over those realized in the first half.

The December 31, 1921 balance sheet, giving effect to the proceeds of this bond issue and to the retirement of $30,000,000 Five Year 7% Convertible Gold Notes, shows current assets of $51,643,000 against current liabilities of $15,912,000.

All legal matters in connection with this issue are subject to approval by counsel. Temporary certificates will be issued pending the preparation of definitive bonds.

Application will be made to list this Issue on the New York Stock Exchange.

These bonds are offered, when, as and if issued, subject to stockholders' authorization and to approval of counsel.

Price 97 and accrued interest, to yield 6.75%

Five-Year 7% Convertible Gold Notes of the B. F. Goodrich Company due April 1, 1925, will be accepted in payment at 103 and accrued interest.

PACKARD

HUDSON SUPER SIX SEDAN. We are offering in this car an opportunity seldom presented in a 5 passenger Sedan. The motor has very recently been thoroughly overhauled, the tires are in exceptionally fine condition, and the car is ready to put into immediate service. We do not believe there is a better value anywhere at $450.

CADILLAC LIMOUSINE TYPE 53. This car was taken in from the original owner and has always been operated by a very competent chauffeur. The interior is upholstered in Dark Blue Broadcloth, which shows no signs of use. The exterior is in first class condition and the equipment most complete. This is an ideal car for taxi service or for anyone desiring an inclosed car for town use. Special at $900.

MARMON 4 PASSENGER SPORT. This new car was driven by the owner only 61 miles. Specially painted a two tone brown which harmonizes with the brown Spanish leather upholstery and tan Burbank top. It is most completely equipped, including wire wheels, 2 spare tires with covers, custom built headlamps, rear trunk and rack, tonneau windshield, motometer, shock absorbers, automatic windshield cleaner, spotlight, etc. Delivery price of this car was over $4,700. We are offering it at $4,000.

CADILLAC TYPE "61" 5 PASS. COUPE. This is a new car in every sense of the word, having been operated only 400 miles. It is specially painted in Dark Maroon and completely equipped with bumper, spare tire, etc. Any one interested in the purchase of a new Cadillac car of this type can effect a considerable saving at our price of $3,750.

PACKARD SINGLE SIX SEDAN. This car was received from our Paint Shop today, where we have refinished it in Dark Maroon with wide gold striping. It puts up the appearance of new throughout and of course will carry our standard warranty and service. Very rarely do we have one of these light, economical 5 passenger Sedans available for sale and would advise anyone interested to make an early inspection. $3,000.

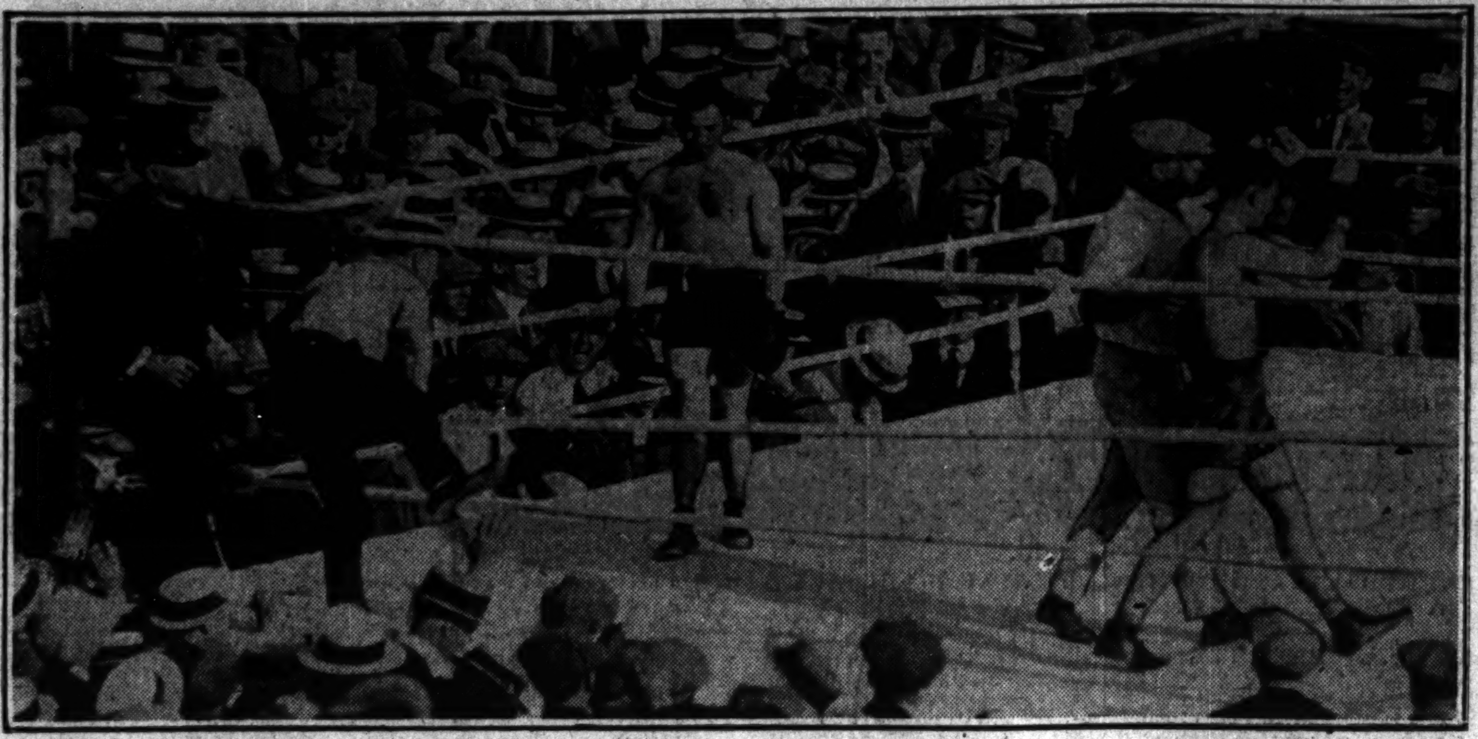
Leonard Hammers Out Victory From Rocky Kansas in Eighth Round of Michigan City, Ind., Battle



FINISH OF THE FIGHT. Just after the sponge was thrown in, Kansas' handlers climbed into the ring to assist the challenger, who was "out on his feet" when this picture was taken. Referee Davey Miller is tapping Leonard, and latter has his right arm raised in token of victory.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

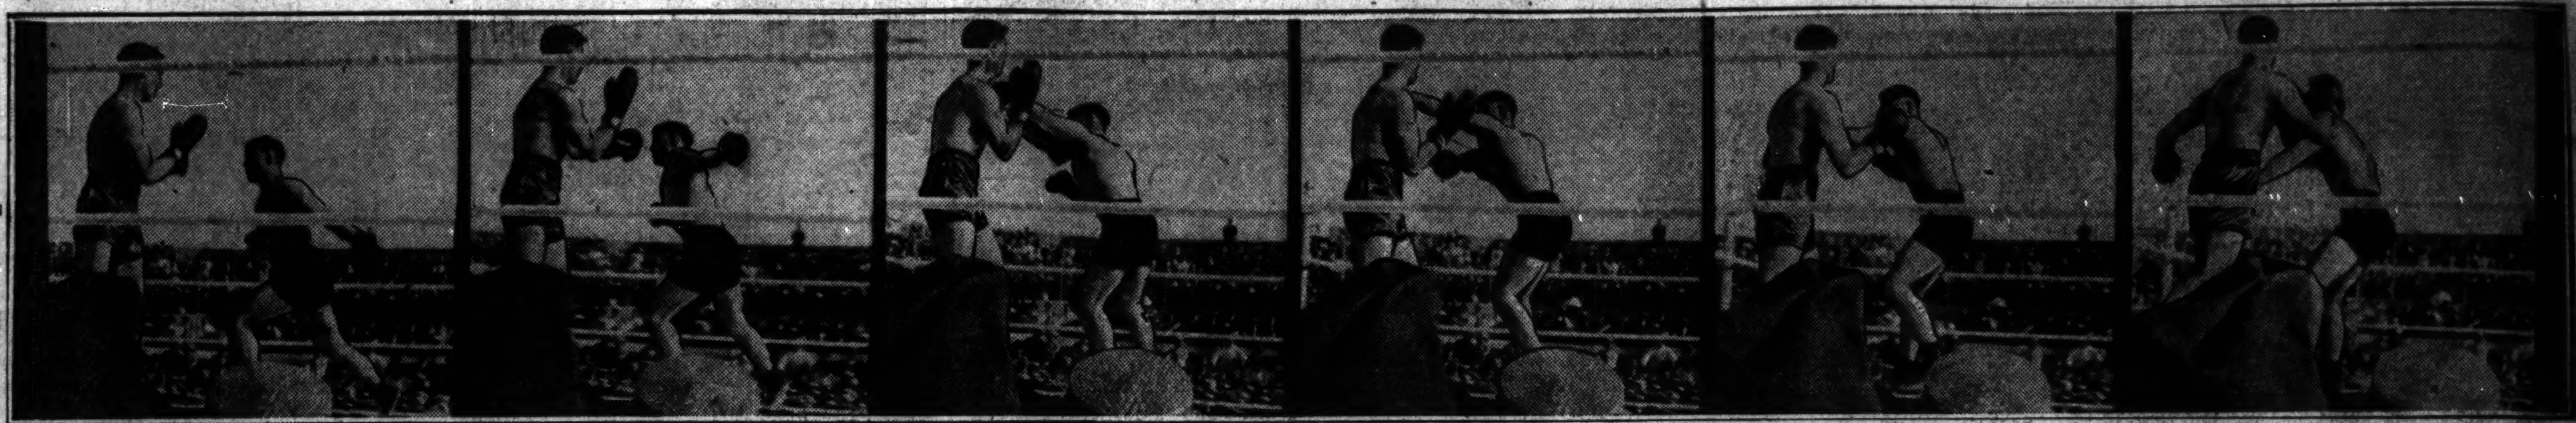
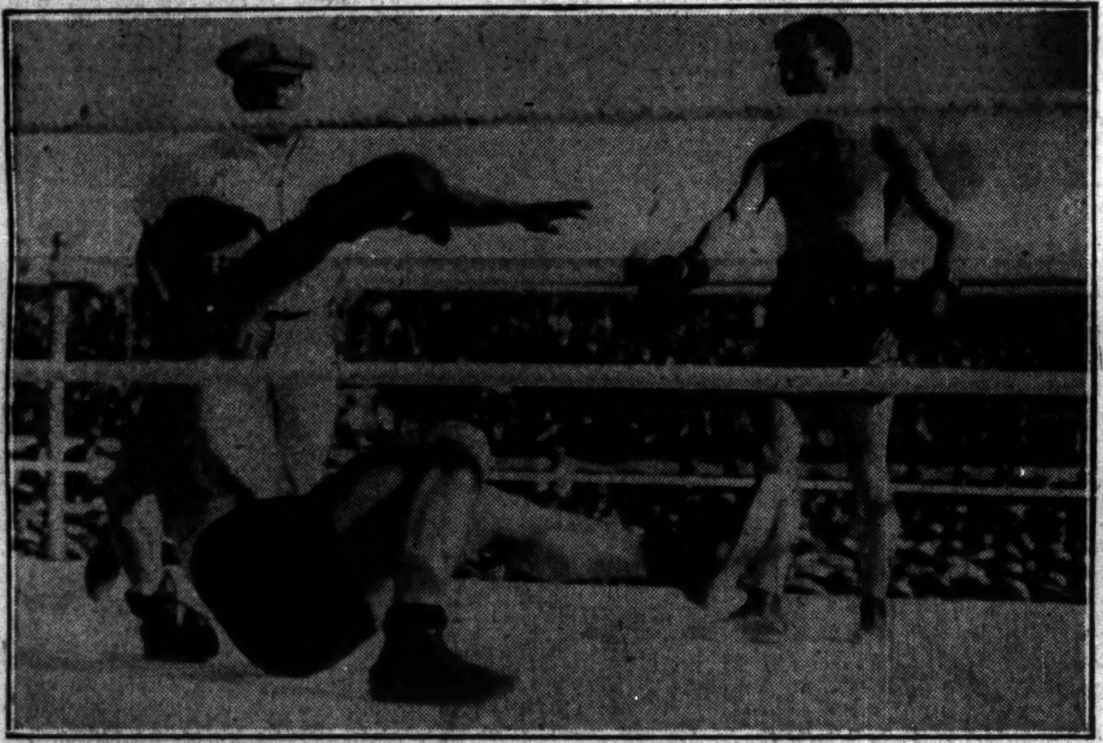
THE MASTER BOXER AT WORK. Leonard either locked the Italian's arms or blocked the latter's blows, when they came to close quarters. But it was only occasionally that Kansas got this close to the champion.



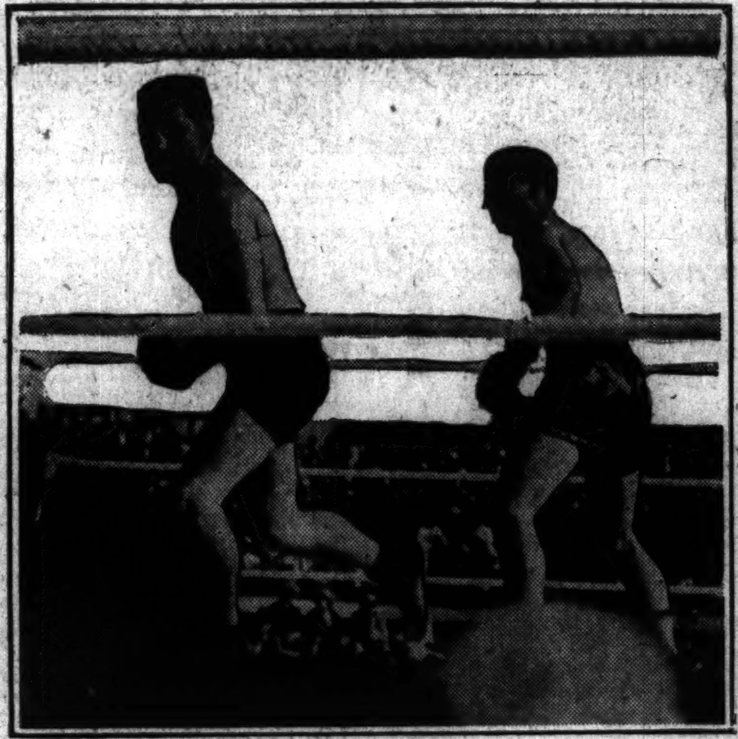
BLOWS THAT NEVER LANDED. The movie illustrates Kansas' difficulty in connecting with the super-boxer. Leonard's chin is the destination toward which Kansas starts his left swing, in picture No. 1, but picture No. 2 shows Leonard immediately swaying out of the way, and Nos. 3 and 4 show a clear miss. In No. 5, Leonard's attitude already is the offensive, his open glove is doubled into a fist, and No. 7 shows the champion taking up his attack where Kansas' swing merely interrupted.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]



KANSAS ON THE CANVAS. The Buffalo challenger met the floor just once in the fight. The picture shows him after he reeled off the ropes under Leonard's relentless bombardment in the third round of the battle.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]



WHEN NOT BACKING AWAY, the distressed Buffalo boxer at times turned around and really ran from Bennie's relentless hailstorm of blows. The picture is an unusual one for any boxing match.

TWO AUTOMOBILES COLLIDING at Elston and Diversey avenues cause the death of L. S. Schultz, driver of one of the machines, and the injury of ten other persons —the first casualties in this year's celebration of the Fourth of July.

GIVES BRILLIANT EXHIBITION. Joe Kirkwood, Australian star, who made eighteen holes at Idlewild in 68, four strokes under the record of "Chick" Evans.

BRITISH OPEN CHAMPION WINS. Walter Hagen, American holder of British title, who with Kirkwood defeated Hutchison and Ayton at Idlewild Golf club yesterday.

AT THE STONE WALL on Cemetery Ridge, the marines re-enacted the last phase of the battle of Gettysburg, when the survivors of Pickett's heroic charge became prisoners of the Union army, and the cause of the Confederacy received a mortal blow.
